ence and last night was with his parents in Portland, resting in preparation for his two days here.

Dr. Raymond Walker is keynote speaker.

Dr. Raymond B. Walker, pastor of the First Congregational church in Portland, was the keynote speaker last night, addressing 2000 delegates and visitors at the Willamette university gymnasium. He developed the subject, "Fit for the Race," carrying out the theme of "The Race Before Us" which has prevailed in all the convention assemblies. He stressed the increasing complexity of today's world with its stress and its tension and pleaded for a spiritual "second wind" to sustain individuals in today's problems.

Rev. Kendall E. Burke of Dallas spoke at the morning meeting on "The Challenge of the Race." "This is not a race up the alley," Burke declared. "It is a great race being participated in by millions of Christians all over the world. The purpose of the race can be told in a few words—better men and women."

Ministers attending the conference were guests yesterday at a pastors' luncheon held at the Court street Christian church. Rev. C. P. Gates of Portland presided.

A feature of yesterday afternoon's program was an "International tea" given at the home of Mrs. C. P. Bishop. Guests were persons who have attended an international convention or who are interested in attending one to be held in Philadelphia or Budapest.

JOE DUNNE SEIZES ISSUE, QUILTS JOBS

definite time for calling the meeting is specified.

Dunne's action is in line with resolutions passed by various groups organizations in Marion county which have raised the point that running for one office while still holding another and failing to resign, deprives the electorate of an opportunity to fill the office retained, since if the candidate is successful in his new quest, the vacancy in the office previously held will occur after the election and a successor will be appointed. The first of these resolutions specifically called upon Rufus C. Holman, candidate for governor, to resign as state treasurer.

Bush Has Broken Shoulder Blade, Result of Crash

A broken shoulder blade was the injury suffered by S. M. Bush early Friday afternoon when his automobile, driven by Edward G. Kilkins, became involved in a resounding collision with a machine driven by John K. Honey of Gresham, on the Pacific highway in front of the Red Lantern, three miles south of Salem.

Wilkins turned across the highway to enter the driveway of Graber's auto camp when Honey's car crashed into the side of Bush's machine, shunting it into the ditch. Both machines were badly damaged. Wilkins' arm and hand were injured and a hitch-hiker riding with Honey suffered cuts on the forehead and knees. Honey was not injured.

The condition of Bush, who is at the Salem General hospital, was reported not serious.

Aviators' Exodus to Colombia Irks U. S.

Signing up for Colombia
John (Sunny) Trunk

Threats of cancelled licenses, withdrawal of Army reserve commissions and of being deprived of their citizenship should they bear arms for a foreign nation, failed to halt exodus of U. S. flyers, many of them army men, to Colombia, where they have signed up for six-month period to teach Colombians to fly. As war between Colombia and Peru seems imminent at the moment, it is predicted that the American birdmen may be asked to fight. It is said some of their contracts contain clause that in the event of hostilities they are free to return home, while others provide for pay amounting to $125 a day should they fight for Colombia. One of the leaders of the U. S. pilots is John L. Trunk, an ace commercial pilot. It is reported that Clyde Pangborn, trans-Pacific flier, will act for Colombia as aviation advisor.

HORAN WAS SEATED WHEN SHOT, CLAIM

standing in a window of the anteroom to the Manning private office just after she saw an object which proved to be a gin bottle, fly from the window of Manning's office and strike the pavement, about 5:40 p. m. She said Perrin took an overcoat off the wall, went downstairs and hurried around the corner.

Sam Woodward, who has known Manning for 30 years, said he saw him standing near the Seventh street entrance to the Underwood building, in which the Manning offices are located, at about five or six minutes past 6.

Miss Young, stenographer in the office of L. Orth Sizemore, in the Underwood building, Mardin C. Blackmer and Sizemore all told of seeing Manning after 5 o'clock. Miss Young said she thought he was under the influence of liquor.

On cross-examination Sizemore was emphatic that Manning was drunk. He said he had talked to Manning many times, both when he was sober and when he had been drinking. Manning staggered as he left Sizemore's office, the latter testified.

Horan was right-handed in everything, Claude McColloch, his law partner related. The gun grasped by Horan was in his left hand.

HEAD OF FUTURE FARMERS VISITOR

Just returned from 16 days in Hawaii and beginning the last lap of a two months' trip west from his home in Radnor, Ohio, Bobby Jones, national president of the Future Farmers of America, addressed a special assembly at Salem high school yesterday afternoon. Not only local high school students as Salem townsfolk but members from various F. F. A. chapters in this part of the valley were there to hear him discuss the economic significance of agricultural education. Jones was introduced by Earl Cooley, state supervisor of agricultural education.

Salem high school has no Smith-Hughes agricultural course but was represented on the platform by Jack McCafferty, recently elected president of the Future Farmers of America, a brother organization representing the trades. Other speakers included Kenneth Pettibone, of Corvallis, former national president of the F.F.A., and George Penrose of the Amity chapter.

A luncheon for young Jones at the Marion hotel yesterday noon numbers among its participants C. A. Howard, O. D. Adams, Earl Cooley, Fred Wolf, T. T. Mackenzie, C. A. Guderian, Floyd Siegmund, Jack McCafferty, Reuben Skubovius and Melvin Zwickler.

SALEM HIGH BAND ENTRY IN CONTEST

Salem high school's 35-piece band, directed by Wesley Rooder, is today competing in the 11th annual Oregon state high school band contest on the Oregon State college campus at Corvallis.

Entered in class A, Salem's band will compete against Jefferson, Grant and Roosevelt of Portland, Corvallis, West Linn, La Grande, Medford, Albany, Eugene and Gresham. Jefferson high of Portland is defending champion having won the first place two years in succession. A victory today would give that school permanent possession of the cup.

Class A contests begin at 1 p. m. today.

The local band group will include Ronald Adams, Dean Ahrhart, Irving Branch, Roger Baker, Warren Biggerstaff, Robert Clarke, Foster Cronemiller, Bert Broer, Lorren Benjamin, Rolland Clark, Mary Clark, Robert DePrex, Julian Edwards, Ernest Gerwig, Oliver Glenn, Frank Hunt, Waldo Kleen, Jack Kinney, Edward Kinnaman, John Laughlin, Jimmie Moyer, Ernest Moyer, Ernest Meyer, Roger Miller, Wilmer McDowell, Ila Mills, Bill Peterson, Dayton Robertson, Donald Scott, Merrill Walter, Quay Wassam, Harold Bressler, Bill Moyer, Dale Smith, Ellis Wallings and Bill West.

Mickey Mouse NOTES

Well, we're starting another big drive for new talent—singers—dancers—musicians—or what can you do????

If you know of anyone that can fill the requirements stated above have them come down to the Elsinore any Thursday afternoon at 4:30. Or if you'd like to try out—come on down.

M. M. C.

Who knows?—You may be another Bing Crosby—or Ray Elliott.

M. M. C.

I've just received a letter from a well known banker here in town asking if it's really true that "Boots" Grants' ancestors came over on the Mayflower.

"Yes it is true, but you must realize that the immigration authorities weren't very strict in those days."

M. M. C.

Just one more week—and we'll present the "School Daze Revue."

M. M. C.

There was quite a group of new talent in the stage performance last Saturday—and I believe that we've found two new entertainers who are very much so "talented". They are Bobbie Rheinhold, and Billie Evans. Others on the program were Lucille Bennett, Mildred Beach, Jeanette Ahrhart.

NEW BALL IS FINE SAYS OUTFIELDER

NEW YORK, April 20.—(P)—Accept the word of Randy Moore, a hitter of parts and the Boston Braves, this new ball the pitchers are feeding up in the National league is a most wonderful thing to behold.

For the first two games of the season Randy, a pleasant, drawing young man, hit a natty, T14. He has slumped now to an even .500. He averaged .302 last year. "I notice the difference in the new ball more out in left field than at the plate," he said. "Right now I'm playing deeper than I did any time last season. I've had to come in for one ball. This sure is a high-sailing, far-flying apple when you tee it up."

BEAVER NETMEN WIN CORVALLIS, Ore., April 20.
