CHANGES IN BUTTER CODE ARE PLANNED

Name Committees at Closed Meeting; Gehlhar and Norton Speak

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Further changes in the Oregon butter code will be considered by a special committee which was appointed last night at a closed meeting attended by representatives of the creamery trade and the Oregon butter committee.

Following the meeting Max Gehlhar, state director of agriculture, and C. W. Norton of Portland Produce exchange, issued a joint statement.

"The several questions which have held up approval of the proposed butter code were gone over in detail by Mr. Gehlhar with the members of the Oregon butter committee, which is the administrative agency of the code, or code authority," in order to work out solutions satisfactory to all concerned.

"Sub-committees were appointed to study these matters further with instructions to report back to the butter committee later with recommendations. These will then be considered by the director of agriculture and another public hearing probably will be held covering any changes of the original code which these recommendations may require.

"We are confident that the matter will thus be worked out in an early and satisfactory conclusion."

Grains Plunged by Sellers

UNCERTAIN NEW PUTS WHEAT OFF 3 CENTS

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Big selling to stop losses plunged grain values downward pell mell today, wheat a maximum of 3 cents a bushel.

Bearish action of the New York stock market, with the French political crisis adding to general uncertainty, had a disturbing effect, together with indications of possible stoppage of drought in domestic wheat territory southwest. Another unsettling influence was widespread notice taken of authoritative summaries of the proposed new code for grain exchange operations, especially relative to increased margin requirements and other restrictive measures.

Despite late rallies, wheat closed unsettled, 2-3/4, under yesterday's finish, corn 1/4-1/2, down, oats 1/2-3/4, off, and provisions showing 7 to 10 cents decline.

Today's closing quotations: Wheat—May 90 1/2—July 89 1/2—September 90 1/2—July 53 1/2—September 53 1/2—Oats—May 37 1/2—July 36 1/2—September 36 1/2.

GAINS IN BUTTER RECORDED LOCALLY

Butterfat made a one cent gain locally Wednesday, for a top of 21 cents. Butter prices came up a half cent.

Offers on wheat dropped, to top of 59 cents on white and 57 cents on western red. Other prices were unchanged.

A second half-cent increase in net prices for butter was effected on the Produce exchange at Portland during the late session yesterday, according to the Associated Press market statistics. New prices quoted were: extras, 23 1/2c; standards and prime firsts, 23c; firsts, 22c.

Perhaps the chief feature of the trade appeared the advance of 1c in the buying price on butterfat while the butter was but 1/2c higher. This suggested that while some buyers were paying full value because of premiums over the regularly established figures, others were a trifle too low. Therefore the adjustment.

Nothing but dullness was expressed for onions either here or at Willamette valley sources. Some sellers were getting scared and were reported moving them into retail channels below even $1.75 currency.
