

Dairy Grading IS ANNOUNCED

Little Change in Number of Plants Falling Under 5 Classifications

plant, one more distributor of Grade "A" milk pasteurized in another plant, the same number of Grade "A" Raw milk producer-distributors, Grade "A" Raw milk produced and bottled on farm for distributors, and Grade "A" Raw milk bottled by distributor but produced by another.
There are now 103 Grade "B" milk producers, who supply milk to nine pasteurizing plants, and 22 Grade "A" dairies under city inspection, Blinkhorn reports.
"These grades," the inspector explains, "are determined under the city milk ordinance which is one of eight in the state and of approximately 500 in the United States patterned after the ordinance recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture."
Blinkhorn urges milk customers "to note the information on the bottle caps and to see that they are delivered only Grade 'A' Pasteurized milk, as this is the safest grade of pasteurized milk available, or Grade 'A' Raw milk, which is the safest raw milk available."
During the past grading period, one producer-distributor sold his route to another established route, one producer-distributor, who therefore delivered exclusively outside the city, made the changes necessary to comply with the city ordinance and began selling in the city. Another distributor, who at present sells outside the city exclusively, is preparing for city inspection, two producer-distributors have started deliveries. Eight of the former Salem-Inspected Grade "B" milk shippers are now under Portland inspection and send approximately 3000 pounds of milk there.
Improvements in both Grade "A" and "B" dairies have been the rule during the last grading period, Blinkhorn reports.

BARNHART TO RUN AGAIN, ANNOUNCES

DALLAS, Feb. 15.—Elmer E. Barnhart, Polk county district attorney since June 1, 1929, has announced that he will be a candidate for the republican nomination to succeed himself. He stated that his record in office would be his platform.
Mr. Barnhart was appointed district attorney in 1929 to serve the remaining period of the term of W. W. Harcombe, who resigned. He was a successful candidate in the republican primaries the following year, and was not opposed at the election in November.
At present it appears that there will be three candidates for the position with only one democrat entering. Elmer G. Cook of West Salem and C. F. Gillette of Monmouth will contest against Mr. Barnhart for the republican nomination, while Bruce Spaulding of Dallas will apparently be unopposed as the democratic candidate.

of the six planned. One was paid for by the students and Parent-Teacher association. Ground for the court planned at Kay park has been prepared.
Members of the committee envision the two playgrounds as places where resident and tourist families alike can spend their holidays. Groves, in which the ground has been leveled, will provide picnic grounds at both places. At Olinger field, for instance, there will be two major baseball or football grounds, a quarter-mile track, the pool and tennis courts, a volleyball court, four horseshoe courts, and standard playground equipment. The Leslie playground will be similar.
Adequate supervision for the two playgrounds is planned by the committee. This would include lifeguards at the pools, swimming instructors and play directors.
The projects can easily be finished by May 1, present CWA deadline, it was declared. If they are completed this spring, no Salem family will be more than a mile and a half from one of the best-equipped recreational centers in the northwest, in the committee's opinion.

TWO KNOX REPEAL PETITIONS FILED

Two separate petitions for outright repeal of the state liquor control law enacted by the special legislative session, were filed in the state department Thursday.
The first repeal move is being sponsored by the American Brotherhood, Inc., of which Claude N. Gordon is supreme executive secretary and Joseph Lee Ledwith, supreme president, of Portland. The petition also was signed by Sam H. Webb.
The second petition filed late in the afternoon was by the "Knox Law Repeal club" of Astoria, and signed by L. M. Kietzing, secretary. The petition was identical with the one filed earlier and would provide no substitute.
Kietzing declared upon filing that the club was formed and the move taken because they opposed the state going into the liquor business, protested censorship of advertising of liquor, the high fees paid by restaurants as compared to the low fees required of beer gardens, the one dollar permit fee after the federal government had made buying legal, and to the judicial authority given the state liquor control commission. He added the club would work separately for the repeal, as it had not known previously of the previous filing.

MAX BAER FACING BIG DAMAGE SUIT

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP)—More girl trouble—$50,000 worth, this time descended today upon the curly black head of Max Baer, the rapping lothario of Livermore, Cal.
Miss Shirley La Belle was disclosed to have sued him for damages as the result of an alleged criminal attack at Baer's hotel last December 20 because of which she says she is an expectant mother.
The affair became public when the prize fighter moved to have Miss La Belle examined before trial. Supreme Court Justice Bernard L. Shientag reserved decision.
Benjamin Pepper, attorney for the heavyweight boxer and night club entertainer, said Baer denies having had any relations with the curly black head, but the court she accused Baer outside a theatre where he was appearing December 15 and asked him for money which he gave her.
Later, Pepper continued, she wrote Baer "making amatory suggestions," and on the night of the 20th accosted him outside his hotel and asked him to get her a room where, which he did. Pepper branded the case extortion.

Funeral is Set This Afternoon For Mrs. Adams

SILVERTON, Feb. 15.—Final services will be held Friday at 1 p. m. from the Eckman funeral parlors here for Mrs. Bee M. Adams, 76, with Dr. Grover C. Birchett of Salem officiating. Mrs. Adams died Wednesday afternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Angus McGregor, corner Section-line road and Roughwood road in Portland. She was the widow of Robert Adams and both were well known in this community.
Mrs. Adams is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Angus McGregor of Portland and Mrs. Mary Kraus of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. William Adams of Nampa, Cal.; a daughter—in-law, Mrs. Inez Adams of Mt. Angel, and one granddaughter. Interment will be in the Miller cemetery.

Ruling Voided Mail Contracts

This conference between Attorney General Homer Cummings (left), Carl Ristine, his special assistant (center), and Karl Crowley, solicitor of the Post Office Department, resulted in the cancellation of air mail contracts by President Roosevelt, after Attorney General Cummings had ruled such a course legal. Army fliers will carry mail pending awarding of new contracts.

MEIER TO OUTLINE WORK IN BROADCAST

Achievements of Governor Meier's administration, with special relation to financial savings and his interest in federal and local relief measures, will be reviewed by the executive in a radio address to be given over a Portland broadcasting station within the next few days, it was reported here yesterday.
Friends of Governor Meier said he had not yet determined definitely upon the date of the address or the radio station to be selected.
Some officials interpreted the report to mean that Governor Meier would be a candidate for reelection. From other sources it was learned that the governor had not yet made up his mind whether he would enter the gubernatorial contest.
It was reported that the governor would refer to the creation of the state police department, reduction of the property tax, economies effected in the operation of various state departments, consolidation of the state agricultural agencies and his efforts to obtain cheap power. The reduction in the costs of higher education also will be discussed, it was said.

Liquor Stores in Portland Opened

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Oregon today actually launched itself in the retail hard liquor business, but started on a small scale.
Only four stores in Portland were open and they took in $1,356.65, of which $519.50 was for buyers' permits.
State Liquor Administrator George L. Sammis expressed himself as pleased with the business and said stores in other parts of the state will be opened late this week or early next.
He also announced that state, county and city officers would at once put on a campaign to run out of business the state's competitors—bootleggers and speakeasies. The state has a monopoly on sale of liquor actually of more than 14 cent alcohol content.
One store did $58.40 of liquor business. Officials surmised business would pick up as more people obtained permits. The stores open at 11 in the morning and close at 8 p. m., except on Saturdays when they remain open until 10. They do not open Sundays.

Bonneville Dam Chief to Speak At Convention

Salem residents will be given the opportunity to hear the chief engineer in charge of the Bonneville dam project, C. I. Grimm, detail what he believes will be the effects of the dam on the Pacific northwest, when the second annual state convention of the Oregon Building Congress convenes here March 9. The local convention committee announced last night that Mr. Grimm had been substituted for L. C. Newlands as the main speaker at the convention banquet to be held at the Marion hotel and to be open to the public.
A general meeting of all persons interested in the building industry here has been called for Monday night, February 22, at the chamber of commerce to further plans for the convention.

SUPPLIES RECEIVED AT ICE-BOUND ISLE

CRISFIELD, Md., Feb. 15.—(AP)—The coast guard boat Patsy broke through a field of ice today and landed badly-needed supplies of food and fuel on the island of Tangier, where for more than a week 2000 persons have been cut off from the outside world.
At the same time, the Patsy released five boats from the ice in Tangier harbor and three of them proceeded here immediately for supplies, newspapers, and mail. The other two were oyster boats.
The Patsy had been repulsed several times earlier in the week in her efforts to carry supplies to Tangier.
Taking relief to the island, which is located in the lower Chesapeake bay, followed closely on the rescue yesterday of seven persons by a lighthouse tender. They had started out from Tangier for Crisfield but after an hour's efforts, were forced to turn back.
Among the seven was H. A. Wise, superintendent of schools of Accomac county, Va., who had gone to Tangier eight days ago to inspect the schools there.
