the need for some means of stabilizing and increasing hop prices by showing that there was a prospective 105,000 bale carryover of hops at the close of this year compared to a 47,200 bale carryover a year ago. While domestic consumption of hops has increased considerably the last two years, vastly increased domestic production and larger foreign importations have more than offset the gain in consumers' use he said. Needham illustrated his remarks by charts posted in the meeting room. He showed that hop prices in the 1902-1934 period had been under cost of production 20 per cent more of the time than they had exceeded cost of production. His charts also illustrated the organization for the proposed marketing agreement.

Downy Mildew Still Menace to Production

Hop growers were told that downy mildew continues to be a major menace to profitable production in a talk given by G. R. Hoerner, in charge of field control measures at Oregon State college. He told of a project experiment in controlling and obliterating downy mildew being carried on with the cooperation of the state experiment station. Hoerner reported that all hop growing districts in Oregon had been affected, that downy mildew was especially bad in southwestern Washington and that the disease had advanced for the first time this year in Pomona, Mendocino and Lake counties in California.

Plans for a hop cost-of-production study are part of a coordinated hop research program under way by the farm management department at Oregon State college. H. E. Selby, instructor in that department, told the hop men. Detailed information on cost of production is to be obtained from 50 representative growers with the view to determining costs under varying conditions of production. Methods of decreasing production costs will be studied.

Improved Varieties, Methods Discussed

Improvements in varieties of hops were discussed in the story afternoon session by Professor D. C. Smith of Oregon State college. Professor F. E. Price of the state college discussed new drying methods and gave a summary of his observations this summer in the improved methods used by many growers in providing a forced draft in dryers.

Dean H. Walker of Independence urged more hop growers to join the state association, said its first year of organization had proved its value and urged the appointment of a committee to bring the by-laws of the organization into better form.

Other winners in the hop contest announced at the banquet last night were:

Fuggles: Second place: Paul Singer, Donald; third place: Collins & Collins, Independence.

Early clusters: Second place: Linn and Linn, Albany; third place: W. B. Magnus, Salem.

Late clusters: Second place: William Middleton, Rickreall; third place: Linn & Linn, Albany.

Judges for the annual hop contest were John Roberts, Salem; H. F. Franklin, Portland; Harvey Hinkle, Salem.

Ray Glatt acted as toastmaster at the banquet. Dean W. A. Schoenfeldt of Oregon State college spoke informally of his experience while abroad as head of a commission appointed by the late Henry Wallace, father of the present secretary of agriculture. Much-enjoyed musical numbers were provided by the Norwegian men's chorus from Mt. Angel and by the local Haywire quartet.

Dancing followed the conclusion of the banquet.

School District Catching Up on Warrant Issues

Salem school district is now scarcely nine weeks behind in cashing its warrants whereas in 1933 and 1932 it often was nine months or more in arrears. Receipt last week of $16,124.85 from the elementary school fund enabled School Clerk W. H. Burghardt to call in for redemption approximately that amount in warrants, reducing the district's warrant debt to around $73,000. Warrants called were numbers 9647 to 9835 inclusive.

The district's oldest unpaid warrant now is dated October 4, 1934.

VOTE ON BASEMENT AT BETHEL SCHOOL

BETHEL, Dec. 8.—A largely attended meeting of the taxpayers of Bethel school district was held at the school last night to consider putting a basement under the schoolhouse. A provisional gift of $300 cash from the Bethel Dorcas club and the opportunity to avail themselves of free labor furnished under the SERA prompted the group to favor the plan.

The board of directors was authorized to hire an architect to draw plans and to call a meeting to be held in about three weeks to vote on the question of authorizing the board to incur indebtedness not to exceed $1500 for the purpose of putting a basement under the schoolhouse and installing all equipment, automatic water system, drinking fountain, range boiler and toilets.

Prompt action on Mr. Wolk's part saved the car. Neighbors assisted in putting out the fire. Some of the battery cells were broken when water was thrown on the roof to prevent the fire spreading.

"My country was the first to affirm that the principle of the treaties must be adapted to modern conditions as the best means of conserving peace," Aloi said, "but has always insisted that adaptation must follow legal channels."

While praising Hungary's honor and "loyalty" and the "proud manner" in which she had repudiated Yugoslav accusations of her complicity, Aloi in his address took no side in the dispute, declaring the league must strive to pacify the disputants.

Free Telephones Will Be No More

Forty downtown telephone users who are allowing the general public to use the telephones for convenience calls, are being notified this month that the practice must be discontinued under prevailing tariffs approved by the public utilities commissioner.

Most of the telephones thus used will be relocated in the business establishment so only regular employees of the firm may use them. In place of the present telephones, the company will install slot machines where the user pays five cents for each local call. The firm where the pay telephones are established will receive a commission on the number of calls placed.

MAY SHIP OREGON WHEAT EASTWARD

ARLINGTON, Ore., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Surplus wheat of the Pacific northwest will be moved to the mid-west drought areas if the price structure becomes endangered, members of the Eastern Oregon Wheat league were assured at their annual session which ended here late today.

George E. Farrell, chief of the wheat section of the agricultural adjustment administration, said that if prices of this section become demoralized, the AAA stands ready to assist financing a very feasible movement of wheat into the drought area provided suitable rail rates could be obtained.

Otherwise some of the surplus might be moved by water to Atlantic and gulf points, he said.

In his address he made no reference to revival next year of the Emergency Export association.

At the late business session today Mac Hoke of Pendleton was elected president of the Eastern Oregon Wheat league, and Pendleton was expected to be the meeting place next year. E. H. Miller of Heppner was named vice-president, and Charles Smith of Oregon City was re-elected secretary-treasurer.
