First Concert Stated on Nov. 5

CAESAR FRANCK'S D Minor symphony, the musical masterpiece which last spring was revealed as an outstanding favorite among Portland music-lovers, will be the principal work on the Portland symphony orchestra's program, to be given in the public auditorium Monday night, November 5.

Willem van Hoogstraten, leader, has taken particular pains to make the opening program an attractive one. Coupled with the Franck symphony will be the D Minor suite of Ernst von Dohnanyi, the eminent Hungarian contemporary—a work which is said to be distinguished by some amazing orchestral effects and which at the same time retains the pleasant melodic patterns at one time employed so freely by such masters as Schubert. The overture to Weber's "Der Freischuetz" will complete the program.

Season tickets for both series of symphony concerts—8 Monday night and 6 Sunday afternoon events—are now being delivered at the box office in the J. K. Gill store. The first Sunday concert is billed for November 11, when a special Armistice Day program will be given.

Kayla Mitzel Receives High Praise

When Leopold Auer in 1929, wrote above his one signature that Kayla Mitzel "should be one of the great of all time," and also that "There is no limit to what she can do," it was more than an idle boast. For the teacher who presented Elman, Heifetz, Zimbalist and Cecelia Hansen to the musical world, knew what he was talking about.

Consequently, when Kayla Mitzel plays here on November 5 music lovers of this city may expect to hear a violinist who can hold her own in any galaxy of stars of the bow. Her personal charm, beauty and superb musicianship complement her technical prowess. On her young shoulders seems to have fallen the mantle that was Maud Powell's.

The MacDowell club is sponsoring Miss Mitzel's appearance and tickets may be procured from any of the members.

Satisfaction of Alienation Case Judgment Filed

Final satisfaction of judgment was reported at the county court house yesterday in the case of Robert R. Laughlin against Perry Walbridge.

The satisfaction as signed by Robert R. Laughlin and his attorneys, Vinton & Marsh of Minnville, implied that the $15,000 judgment returned against Walbridge by the court had been settled for $1 and other valuable consideration.

The case concerned a charge of alienation of affections filed against Walbridge by Laughlin. Mrs. Laughlin testified at the trial in behalf of her husband. The suit was concluded April 19 of this year.

MISS Frances Alice Kells was the inspiration for a jolly birthday party Friday after school at the Y. M. C. A. Forty young friends were invited.

Games were played and a swim in the tank preceded a 7 o'clock supper in the den served by Mrs. C. A. Kells and Mrs. Blanche Allen. Miss Marjorie Tryon and Miss Mary Elizabeth Kells led the games and decorated the dining tables which bloomed with colored ribbons and bright autumn flowers.

Guests invited to fete Miss Frances Alice Kells were the Misses Betty Simmons, Sybil Spears, Doris Harrington, Florence Upjohn, Bertha Klorfene, Marylee Fry, Jean Adams, Patsy Livesley, Jean Moore, Marjorie Greenwood, Elisea Blundell, Jean Carlin, Carmon Jean Vehrs, Betty Anusson, Betty Eyerely, Marjorie Barrett, Rowena Upjohn, Marjorie McCallister, Ellen Lester, Clara Marshall, Helen Smith, Pauline Zoe Chambers, Margaret Birtcher, Barbara Birtcher, Mary Alice Cottew, Gloria Sotew, Leon Spaulding, Susanne Schramm, Jan Simmons, Jere Simmons, June Moore, Lorraine King, Mary Prime, Mary Laughlin, Patsy Higgins, Josephine Moore, Marjorie Ann Johnson, Margie McDowell, Barbara Crain, Jean Adams and Virginia Steed.

Present to congratulate Miss Lippold were Miss Frances Gyle, Miss Margaret Cary, Miss Velma Wagner, Miss Guinevere Wood, Mrs. Paul Lippold, Mrs. Roland Campbell, Mrs. Willy Pearcey, Mrs. Lawrence Reason and Mrs. William Judson.

ALBERTS HAVE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Jorgensen and daughters, Sally and Grace, of Portland, were luncheon guests at the J. H. Albert home Saturday. They have just returned from a five months' motor trip abroad, having sailed from New York, toured Europe and returned through the Panama Canal to San Francisco.

Honolulu is their first stop, where they will spend a day visiting with friends. In Japan Miss Lord and Miss Schryver will journey inland and meet their boat again at Kobe.

Hongkong and Shanghai will be visited briefly in China and the voyagers will continue on to Manila. There they will spend the winter with Miss Lord's brother, Montague Lord, who is connected with the Hawaiian Sugar company.

In March, accompanied by Mr. Lord, the travelers will embark on a leisurely tour of the Ankor ruins in Indo-China, of Java, Bali and other southern Asiatic points.

The party will return home by way of Europe and the Atlantic, reaching Salem in June, 1935.

Miss Lord and Miss Schryver have been extensively feted previous to their departure. Mrs. B. O. Schucking opened her attractive home at Eola Acres Saturday afternoon for an informal luncheon.

Covers were laid for 24 at three tables. One was decorated entirely in white with cosmos and chrysanthemums, another in autumn shades of yellow and bronze and the third in orchid and green.
