Telephone Hearing Ends—The final order in the case involving the rates, charges and practices of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, will be written prior to December 1, Charles M. Thomas, state utility commissioner, announced upon his return from Portland Monday. The last hearing in the case was concluded in Portland last week when testimony was taken in connection with property valuations and managerial phases of the company's operations. Thomas brought home with him two automobile loads of records and exhibits. The investigation of the telephone company has been in progress for more than two years.

Ballot Title Ready—Attorney-General Van Winkle Monday completed the ballot title for the proposed constitutional amendment exempting tax assessments on homesteads which are actually occupied by their owners in the amount of $5000, based on their true cash value. In case sufficient signatures are received the proposed amendment will go before the voters at the general election in 1936. The amendment was sponsored by the Home Owners and Tax Reduction League.

Building Permits—The Pacific States Security company received a permit from the city engineer yesterday to re-roof a building at 3955 S. 12th street. Cost will be $300. Other permits issued yesterday were: E. A. Nichols to alter a dwelling at 2309 Mill; Etta M. Eyre to erect a garage at 670 North 17th street; W. H. Burghardt to repair a dwelling at 627 North Winter street; Peter Anderson to re-roof a building at 2770 Simpson street; Walker McKinney to re-roof a dwelling at 774 Trade street.

Divorce Granted—Judge George Bagley has granted a divorce to Mrs. Arlie G. Walker of McMinnville, wife of Judge Walker of the 12th judicial district. A property settlement had been made prior to the filing of the suit. Charges were cruel and inhuman treatment arising from incompatibility between the parties. Both Judge and Mrs. Walker, formerly Miss Marguerite Whyte, were graduates of Willamette university, class of 1918.

Board Doesn't Meet—The regular meeting of the state board of control scheduled for Monday was cancelled due to the absence of Governor Meier who is at Gearhart, and P. J. Stadelman, secretary of state, who is at The Dalles. Governor Meier probably will not return to his desk here until late next week.

MAYOR REPORTS ON RECENT TRIP EAST

Crops Not Bad Everywhere, But Terrible in Dakota Regions Says McKay

With an "It's great to be back in the Willamette valley", Mayor Douglas McKay Monday dug into the piles of official and personal business that had stacked up during his 15-day motor trip with his family to Chicago and the World's fair.

The jaunt was purely vacation, no business mixed in, said the mayor. Ten days were spent speeding across the middle west and back, five days straight at the big exposition, which he found in his opinion to be "worth while", "wonderful" and "educational", in spite of the intense heat, and reports of crop conditions.

Hiszoner also reported crop conditions in some sections not at all bad, notably in eastern Nebraska, parts of Iowa and Illinois. But taking a side trip from the Lincoln highway to Bloomfield, northwestern Nebraska, Mrs. McKay's birthplace, he gleaned some idea of the severity of the much-talked-of drought. Farmers there had had just one and one-half crops in the last five years, he was told. It was Mrs. McKay's first return visit to Bloomfield in 26 years.

The mayor talked as though he was almost homesick all the way from Idaho to Chicago. For, he reported, not a single Oregon automobile was seen in all that distance.

"That many farmers in the Dakotas are deserting their lands and looking for Oregon's fertile soils was noted along the main highway."

"There were a lot of cars from the Dakotas headed westward," McKay stated. "And whenever you saw a car with a lot of baggage and several children in the front row, it was from one of those states."

"I didn't do a lot of handshaking or talking with officials," he replied when asked about financial conditions and sentiment eastward. "The people seem to feel about the same as we do here. They are more optimistic about the future and a lot less worried than in 1930, the last time I was in Chicago."

Being in the automobile business, McKay particularly observed traffic conditions in Chicago, "terrible."

"They drive like mad, weave in and out. But they pay attention to the traffic lights; the pedestrians don't. The police, trying to educate the public, are using a loudspeaker car to call out to motorists doing the wrong thing. Signs are posted along Michigan avenue saying, '904 auto deaths last year, 546 to date this year. Drive carefully.'"

The McKays crossed a state a day going and coming. In the party in addition to Douglas Jr. and Shirley were Mr. McKay's mother, Mrs. J. W. Frater, of Portland.

SCHOOL COST NEAR MILLION AND HALF

Disbursements in Marion county for school purposes over the year have been $1,497,977.36, according to a report filed with County Superintendent Fulkerson by J. H. Roland and L. S. Covert, who have been auditing the books of the school districts of the county. The audit includes the period up to and including June 18.

There was a balance on hand in cash in the hands of the school districts June 20, 1933 of $41,633.78, the report shows. The year's receipts totaled $1,085,839.17 with warrants unpaid for lack of funds adding up to $374,777.29 or a total of $1,600,330.24. The cash balance at the end of the period was shown to be $94,302.88 and the warrants still outstanding at that time $110,145.26. Other indebtedness totalled $126,592.64. Total bonded indebtedness was $194,900.

The Salem school district had a cash balance on hand at the end of the school year in 1933 of $68,65. Receipts totaled $586,740.23; warrants not paid for lack of funds totaled $290,564.69, and the total was placed at $377,373.57.

Total expenditures for the Salem district were $373,650.35 and a cash balance of $3,723.22 on June 18 is shown. Salem school district bonds totaled $65,000 and outstanding warrants at the close of the period had been decreased to $25,332.66. Other indebtedness, including one year notes, amounted at that time to $95,500.

Spaulding Pulp Mill at Forest Grove Reopens

The Spaulding Pulp and Paper company plant in Forest Grove has begun operations again after an enforced lay-off of almost two months, reports from there state. As a result 125 to 130 men will be re-employed. The mill was tied up by the longshore strike as most of the product is shipped to the Orient.

Four shifts are being maintained and will continue in steady operation if shipping conditions permit. As soon as the supply of pulp wood on hand is used additional employment will be provided for truckers and wood workers over a wide area to supply the big plant.

...So you, too, discovered CONTROLLED POWER

RED LION HAS THE CONTROLLED POWER SECRET OF GUNS!

LT. PAUL J. ROBERTS
160th Infantry, C.N.G., tells Mauri Rose how Controlled Power helped him win 12 famous marksmanship prizes. These included the Wimbledon and Leech awards... America's premier rifle trophies.

MAURI ROSE
tells how he discovered Controlled Power in the Indianapolis 500-mile race this year. He used Gilmore gasoline with tetraethyl and was one of the trio of drivers using Gilmore to capture three of the first four places.

Says Lieut. Roberts: "Winners of the Wimbledon Trophy have consistently made better scores since it was first presented by Princess Louise of England in 1874. Why? Because science has developed the Controlled Power principle in guns... finding a way to make powder burn more slowly. The action of smokeless powder in a rifle and Red Lion gasoline in a motor is just the same. In neither case is there a sharp explosion. Instead there's a slower, more progressive burning... which creates a tremendous, controlled driving force."

Says Mauri Rose: "When you have a gasoline like Red Lion... which doesn't waste power... but controls it on the piston head for the full stroke... you get greater speed. And greater mileage, too... something that's just as important to race drivers as to motorists these days."

Yes! You, too, can discover Controlled Power. Get it today with new Red Lion... and you'll have a smooth, quiet, cool... more powerful motor!
