BURK GIVES ADVICE TO COUNTY PUPILS

Set of Safety Instructions Printed by Sheriff and Sent to All Schools

Another angle to the Marion county campaign against reckless driving has been instituted by one man, Sheriff A. C. Burk. Burk has taken it upon himself to have printed and to send to school children over the county, outside of Salem, a card bearing the admonition to "Save a life a day" and the pointers on being "careful every day."

"I've noticed so many newspaper stories of children being killed and injured in automobile accidents—that's why I thought I'd just like to carry a personal appeal to every boy and girl in the county to ask cooperation to make the highways safe," Burk says.

He expects to present his idea to the Salem school officials today for a possible tie-in with the instruction which the Salem schools are going to give on auto driving.

Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson, county school superintendent, has added the sheriff by carrying the cards to many rural schools in the county.

Burk's admonitions to the children include these points:

1. Don't ever ride with strangers.
2. Always walk on the left hand side of the road, and get clear off the road when you meet an automobile.
3. Don't ever cross a road or highway until you are sure there are no cars coming from either direction.
4. Don't attempt to cross an intersection until you are certain that there is plenty of time.
5. If you see an accident, go for help quickly.
6. Keep clear of the wreck. Let grown people give aid to the injured.

"The results were so satisfactory," states A. S. Edmonds, assistant traffic manager, "that the system seems it justifiable to now air condition all coaches, chair cars and tourist and standard sleepers on these trains.
