Coincidence—The visit here of Rev. W. C. Boyer, missionary in the Congo-Africa fields, was exceptionally pleasing to Salem people to whom he brought word of some of their relatives who have been working in the same mission lands. The local folks are aunts of Mrs. Donald Fairley (Dorothy Knowles) a former Eugene girl, who with her husband is just back in this country from six years in Africa. They are Mrs. Cornele Stuttaford and Mrs. Jessie Arnold of South 18th street. Mission pictures which Boyer showed Saturday night at the alumnus tabernacle here included scenes in which were Mr. Fairley and their daughters, Bonnie Jean Fairley, visiting here Sunday with the two Salem women and their mother, Mrs. Doris L. Leighton, were the latter's son, Ned Leighton and wife of Portland.

KGZR Power Raised—KGZR, Salem police radio station, went on the air late Sunday night with doubled power. Gordon Sloat, Portland technician who originally designed the station transmitter, worked continuously from 8:30 a. m. Saturday to 10:30 p. m. Sunday night making the change so the station would be off the air the least possible time. The work of raising the power to 50 watts consisted of remodeling the modulator, changing the oscillator and buffer stages and installing a new speech amplifier. Police last night said the change was a marked improvement. It was made primarily to enable the department to contact other departments by radio day and night.

Skating, Dreamland, Sunday.

Mrs. Garnjobst Hit—A Mrs. Garnjobst, pedestrian, suffered bruises but no other injuries when she was struck at Court and Liberty streets Sunday by an automobile driven by Dorothy Shaffer, 515 South 21st street, according to the latter's report to city police. Other minor accidents reported over the weekend involved the following auto drivers: E. C. Gossler, 1598 Mission, and an unidentified motorist, at Fairgrounds road and Highland avenue; Robert Perlich, route six, and W. A. McMillan, route eight, at Court and Waverly.

Four Alarms Sounded—Four fire alarms were sounded here over the weekend but none of the blazes proved serious. A call to the Gray Belle restaurant Sunday noon brought out major downtown equipment. The "fire" proved to be only smoke that had got into a ventilator shaft. A small blaze occurred at the T. M. Black residence, 235 Court, earlier, and virtually no damage was done by an auto fire to which firemen responded on the Slough road that night. A fire fire occurred at 160 East Lincoln street, residence of Emma Hurst, yesterday afternoon.

Orators on Program—Students who represented Salem high school in oratory at the forensic meet held recently on the Linfield college campus in McMinnville will deliver their orations Friday night as a part of the regular lobby program at the city Y. M. C. A. It was announced last night. The program, which commenced at 8 p. m., is open to the general public.

Aids in Meetings—Rev. W. H. Caldwell of the Gospel Alliance tabernacle here will leave Wednesday morning for the convention program at Canby, Hood River and Bend. He will join the missionary team which appeared here last week, and included the district superintendent, Rev. W. J. McGarvey of Seattle, and two missionaries to foreign fields, W. C. Boyer and A. M. Loptson.

Honor Mrs. Elwell—Mrs. L. A. Elwell was honored by Boy Scout troop five at the Sunday night service at Temple Baptist church, the Scouts conducting part of the evening program. The Scouts will not meet Tuesday, giving way to the Riley program to be held at the Temple church, but will gather Wednesday night instead. The program given Sunday night included: Respect to the flag, Scout oath and law, presentation of a silver fruit dish by Scoutmaster H. F. Finn to Mrs. Elwell in appreciation of her services to the troop in making covers for flags and other work.

No Free Wheat Here—No federal donations of wheat are destined for Marion county under the program of relief to stock raisers, Glenn C. Niles, relief administrator, reported yesterday. The government is doling out the wheat by the carload in counties seriously affected by flood or drought. Nine carloads recently arrived in Astoria for distribution among Clatsop county farmers. Clackamas county also will receive a supply.

THOMPSON SERVICE SERIES IS STARTED

By 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, every seat was taken in the Savent Day Adventist church for the first of a series of lectures on "Current Events in the Light of Bible Prophecy." Evangelist G. A. Thompson spoke on "Jehovah's Challenge to Atheists, Skeptics and All Non-Christians." The speaker presented the Bible as the word of God, as Almighty, infinite in wisdom, and combining with these as His chief attribute, unfathomable love. As proof of the existence of such a God, he called attention to astronomy which evidence that one man controls all the stars in their journeys through space.

As examples of Bible prophecy, he cited those concerning the ancient cities of Nineveh, Babylon, Tyre and Jerusalem, no two of which were to have the same fate. History showed that every detail of each prophecy has been literally fulfilled.

Most interesting of the discourse was his exposition of the great prophecy of Daniel Two, which told the rise and fall of Babylon, Media, Persia, Greece and Rome, and shows that the next great event is the setting up of God's kingdom in the world.

Preceding the lecture, Dr. J. Vinton Scott presented a travelogue of China which was very interesting.

CYNTHIA OSBORNE DIES; RITES TODAY

INDEPENDENCE, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Cynthia J. Osborne died at her home near Independence February 11. She was born at Marion, Ore., March 12, 1853, on the donation land claim of her parents, who were pioneers. She was married to John Wesley Osborne September 7, 1873, at Marion. To this union six children were born, two daughters surviving. Mrs. Lois Snyder and Mrs. Ora Everding, both of the Highland district. Also surviving are four grandchildren, one great-grandchild, and a number of nieces and nephews.

She was a member of the Baptist church for years. Her husband was a Baptist minister. He died July 18, 1921.

Services will be held in the Keeney funeral home Tuesday at 1 p. m. Rev. K. A. Nelson will officiate. Interment will be in the Masonic cemetery at Seilo.

ENGLISH AND LOCAL PAPERS CONTRASTED

Prince of Wales Democratic, Talented, Pinkley Says; Crime Compared

Highlights in contrasts between English and American social systems, governmental leaders, and newspapers and also a picture of the Prince of Wales as a most democratic fellow, were presented to the chamber of commerce yesterday noon by Virgil Pinkley, in charge of the Salem United Press office and who was in London for two years, then in Washington, D. C.

The Prince of Wales has a tremendous amount of ability and determination, as evidenced by the fact that he gained a fair mastery of Spanish in four months prior to making the good-will business tour in South America, that he dropped from 115 to the low 80's in a year of golfing. Stories of falls from horses have failed to show that these occurred when the prince, an excellent horseman, attempted some unusually difficult feat.

Pinkley believes it will be a tremendous catastrophe for Great Britain if the Prince of Wales does not come to the throne on death of King George V, as he holds Wales the outstanding royal personage.

English people, including those in public offices, are fundamentally honest, hence political scandals are few and far between. While the social development from such standpoints as sanitation and the like is far behind America, from the standpoint of public morals it is far, far ahead. In 1932, Los Angeles had 147 murders; in the whole of England, there were 10, and within three months, eight of the 10 had been tried and convicted, one was a suicide and one was adjudged insane.

"Scops" as they are known to the reporting world in this country are ignored in England by even the largest papers; the front page is devoted largely to advertising, features fill the first seven pages, news events come in after that; and strangely enough, English papers have only about a third or fourth of the world news that may be found in Salem papers today. English papers are superior to American ones in literary and make-up standards.

Reporters, all of them, take time out for tea even in midst of what would be big newspaper yarns in this country—as for instance finals in some of the international golf tournaments.

CHILD'S BURNS ARE REPOTRED SERIOUS

STAYTON, Feb. 12.—The condition of the six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clarke is most ominous. The baby was badly burned when the Clarke home was destroyed by fire Friday afternoon and has been at the local hospital since.

At the time of the fire, Mrs. Clarke was out some distance from the house. She ran at once to get two small children who were playing downstairs and the baby who had been put to bed in an upstairs room. The mother was also burned.

The Clarks lost everything in the house. On Saturday, E. C. Denny and George Keech were soliciting funds for the family and around $75 was raised. West Stayton friends are said to have also come to their aid most generously. Mr. Clarke is said to have had about $75 in the house which belonged to the West Stayton community club. He was working on the road near Aumsville when the fire broke out.

Ten Children at Park School are Free of Defects

Ten children out of 121 recently examined at Park school were found to be free of physical defects, Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer, announced yesterday. He declared that this figure, coupled with the fact that nearly all of the children in the school were immunized to smallpox and diphtheria and reacted negatively to tuberculin tests, showed gratifying results from

No Objection to Store's Location

There's nothing to a rumor relative to a protest over selection of the old Halik Electric store on Court street as site for the state liquor store, Dr. G. E. Prime, owner of the building, stated yesterday. He declared the rumor has been chased down, either directly or indirectly, and that all business houses in that vicinity had expressed favor at having the store at this location.

The store is being refurnished and remodeled some on the inside and is now about ready for occupancy.

Medical Society to Meet Tonight

Dr. John G. Cheatham of Portland and Dr. Hugh Dowd of Salem will present papers at the February meeting of the Polk-Yamhill-Marion Medical society to be held at the Masonic temple tonight. Dr. Dowd will discuss "Foot Troubles." The meeting will start with a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

ELLIS FINDS GOLD WEATHER IN EAST

Mighty glad to be back in Oregon after experiencing eastern weather antics is William P. Ellis, local attorney who was back in three weeks in Washington, D. C., where he appeared as attorney in the interests of harbor development at Coquille. The harbor case was referred back to the district engineers following the hearing.

Clerks and employes in Washington federal offices are making a big effort to have salary reductions under the economy program restored to them, and are being strongly supported by some of the national capital dailies. Mr. Ellis says. They are optimistic that the "drive" will be successful.

Mr. Ellis was in the house when it passed the $750,000,000 appropriation bill and also visited the senate while the money bill was under discussion. Passage in the house went through with a minimum of stir, he said.

He had occasion to visit and confer with all the Oregon delegation members and had particular assistance from Congressman James Mott in the harbor case. Washington is crowded, and there is much hurry and activity.

Reverting to the weather, Ellis arrived on a fine, fair "fall" day, only to experience a drop of 55 degrees in temperature in a few hours. During the heavy snow which paralyzed Washington, it took him an hour to go from the city to his hotel, five miles away. Before he left, the weather regained its composure and was fairly warm for winter days, but when he reached St. Paul en route home, automobiles were traveling on the frozen river instead of roads.

MORE APPLICANTS SEEK SCHOOL JOB

Applications of two more school men for the position of city superintendent were started next fall were received at the school clerk's office here yesterday. There are now 14 applicants for the job.

C. J. Cool, 45, superintendent of schools at Cheney, Wash., was among those applying by letter yesterday. He states he holds a bachelor's degree from Washington State college and a master's degree from University of Idaho.

John A. Anderson, the other new applicant, is now doing educational research at University of California. He has also done graduate work at Lake Forest, Ill., University of Chicago, Harvard and University of Minnesota.
