Champaign, Ill., abandoned their plows as the sun warmed to its task and the annual meeting of the Illinois Bar association at Waukegan took a recess to permit the delegates to seek relief.

C. A. Donnell, federal meteorologist, said last month was the driest May in Chicago's history, had seven days with temperatures above 90 and had more sunshine than any May on record.

Forecasters announced there was a probability of some local showers in the northern central states in the near future and predicted cooler weather in most of the northwest and the northern and western portions of the midwest.

FOUR ACTIONS ARE FILED, POLK COURT

DALLAS, May 31.—Four complaints, including two divorce complaints, have been filed here in the past few days.

The first complaint was the Credit Service Company vs. Frank Bennett, et al, in which the plaintiff seeks to collect money due on goods delivered by various companies to the defendants, at their business establishment, the Dam Inn, at Cascade Locks. The accounts sold to the plaintiff and which the plaintiff seeks to collect are from the Pacific Fruit and Produce company, Wadhams and company, Dohrmann Hotel Supply company and Thomas L. Thurston and total $1513.63.

The state industrial accident commission filed a complaint against Peter Schenke in which it is alleged that the defendant agreed to conduct his business under the workmen's compensation act, and that he is in debt to the plaintiff in the amount of $27.34 including interest and penalty.

Rose A. Petram filed a divorce complaint against Donald R. Petram in which she charges cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple were married at Keiso on August 9, 1931. There are no property rights involved in the action. The plaintiff seeks a judgment granting her $25 a month, restoring her maiden name of Rose A. Morral, and giving her the custody of a minor son by a former marriage.

Helen L. Grubbe filed a divorce complaint against Preston B. Grubbe in which she charges desertion. The couple were married here on April 20, 1928, and have one child. The plaintiff seeks a judgment giving her the custody of the child.

FILIBUSTER RAGES OVER PRISON BILL

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—The session's first filibuster—one that lasted about five hours—ended tonight after a dogged democratic house majority and stayed with a determined republican minority through eight long roll calls and divers parliamentary maneuvers.

Boos, catcalls, applause and shouts rang through the chamber as the wrangling debate progressed on the Tarver prison industries bill to a point where a final vote might be taken. Even so the voting was put off until tomorrow when a Representative McGugin (R-Kan.) moved that it be taken on the engrossed bill.

To take the vote on the engrossed bill would have meant more hours of waiting while the measure was sent to the engrossing room to be done up in appropriate ribbons and sealing wax.

The prison industries bill would set up a special commission to work out a plan of diversified industry for prison inmates.

Exile Bergdoll Renews Fight for Pardon

BERGDOLL MANSION IN PHILADELPHIA. Mrs. GROVER BERGDOLL AND CHILDREN. Most recent move to seek a Presidential pardon for Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, America's most famous draft-dodger, comes from Bergdoll himself, now married and the father of three children in Weinsberg, Germany, and is said to have support of a Philadelphia post of the American Legion. Bergdoll is willing to come back to stand trial before a civil—not military—court and to take the medicine from which he fled in 1920. Last January, Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, the exile's mother, who still resides in the palatial family mansion in Philadelphia, petitioned President Roosevelt for a pardon for her son. But her appeal was as unsuccessful as her court fight to prevent confiscation of Bergdoll's $1,500,000 fortune by the U. S. Alien Property Custodian following his flight. Bergdoll's refusal to fight for the U. S. was inspired by his love of Germany, his parents' native land. It is recalled he offered to fight for Germany in 1914.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barna and family who have been living in the W. E. Smith residence on Second street for a number of years have moved into the H. D. Mars residence just across the street. The Ridgeway family who lived in D. M. Burnett's residence for a short time have moved on to the 10-acre tract of J. L. Jones, east of the depot.

Mannie M. Krats Dies, Long Beach

Word was received here yesterday of the death on Wednesday at her home in Long Beach, Cal., of Mannie Malvin Krats. Before her marriage in 1914 Mrs. Krats had made her home in Salem for many years and was well-known here. She had been employed in the office of the county school superintendent here and was active in the work of the Congregational church. Her death Wednesday followed an illness with which she had suffered since last fall. She has no immediate relatives here although her husband's mother, Mrs. J. J. Krats, and a brother of his live in Salem.

SAY FISH PLANTED IN CLOSED STREAM

PORTLAND, Ore., May 31.—(AP)—Forget about the "poor fish" and consider the "poor anglers." The state fish department has been stocking Lake Oswego with fish, only to learn that anglers were being charged for the privilege of reaching its shores. Investigation will precede any future fish plantings.

Said Matt Ryckman, state superintendent of fish hatcheries: "Land around the lake shore, I am told, is owned by a large estate and by many smaller land holders and the public is shut out from the lake except on permission of these owners, some of whom make charges for the use of their roadways to the water." Ryckman announced that Blue lake has just been stocked with 90,000 Loch Leven trout. For several years the state game commission has refused to plant fish there because the lake was inaccessible to the public.

Arrangement for licensed fishermen to use a road leading to the lake was arranged recently by the Multnomah Anglers and Hunters club.

MAY LIKE SUMMER IN WEATHER TREND

Rather than springlike, much of May resembled the early summer in its weather. Its mean maximum temperature was 71.8 degrees and its warmest days, May 13 and 22, sent the mercury to the 86 mark, the weather observer at the airport reported last night.

The month's minimum temperatures averaged nearly 13 degrees on May 20 when a killing frost was recorded.

Although there were 18 cloudy and five part cloudy days during the month, rainfall fell short of the mean average for the month by 1.11 inches. Total precipitation for the month was 1.37 inches. One local thunderstorm occurred during the month.

WILLIAMS SAYS HE DOESN'T WANT JOB

PORTLAND, Ore., May 31.—(AP)—Ralph E. Williams, for 12 years vice-chairman of the republican national committee, left tonight for the national gathering at Chicago June 5 with the announcement he is not a candidate for the permanent or acting chairmanship.

Everett Sanders of Indiana recently resigned as chairman of the party's national committee.

"I am not a candidate for the permanent or acting chairmanship nor could I serve if elected," said Williams who among many others has been suggested as a possible choice.

"No doubt the committee will elect a permanent chairman who will be perfectly satisfactory to all factions of the republican party and will be able to bring about absolute harmony and closer cooperation."

Williams predicted that no senator or representative would be the choice of the national committee for chairman.

The Oregon committeeman added that he will not be a candidate for reelection when his term expires at the next republican national convention. During 28 years as a committeeman Williams has attended every meeting of the national committee.

SEA LOCKS ARGUED AT DALLES HEARING

THE DALLES, Ore., May 31.—(AP)—Sea locks at Bonneville dam of the Columbia river would permit saving of several millions of dollars annually on wheat and fruit freight rates, Edward M. Cousins, Portland freight rate adjuster, testified before the board of army engineers here today.

Colonel William J. Bardin expressed wonder when Cousins declared installation of the locks to permit ocean-going vessels to reach The Dalles would give that city a 24 per cent differential over Portland in grain rates.

"It'll give odds on that," Cousins confidently asserted.

Under brisk cross questioning Cousins declared the "saving" substantially would be the rail rate from The Dalles to Portland.

Savings on wheat transportation charges alone would amount to $2,000,000 annually, with $3,765,000 saved annually on major items including grain, fruits, wool and potatoes.

A report that the river would be unnavigable for ocean-going vessels at least 107 days a year was given by Major C. F. Williams, district army engineer of Portland.

COUNTY NAMES FAIR BOARD, RACE MONEY

A fair board for Marion county was named yesterday by the county court, not with the idea of holding a fair for this county but to set up a representative body to receive Marion county's share of the net receipts from Portland dog racing. Had such a board existed last year, Marion county would have received $300.

The returns to be received this year may go, in part, to pay the cost of an Oregon exhibit at the Chicago world's fair. Some of the moneys may be used for the county's exhibit at the state fair this fall.

On the board, the court named: N. A. Geer, three-year term, representing the grange; Roy J. Rice, two-year term, representing the federated community clubs; J. R. Carruthers, one-year term, representing the farmers union.

Announcement was made yesterday of the offering of a cash prize to the person suggesting the best name for the new establishment, which will sell groceries, confections and drinks. The contest closes Sunday.
