In the Valley Social Realm

Woodburn. — The Woodburn Rural club met at the home of Mrs. Louisa Davis Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. H. F. Rodgers and Mrs. Broughard reported that a large supply of clothes and three quilts were ready to be sent to the Albertina Kerr baby home and Volunteers of America home in Portland. Mrs. L. J. Marshall was accepted as a new member of the club. It was voted that the Rural club assist the Woodburn Woman's club with the Martha Washington tea to be given February 22. A program followed: readings by Mrs. W. F. Morrison, Mrs. Barrett and Mrs. Matson; short travel talks by Mrs. Emma Bidwell and Mrs. Harralson. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Chas. Dean. Special guests were Mrs. Alice Guzy, Mrs. H. Wilkins and Miss Martha Arney.

Oak Point. — Dr. Kate W. Jameson, dean of women of O. S. C., spoke on "What the Women of the World are Doing Today," at the regular meeting of Independence Rural Women's club, at the home of Mrs. C. O. Allen, when they entertained the Independence Women's club in the afternoon. Her topic was taken from her attendance of the international women's congress in Chicago last July. Women from nearly all the nations of the world attended the congress, which was concerned with the development of women's activities towards the betterment of civilization. Dean Jameson said it was interesting to note the attitudes of different countries as represented by these women when discussing their two main subjects, "The World as It is Today" and "The World as It Should Be." Mrs. Leonard Peterson and Mrs. Joe Rogers, Jr., gave two musical numbers.

Gervais. — Miss Zona Schwab was guest of an entertaining social given at the home of Mrs. Robert Harper Tuesday night. Mrs. E. R. Rae of Salem and Mrs. C. W. Cutsforth and Mrs. A. B. Adkisson were joint hostesses with Mrs. Harper. More than 40 guests were present from Salem, Silverton, Woodburn, Hubbard, Aurora, Canby and Gervais.
