Blair Stewart Scores in Opera Debut

Blair Stewart, former Salem resident and well-known radio tenor, made a distinct hit at his first appearance in opera May 29 in Columbus, O. He sang the role of Manrico in the Cliv Opera company's presentation of "Il Trovatore." Stewart is the son of Mrs. James Stewart of Salem.

Reviews of the performance stated in part:

"In their new tenor, Blair Stewart, who sang Manrico, the organization seems to have discovered a voice of real operatic quality, smoothly and easily used. His stage presence, moreover is natural and unaffected."

"A new star in the local opera firmament was Blair Stewart, whose Manrico was one of the most professional efforts of the entertainment. His scenes with Madame Wittkowsky were particularly successful."

"The distinct surprise came in the work of Blair Stewart, who portrayed the role of Manrico. Making his debut before Columbus audiences, Stewart, who has been employed by one of the local radio stations for several years, uncovered a tenor voice of rare quality and amazing power."

"His dramatic dialog with Madame Wittkowsky in the second act was perhaps the best point of his performance, and in the scene between Manrico and Leonora in the moon-lit garden his contribution to the duet was beautifully sung."

Kingwood. — Matrons of the Laurel Social Hour club spent a pleasant social afternoon Tuesday at the Warren B. Baker home with Mrs. Albert Beckman of Woodburn as hostess. A special guest was Mrs. Jack Frost.
