plan wanted to push Russia back from the sea but averred that job would be more difficult as the soviet completed its double-tracking of the Siberian railroad and was able to rush troops into Siberia from Europe.

Hammond said Philippine independence would be disastrous to that country which depends now for 80% of its trade on free exports of copra, sugar and hemp to the United States. He said American interests in the Philippines would be forced out at 25% of their invested values by Philippine politicians. Acquisition of the islands by Japan would follow independence, Hammond averred. England is anxious that the United States retain her sovereignty in the far east to act as a block against Japanese aggression.

Douglas McKay, Salem mayor, presided at the luncheon. He introduced Harold Warner, state commander, who briefly pointed out the high-type of citizenship demanded by veterans' organizations. "I want you men to realize that veterans are taxpayers and not a separate class from taxpayers as they are often pointed out to be," Warner urged.

The national championship quartet of the auxiliary sang three well-received numbers.

Prominent guests introduced at the luncheon include Major-General U. G. Alexander, Dan McDade, E. P. Hoyt, Joe Gaines, Ernest Haycox, Floyd Maxwell, J. L. Hogan, C. E. Palmateer, C. E. Palmateer, C. E. Palmateer, C. E. Palmateer.

Gideon Stolz, represented the Grand Army of the Republic, was introduced and spoke briefly. The audience rose in tribute to him.

Harold Say of the Portland chamber of commerce, spoke briefly on "Oregon Tourists as an Asset."

ducers appeared at the hearing, all of whom testified in favor of the agreement as originally submitted.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 5.—(AP)—A workable marketing agreement and butter industry code will be sought at a meeting of the Oregon butter committee here today.

Producers, co-operatives and creameries will seek to supplant the strife over alleged chaotic conditions since an agreement was first proposed. The meeting will be at the offices of Robert M. Kerr in the American Bank building.

Max Gehlhar, state director of agriculture, who charges that "private butter interests" were using "gangster and hi-jacking" methods in an attempt to force him to sign the agreement originally proposed, was to attend the meeting. Gehlhar also decried "inroads of middlemen."

It was declared a better deal for the farmers and the consuming public is the aim in all branches of the various industries which owe their existence to the lowly kine.

Corn Cob Club Has 50 Members; Meets Again February 8

MILL CITY, Feb. 5.—The Mill City corn cob club now has a membership of 50. Last evening Norman Tufford entertained the members at his home with 24 members present. George Harris, president of the club presided over the business session after which the men enjoyed cards for several hours. A. A. Holthouse presented a splendid program of piano numbers. The next meeting of this fast growing club will be February 8 at the home of W. J. Robinson.

CITY TAX IS UPHELD
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The supreme court upheld today the Seattle, Wash., license or occupation tax against the attack of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

Disastrous Fall River Fire

Firemen are shown battling the blaze that did damage estimated at $500,000 at Fall River, Mass. when it destroyed the ancient Merchants Mill, ten other buildings and a gasoline station. A CWA worker was killed and 30 persons hurt as firemen of 12 cities battled flames. Several families were rendered homeless.

Uncle Sam to Build New Sea, Air Navy

Thunderous chorus of "ayes" that passed the Vinson Naval Bill through the House was a personal triumph for its sponsor, Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, chairman of the House Committee on Naval Affairs; Colonel Henry Roosevelt, Acting Secretary of the Navy; Admiral William Standley, Chief of Naval Operations, and Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, Chief of the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics, all of whom long have advocated a navy second to none. The bill calls for construction of 102 fighting ships, which will bring the U. S. Navy up to strength permitted by London Treaty, by 1935. It also authorizes building of 1,184 new planes, scouting craft and super-bombers, for the Navy. The entire program will cost between $475,000,000 and $670,000,000.

EX-MAYOR BAKER ADDRESSES CLUB

Tells Inside Facts About Raising Begonias at Garden Meeting

George L. Baker, ex-mayor of Portland and begonia maestro, told Salem Garden club members Monday night just how to raise tuberos begonias for themselves, how he raised them and how he first became interested in them.

Incidentally, Baker described the new public market in Portland and how it came to be built. As part of the program for rehabilitation of the water front along Front street, Portland built the most modern and complete public market in the world. The entire establishment is under a cover, the shopper can check his car and wheel his basket about gathering purchases. "Don't miss it!" the speaker urged.

"Flowers are like people. Find out their environment—treat them right—make them happy and they will make you happy," he stated.

Baker advised his audience to plant the bulb rather than the seed unless they had all facilities. Instructions were as follows:

1. Scoop out all earth from the prospective bed to a depth of 18 or 20 inches.
2. Fill with two parts loam, part leaf mold, part thoroughly rotted cow manure, and part coarse sand.
3. Plant bulb with top exposed.
4. Keep moist and in the shade for best results. Will grow well under trees. Bulbs planted in May will bloom the first year and continue to bloom until October or November.
5. Pinch off first blooms if plant would be most vigorous.
6. With first frost which kills plant take up immediately, dirt and all, and let dry. Brush off soil carefully when dry.
7. Place bulb in dry place, about 60 degrees, and let it rest for three months. May be reset under glass in January but wait until May if planted outdoors.
8. Vinton and Vernon Scott played two violin duets preceding the talk. They were accompanied by Jeannette Scott at the piano.

JOBS ARE FOUND FOR 45 PERSONS

The national re-employment agency here found jobs for 33 men and 12 women last week, Office Manager D. D. Dotson announced Monday. At present, his report showed, 1613 persons out of the 5971 registered are working.

Jobs last week included four on farms, eight on public works, 16 for men and eight for women on civil works, five for men and four for women at domestic or personal services.

BOARD MEETS BY REMOTE CONTROL

Bank Department's Salary Increases Approved and Other Action Taken

A Meier-to-Elsinog and Elsinog-to-Holman board of control session was held here Monday with neither the governor nor the state treasurer sitting down together at the session. Later in the day, however, the "ghost" gathering was reversed when the two members of the board of control jointly attended a state reclamation committee session.

The board went through the formality of approving five salary increases for employees of the state banking department, increases previously approved September 31, 1933, at a meeting of the state banking board.

Holman declared that he had no recollection of approving the new salary schedule as a member of the state banking board, and if he had, it had slipped his mind.

The minutes of the banking board at which the salaries were increased were signed by Holman. The revised salary schedule showed that the compensation of Tinkham Gilbert had been increased from $250 to $260 a month while the salary of E. T. Way was advanced from $175 to $225 a month. Gilbert recently resigned as a member of the state banking department staff to accept a position in the Ladd & Bush bank here.

Other increases were: S. Dietrick, from $175 to $200; Sidney H. Kromer from $135 to $170 and Orril J. Smith from $160 to $170 a month. T. B. Lunsden at $225 and Elsie Bernard at $125 a month were added to the staff.

A number of other matters, previously approved by Governor Meier, were submitted to Holman at the "ghost" session. One of these involved the leasing of four rooms in the Mayer building in Portland for the state milk commission. This memorandum indicated that the milk commission proposes to maintain its headquarters in Portland and not in Salem. Other items included various state purchases.

William Elsinog, secretary of the board of control, announced that bids for two power shovels and two trailers for the state highway department had been rejected because of violation of the code. New bids will be sought.

The recent proposal to send a representative to Washington to urge an appropriation of $1,500,000 to cover the cost of the state's building program, was taken under advisement by Governor Meier. It was proposed that the money be borrowed from the public works administration and be repaid on a rental basis over a long period of years.

ADAMS AND PRIME HEARD

Twenty members of the Marion-Polk-Yamhill district dental society meeting at the Gray Belle Friday night heard Dr. Kinley K. Adams of Salem present a paper on "Diet and Dental Health" and Dr. Frank Prime of Salem speak and read a paper on "Conservation of the Dental Pulp".

The newspaper said Douglas Fairbanks Sr., American actor, was named as correspondent.

Lord Ashley was reported to have claimed no damages in the petition.

license fees had fallen off markedly in 1933. He introduced and saw passed a motion authorizing the city police department to check up firms subject to licenses to see that the city's ordinances are complied with in 1934.

O'Hara also put through a motion requiring the recorder to file a demand with the airport management for immediate payment of all fees due the city, received in 1933. Pointing out that landing and hangar fees belonged to the city, O'Hara said Salem's receipts in 1933 had fallen from $264 the previous year to $2.

City Attorney Chris Kowitz recommended to the council that no settlement be made of a $300 claim made by Shannon Hogue for damages allegedly received in a collision November 19, 1933, between Hogue's car and that of Officer Frank Reeves on North Capitol street. Kowitz held both parties had revealed some negligence and that the city was not legally liable under a number of Oregon supreme court decisions.

Police Chief Minto reported to the council that the last fortnight had seen 321 car owners tagged for overtime parking, 30 tagged for parking in restricted zones and seven tagged for double-parking.

The council approved a $25 claim from the League of Oregon Cities over the strenuous objection of Alderman Henry Vaudevort who has steadfastly disapproved such charges of the league in previous council meetings.

Sammis said he did not contemplate asking the attorney general for a ruling on the subject of temporary salary reductions. Personnel and site for the state liquor stores will be announced in the towns where the stores are located, Sammis said. The district supervisors met with the commission here yesterday to consider those selections. Announcements of other selections were expected shortly.

Today a sign on the commission's office door here stated: "All personnel for the preliminary organization including store employees have been selected. No other positions to be filled at this time."

FACULTY BOARD OF WILLAMETTE TO MEET TODAY

The faculty committee of the Willamette university board of trustees meets at noon today to formulate its annual report to the trustees to be made at the mid-winter meeting February 15, in Portland. The committee ordinarily recommends at that meeting such professors as it deems worthy of reelection for the following school year. Members of the committee include Dr. M. C. Findley, Paul B. Wallace, Mrs. Jean Lutermaier, A. Lee and President Carl G. Doney. Dean Frank M. Erickson of the liberal arts school will meet with the committee and give his recommendations on reelections.

some chewing tobacco and cigars were found in the house where Rogers was living. Meyers admitted he had previously had a part in the loss of $600 of radio parts in Portland and local officers confirmed this Monday morning by telephoning Portland police.

Meyers, they said, had paid for the parts and been dismissed.

Rogers was riding at the time of his accident with Lloyd McVey of Newberg whom officers said had no part in the robbery. The wreck occurred when McVey failed to make a sharp turn in the road.

Officer Williams, on his way to the scene of the accident, was himself involved in a mishap, going fast on North Commercial, he collided with a car driven by Fred Dimeler, 2190 North Fourth street, at the junction of Hood and Commercial streets. Dimeler's arm and hip were bruised but not seriously. The car Williams was driving was badly damaged. He called Deputy Smith and proceeded to the St. Paul scene.

Meyers and Rogers were being held in the county jail here last night.

elation of the supreme court that prohibition cases now pending in the courts could not be prosecuted because of repeal.

The senate ordered the affirm arrests after Chairman Black (D-Ala.), of the affirm investigating committee had reported to it testimony regarding the removal of the papers, MacCracken had declined to produce them originally, saying they were personal correspondence of clients.

After removal of some of the letters the committee had subpoenaed and his subsequent arrest by the senate, MacCracken informed the committee that his clients had agreed to surrender of the correspondence.

Those ordered arrested today were Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express; L. H. Britten, vice president of Northwest Airways, and Gilbert L. Givvin, Washington representative of Western Air Express.

The supreme court ruling brought good news to the persons involved in more than 9000 prohibition cases.

There has been no definite move toward granting amnesty to the other thousands who already have been sent to jail under convictions for violating the now impotent law.
