CITY BRIDGE PLAY FOR STATE ENTRIES

Local bridge fans are busy this week securing partners to compete in the first city championship tournament ever to be held in Salem. Play will start Tuesday night, February 20, at the Marlton hotel at 8 o'clock. Dr. Alfred Schlitz, president of the Oregon Bridge League, has asked Mrs. William H. Quinn, Culbertson associate, and Miss Bette Harlid, to put on the city championship here. Winners locally will compete in the state finals to be held soon in Portland.

In order to produce a pair top score, the Howell movement will be used. In this manner, each north and south player will contest against every other north and south player as well as against every east and west pair. The team making the top score will be eligible to play in the state finals to be held the following week in Portland. The city final here will be played between pairs; partners remaining the same through the play.

Week after next the state tournament will be played in Portland. Inasmuch as this is the first city tournament for Salem, a large attendance is expected.

'A' GRADES TO SIX UNIVERSITY FOLKS

Six students at Willamette university carried 15 hours or more of work during the last semester with grades of "A", according to Dean Frank M. Erickson. "C" while marks of "A" to "D" inclusive are passing.

Students with the high scholastic standing were Lucille Brainard, Wardner, Idaho, freshman; Ben Briggs, Troutdale, senior; Winthrop Henderson, Portland, freshman; Esther Stayton, Stayton, senior; Alice Wiens, Dallas, senior; Margaret Doege, Salem, freshman.

Eight other students made marks of "A" in 12 to 14 hours of the work they took. These students were Edward Aschenbrenner, senior; Roberta Brainard, senior; George Cannady, junior; Howard Ennor, junior; Joseph Hershberger, senior; Richard Lucke, junior; Carl Marcy, senior; Martha Warren, freshman.

Alleged Pollution At River Center For $24,000 Suit

Suit of Eva M. Palmerton, proprietress of Spang's Landing, seven miles north of here, against the Hunt Brothers Packing company and Reid, Murdock & Co., fruit packers, opened in Federal Judge Peck's court in Portland Friday. Damages of $24,000 are sought.

The suit is of unusual interest since it brings up the question of pollution in the Willamette river. The plaintiff's property is an amusement resort and playground, frequented by picnickers and swimmers. The complaint alleges that fruit juice and peelings, thrown in the river by the defendant companies, have polluted the stream. The refuse floats downstream and lodges on the property of the plaintiff. It is alleged, destroying its value as an amusement resort.

Borrowing Based On Student Fee Gets Legal Oke

The state board of higher education has authority under the Oregon laws to levy a student building fee and to borrow money from the federal government for building construction purposes with this fee as security for the loan, Attorney General Van Winkle held in an opinion handed down Friday.

The opinion was requested by W. J. Kerr, chancellor of the Oregon higher educational system, and had particular reference to the construction of an infirmary at the university.

The attorney general also held that any contract previously made between the higher board of education and the federal government was retroactive, and that the board still has the power to fix the amount of the student fees to cover the cost of the building.

FARMERS TO SIGN FOR HOG CONTROL

Farmers of Marion county intending to take part in the corn-hog production control program will sign up beginning next week at a series of meetings to be held all over the county, according to County Agent Harry Riches.

The meetings, all to begin at 9 a.m., will be at Hubbard city hall Monday, February 19; St. Paul, K. C. hall, Tuesday; Mt. Angel city hall Wednesday; Silverton city hall Friday; Salem chamber of commerce Monday, February 26; Stayton city hall Wednesday; Jefferson Masonic temple Thursday, March 1; Gervais auditorium Friday.

The series of educational meetings in the program ended yesterday at Union Hill, Riches said. Farmers contemplating signing up are requested to take to their respective meetings all of the documents issued to them, properly filled in as fully as possible. Tenant farmers are asked to consult with their landlords regarding contracted acres, or the number of acres to be taken out of production, since it is necessary to show on the map the location of such contracted land.

Riches said it will be necessary that tenants have definite understandings with landlords regarding the division of reduction payments. He suggested that landlords should attend the meetings along with their tenants.

Riches also pointed out that much delay will be saved if all contracts and supporting evidence are presented in proper form.

Beneficiaries of Trester Receive Check for $1000

A check for $1000 will go today to Barbara Sleight, Grace Trester Travis and Alta Bright, beneficiaries of D. H. Trester, who was killed on the night of January 6 just north of town. The check represents payment on an insurance policy held by Trester as a Statesman subscriber, with the North American Accident Insurance Co.

Moderate Trading in Wool Observed

BOSTON, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

"The wool trade has experienced another week of moderate activity. Demand has rather favored the medium grades, both greasy and scoured, chiefly on account of the government contracts, now out for bids, which call for these wools. There has been some demand also for fine and fine medium wools at steady rates.

"Foreign markets have been a bit heavy, especially the secondary markets of Europe, where financial requirements of the industry are just now very heavy.

"In the west, there has been further purchasing of wool horn and unshorn at about 80 cents for fine and fine medium clips of fair staple, which mean anywhere from 82 to 90 cents, according

Aladdin Magic

THE OLD ADAGE, "Man toils from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done," is only partially true today. Science has taken an interest in the home of late years, and has done much to lighten the burdens of household tasks.

Science has harnessed electricity to make it perform a sort of "Aladdin magic." It works for us, twenty-four hours a day — and its pay is low considering the labors it accomplishes. It furnishes light and heat. It sweeps the carpets and polishes the floors. It runs the sewing machine and washes the dishes. It toasts the bread and percolates the morning cup of coffee. It beats the eggs; it stirs the dough and bakes the bread; and last, but not least, it furnishes the power for the radio to entertain day and night.

You learn of these, and many other time and labor saving devices through the advertisements. They keep you informed of new things and give you dependable facts on which to base a purchase. These are good reasons for believing a product is "better because it's advertised."
