Fire Breaks Out in Threshing at Peterson Ranch

OAK POINT, July 20.—While threshing on the G. A. Peterson, Sr., place Friday morning, fire broke out in the straw on the south side of the straw stack, and by quick work of the threshing crew the fire was pulled away to safety.

Mr. Peterson had left his plow in the field when he finished plowing this spring so the tractor was quickly hooked to it and furrows were plowed around the stack and between the sack pile so the grain was all saved.

Neighbors from all around arrived as soon as they saw the flames with sacks and cans of water, but the fire was soon under control.

NEY'S SQUAD GETS BEST TENT RATING

Mustache Race Develops at Y Camp, With Moore Topping List

By BERTIE GLAISYER
Y. M. C. A. CAMP, Oceanside, July 20.—Wednesday morning's activity began at 6:30. After the morning bath in the creek, the boys attended chapel led by "Mac" McCallum. After camp duties 45 minutes were spent in cleaning up the tents for inspection. Camp inspection was won by Luman Ney's squad No. 3. His squad was well organized and the tents were the best so far this year.

A morning swim and lunch followed inspection. After dinner a one hour rest period was recognized, to get ready for a hike to Oceanside. On arriving at Oceanside, the boys organized two teams for games.

On returning to camp the boys engaged in recreation and a swim before dinner. Just before dinner, Gus Moore arranged a playoff for a championship singles and doubles in horseshoes and tether ball. The playoff is to take place today. After the evening games, a campfire was held, in charge of "Mac." Several feature numbers were contributed by the boys including a

Marie Gives Police Force Battle Royal

SILVERTON, July 20.—(Special)—Marie Dudgeer, Silvertown's cigar-smoking femme who broke into print on arrest a few weeks ago, is at it again. It took about every law officer in town to arrest her this afternoon, and created such a sensation downtown as hasn't been created in ages.

Chief Arthur Dahl got his hand bitten, too, for his efforts to preserve law and order. That was when Marie started swearing and cursing so heavily that Dahl tried to shut her up in deference to other women about. He put his hand over her mouth, and Marie bit hard.

Marie was arrested this time for creating a racket in the Water street market, of which Mayor Carver is one of the owners. Officers were called, but Marie got wise and dashed through the store and out the back door into the alley, kicking and fighting off the chief of police and Constable S. A. Pitney.

Out into the street, officers attempted to get her in a car which Jasper Dullum, mail carrier had at hand. Again the woman balked, flopping herself flat down on the street, kicking and battling like a mad woman. Eventually, the show came to an end for Marie, still scrapping, was hauled into jail.

The subdued woman was still a quandy, however, for police were up in the air on what to do with her without a police matron. It was impossible to take her before a judge immediately, as Justice of the Peace
