RESERVE OFFICERS STUDYING DEFENSE

Three Get Marksmanship Medals Tonight; Keenan Is Latest Reservist

A study of a national defense program for the United States, featuring discussions and addresses by Colonel Carl A. Brown, infantry reserve; Colonel Miles McKee, coast artillery reserve, and Captain Miller B. Hayden, judge advocate general's department reserve, is expected to draw a large attendance at tonight's meeting of the Marion-Polk reserve chapter, reports Lieut. Kenneth W. Dalton, president.

During the next two weeks, the chapter's national defense committee is planning to provide speakers for the various service clubs of the city and to deliver at least two radio talks. The military hall in honor of Major General George A. White and Mrs. White, Friday, is a part of the chapter's National Defense week program.

The marksmanship qualification medals will be presented at tonight's meeting by Lieutenant Dalton to Captain Hayden, Lieutenant Reed Rowland and Lieutenant Floyd Siegmund. The number of qualified marksmen in the chapter will reach 20 when these men receive their insignia.

First Lieutenant Thomas V. Keenan, chaplain reserve, will make his debut as an officer at tonight's meeting. Lieutenant Keenan was administered the oath as a reserve officer since the last regular meeting and is expected to be a valuable adjunct to Marion-Polk chapter.

New members recently added to the chapter roster include Lieutenant Edward S. Gordon, 332nd Inf. Res., lately of Virginia; Lieutenant Robert S. Taylor, 332nd Inf. Res., accountant at the state printing department; Captain Benjamin F. Pound, national guard and reserve, local dentist; Captain John B. Aiken, national guard and reserve, of Dallas; Lieutenant Martin J. Elle, infantry reserve, West Salem, chaplain. The total membership for the Salem chapter is now 57 as compared to 22 last year.

PEPCO DEBENTURES EXCHANGE APPROVED

Income Trust Bonds Will be Tendered if Debenture Holders Okeh Plan

A plan whereby $15,970,000 of six per cent debentures due March 1, 1950, of the Portland Electric Power company would be exchanged as of March 1, 1934, for an equal amount of collateral trust income bonds of the same tenor, due March 1, 1950, was approved here yesterday by the state corporation department, insofar as the legality of the transaction under the Oregon blue sky laws is concerned. The proposed change is of interest locally both to the debenture holders in this territory and to holders of preferred stock in the Portland Electric Power company. The latter is the holding company for the common stock of the Portland General Electric company and of the Portland Traction company.

According to the letter of Franklin T. Griffith, president of the Portland General Electric company, the plan of debenture exchange is necessary to relieve the company of heavy fixed charges until its net revenues increase. The annual interest on the present debentures, exclusive of preferred stock dividends, totals $950,000 while the Portland General Electric company has agreed not to pay more than $600,000 in dividends in 1934. Since the Traction company is not paying dividends, reduction in interest on the debentures is immediately necessary.

The plan proposed for the debenture holders is this: Instead of six per cent interest for 1934, the issuing company agrees to pay three per cent.

After this year six per cent interest on the par value of the debentures will be paid or accrued as a liability of the Portland Electric Power company.

If at any time a total of 30 per cent of the principal amount of the newly issued debentures is outstanding and unpaid, 25 per cent of the debenture holders can declare the principal and interest of the debentures due and payable.

The collateral trust agreement under which the debentures are issued will also provide that 50 per cent of the net revenue of the Portland Electric Power company, after paying interest on the debentures, shall be set aside as a sinking fund to purchase the debentures for retirement.

The security behind the new issue of debentures will be the common stock of the Portland General Electric company and the common stock of the Portland Traction company. This will be trusted to secure the repayment

FOUR WALLA WALLA 'CONS' ONCE HERE

Butler, DeLong, Clark and Bain Former Inmates of Oregon Prison

Four of the convicts involved in the attempted break at the Washington state penitentiary at Walla Walla, Wash., Monday previously had served terms in the Oregon prison, according to the records of the local institution.

Frank Butler first was received at the Oregon penitentiary August 1, 1921, from Wasco county, to serve a term of two years for larceny. He was paroled in August, 1922, but was returned to the institution eight days later for violating the terms of his release. Butler was discharged after serving his full sentence in February, 1923.

Butler again was received at the penitentiary in April, 1929, from Linn county, to serve one year for possession of a registered still. He previously escaped from the Linn county jail. Butler was released from the prison February 28, 1930.

The convict then went to Benton county where he later was arrested on a charge of larceny and sentenced to a term of six years in the penitentiary. He was received at the institution on March 31, 1930. Butler escaped from the rock crusher crew at the prison on October 13, 1932, and later was involved in the robbery of the Philomath state bank. The records show that he then went to Tacoma, where he was convicted of robbery and sentenced to a long term in the Walla Walla penitentiary.

Sonny Martin, alias Frederick Hammersberg and Jim DeLong, was received at the Oregon penitentiary on July 3, 1928, from Multnomah county, to serve 10 years for assault and robbery. His term later was commuted to six years and he was discharged on July 3, 1932.

NO Luckies don't use the top leaves... because top leaves are under-developed... they are not ripe... They would give a harsh smoke.

YES Luckies use only the center leaves of the finest tobacco... because the center leaves are the mildest, tenderest, smoothest.

NO Luckies don't use the bottom leaves, because bottom leaves are inferior in quality. They grow close to the ground, and are tough, coarse and always sandy.

In making Lucky Strike, we actually discard most of the tobacco plant—because we select only the center leaves—and for these center leaves farmers are paid a higher price. We do not use the top leaves—because those are under-developed. Nor the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality—tough, coarse and always sandy. But these center leaves are the mildest leaves, silky, smooth, tender. And so only these center leaves are used in making Luckies the fully packed cigarette—so round, so firm—free from loose ends. The tobacco doesn't spill out. That's why Luckies draw easily, burn evenly—and are always mild and smooth... And then, too—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.

NOT the top leaves—they're under-developed—they are harsh!

The Cream of the Crop
