OUTPUT OF BUTTER

State Not A ...ing in Egg Situation; Lamb Bids Below Expectations

PORTLAND, March 19. - (AP) Output of butter continued to increase locally and al! through the immediate Portland territory. Receipts of butterfat have been greater for fully a week but prices paid remained steady.

With the state of Oregon still doing nothing materially to aid the situation, the market for eggs was still badly jammed here with 1.539.060 shares. resulting loss to operators. Strong demand was suggested all through the chicken trade with the exception of light and medium hens which were inclined to rule dull even though the marketing movement was small.

While the country still has visions of extreme prices for lamb as well as for old stuff, trade in the spring stuff was rather slow with buyers unwilling to bid up for their normal needs Late receipts in all lines of country meats have been small.

This has been considerable aid to the demand for veal and hogs, especially the former. Prices were firmly held all around. Market for cauliflower-broccoli was firmer and higher in spots with sales of 1s to 90c to $1 crate and 2s moving as high as 75c.

Receipts from both Roseburg and local points were comparatively

There is considerable difference in the relative situations in the different early lambing areas this year from that of the preceding two years. In Oregon and Washington and other far western states, weather and feed conditions the past winter have been exceptionally good and much above either 1933 or 1932. In the southeastern states the early lambing season this year was much less favorable than for some years. Unusually cold weather in February cut off the supply of green feed and checked the growth of lambs. Pastures will be late. In Texas, old feed has been very short and new feed is late in starting. In general, the market movement of early lambs from the west will be somewhat earlier than last year, and from other sections somewhat later. The California early lambecrop this year is probably a little larger than that of 1933, the decrease in ewes being more than offset by an increase in lambs saved. The South San Joaquin valley, however, failed to get the early rains that covered most of the state; feed conditions there have been very poor, and the early lambs there have not done well. Eastern shipments will probably start the latter part of March and the aver-Salem Fence and Stove Works, 262 age date of the eastward move-Chemeketa, Tel. 4774. R. B. quality of the slaughter lambs higher than for some years. In Texas, although the winter was mild in the principal sheep territory, old feed was very short and new feed will be late. Early lambing considerably reduced and early lambs have not done well. Sheep are in poor condition, and the marketing of gress fat yearlings and wethers will be late and probably in much smaller volume than last year. Weather conditions in Idaho. Washington and Oregon during the past winter were exceptionally good, and prospects are favorable for early range feed. Early lambing conditions were very good and much above last year.
