LAST RITES SAID FOR ANNA K. HOLT

STAYTON, Feb. 20.—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Kelly Holt, who died at her home near Scio Friday were held at the Christian church in Scio Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. S. G. Rawie. The attendance at the service was so great that none could get inside the church. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Anna Kelly was born on the Kelly donation land claim, July 1, 1861. Practically all her life had been spent on that section of land, where her own home was located. She was married to John H. Kelly, November 30, 1881, and to this union three children were born: Mrs. Nellie Jones, Stayton; Lester Carlton, who survive her, and Cletus, who died in 1922 of ill health contracted in the World war. Her husband died February 1, 1932. The previous November they had celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Records show that her great, great grandfather, Joseph Kelly, who had come from Ireland to America, baptized George Washington. They also show that this same Joseph Kelly was a chaplain with Washington's army at Valley Forge. Another ancestor took an active part in the war of 1812 and her son saw service in the World war.

She was laid to rest in the Miller cemetery, near Shelburn, beside her son and husband, and here many of the pioneers of the Scio community are buried. Pallbearers were her nephews, Isaac Butler, Portland; Arthur Kelly, Lebanon; Kelly Moore, Salem; Russel and Jean Kelly, and Ronald Summers, Scio.

For many years she had been a member of the Women's club in her immediate neighborhood and also of the Farmers' Union. For the past two years she had served the latter organization as chaplain.
