Support Must Be Given Dependents by Family, Held

The old-age pension law imposes a mandatory duty upon parents, children and brothers or sisters, if they are financially able to do so, to provide for the support of indigent persons, and these persons if found to have other possible support, are not eligible for the pension, Attorney General Van Winkle held in an opinion handed down yesterday. The opinion was requested by Sherman S. Smith, district attorney of Josephine county. Under the civil law one exception is made to this rule. This is in the case of married women where the county has no legal right to compel them to support indigent parents "while their husbands are living." The criminal code provides that persons who are financially able to do so but fail to support indigent relatives may be punished by a jail sentence and fine.

FIVE MEASURES GO ON MAY 18 BALLOT

Sales Tax, Jury Change and County Bond Voting are Included in List

Five measures will come before voters of Oregon at the May 18 primaries: Two are constitutional amendments, two legislative bills and the third a referendum measure passed by the last special legislative session. With the exception of the sales tax, all the measures were ordered referred to the voters by the legislature.

The referendum measure attacks the sales tax which provides for a levy of one and one-half per cent on gross receipts from retail sales of tangible personal property and utility service.

Referendum of the sales tax law was sponsored by the Oregon State Grange, the State Federation of Labor and a number of other organizations.

One of the proposed constitutional amendments provides that ten members of a jury in a criminal case, other than those involving capital offenses, may return a verdict of guilty. The unanimous vote of the 12 jurors is now required to return a verdict of guilty in a criminal case.

The other constitutional amendment requires a two-thirds vote in counties to authorize county indebtedness exceeding $5000 for roads, and a similar vote to issue bonds in an amount equal to the aggregate of its outstanding warrants on December 31, 1933. In no case shall bonds be issued in excess of 2 1/2 per cent of the assessed valuation of the county.

The two referred bills authorize the location, construction and operation of a state tuberculosis hospital and state insane asylum in Multnomah county.

These bills contain the provision that neither the tuberculosis hospital nor the insane hospital shall be constructed until funds are available. At the last special legislative session an effort was made to obtain federal funds for the construction of these institutions.

LARGE PLANTING OF BARLEY PREDICTED

Virtually all grain crops which local farmers will plant this season are already in the ground, with exceptions of barley, some oats and clover seed, says Floyd White, seed dealer. Crops all look very good but no indications of prices will be evident until the season is more advanced.

White says seed men as yet have no knowledge of how heavy the plantings of barley will be locally this spring. Barley planting time will be at hand soon, and inasmuch as farmers are not placing advance orders for seeds, the acreage that will go into barley will not be known until planting time arrives.

With the brewery trade opening up new fields for disposal of malting barley, and with agriculturists declaring local land highly suited for the crop, there is some anticipation that a large quantity of brewing barley will be sown in the valley.

Liquor Fixtures' Total Cost $5252

Fixtures for the 22 state liquor stores now in operation in Oregon cost approximately $5252.90, according to vouchers filed in the state department yesterday. The vouchers were approved by the state liquor commission. The cost of the fixtures, based on the individual stores, ranged from $170 to $397, with the exception of those for store No. 3 in Portland, which cost $1088.50. The latter store is located in the Elks temple.

DEFAULT DIVORCES OBTAINED BY THREE

Three divorce decrees, all by default, were handed down here Tuesday by Judge L. G. Lewelling. In the case of Dolly Painter against John R. Painter, the court granted plaintiff a decree and allowed her to resume the use of her former name of Dolly Dutton. She is to receive $20 a month as alimony until defendant pays her $750 and is to receive in addition $100 in attorney's fees. Olive McCormick received her freedom from J. W. McCormick. The court awarded the custody of their son to the father and of two children to the mother with a mutual right of visitation. The court also ordered defendant to pay the plaintiff $10 a month for the support of the children. Charles H. Knuths was granted a decree of divorce from Kennie Knuths on his charge of cruel and inhuman treatment.
