OUTLINE GIVEN OF ALL FORGING BIDS

Opening Two-Bid and Jump Takeout Simplest of Eight Situations

(Editor's Note—The eight forging bids in contract bridge are outlined and explained by Mrs. W. H. Quinn, Culbertson expert, who is directing the Statesman bridge tournament, in the following article.)

The following bids must be kept open until a game contract is reached. You have no choice in the matter. Your partner has demanded and you must respond.

1. Opening two bid in a suit over the one bid. This hand guarantees according to the number of honors or tricks and distribution, 4-7-6-3 to 4 honors and 15-20-25-30 points.

2. Forcing takeout. Bid of one more than necessary in a new suit when partner opens the bidding—3 to 3 1/2 honor tricks required.

3. Jump re-bid in a new suit. A bid made by original bidder in response to partner's bid. Requires at least four honor tricks.

4. Immediate overcall in opponent's suit. Guarantees a hand practically as strong as the opening two bid, also promises not more than one loser in the opponent's suit bid.

5. Inferential force. Whenever the player responds with two no-trump (either at once or by degree) and his partner reopens the bidding.

6. Inferential force. Whenever the player raises any bid of partner's (either a simple or multiple raise) and his partner reopens the bidding with a new suit.

7. No-trump overcall over an advance pre-emptive bid. This bid is made on freakish hands, usually strong two-suitors.

8. Four-five no trump. Its purpose of course is to show aces and certain kings.

(a) A four no-trump bid (provided the bidder has opened the bidding) shows either of the following: 1. Three aces; or 2. two aces and the king of any suit previously bid by either partner.

The hand must contain sufficient strength to guarantee a contract of five odd in some previous bid suit.

(b) Five no-trump preceded by a four no-trump bid by the same player shows all four aces.

A five no-trump bid directly shows three aces and a king of a suit previously bid by the partner.

FOUR HITCH-HIKING LADS HALTED HERE

Four California-bound Portland lads found their freight or hitch-hiking journey abruptly halted in Salem early last night. Instead of a visit to the land of EPIIC they faced being returned to the Rose City.

Three of the quartet were wanted in Portland as runaways and all were being held by city police here until today, on radioed instructions from the Portland police department.

Rounded up near the Southern Pacific station, the four were taken to police headquarters where they admitted having sold their bicycles, which they had ridden here from Portland, to Arthur H. Moore, local bicycle dealer. Police were led to check with Portland officers when it was discovered two of the boys had given Moore names different from those told to police.

The four were Albert Muscalo, 17; Chester Duscheck, 16, and Kenneth Aho, 15, all of whom were reported as runaways, and William Powell, 15.

FOUR DECREES OF DIVORCE GRANTED

The court granted matrimonial freedom to Nora L. Mauk from Calure E. Mauk and in the decree it was provided that Mauk pay his former wife $10 a month to support their child.

VALU OF SERVICE CLUB IS STRESSED

Value to members of a service club, as distinguished from a luncheon club, were sketched by Dr. Bruce Baxter, president of Willamette, in a short address yesterday noon before the Kiwanis club. Baxter's talk and a musical program were broadcast by remote control over the local radio station.

On the musical program were songs by the Willamette university mixed quartet, solo by Prof. Cameron Marshall of Willamette, and accordion solo by Frank Viassie. In the quartet were Katherine Smullin, Harriet Adams, Richard Smart and Earl Potter, with Clara Wright, accompanist.

Dr. Baxter told Kiwanians he doesn't believe service clubs can save a man's soul, but "they can have something to do with making a man's soul worth saving." Service clubs give to the members fellowship, friendship, recognition, relaxation, information and inspiration, in addition to the community relationship and contributions, he said.

The Willamette president repeated figures compiled by Dean Frank Erickson of the university, showing that Willamette faculty and students spent about $210,000 per year in Salem. The faculty and administrative group number 50 and students 577. Payroll of the university per year is $90,000, fuel and printing, $20,000, and room, board and clothing, $10,000. Virtually the entire amount is spent in Salem, Dr. Baxter stated.
