LIONS' PLAY FUND TO BE WELL USED

To Help Blind; Comedy "The Blue Bag" Is Offered Tonight at S.H.S.

One of the projects that will probably receive immediate attention of the director of the charity fund of the Salem Lions club, which organization is sponsoring the Chemeketa Players, Inc., production of "The Blue Bag," farce-comedy by J. M. McMillen, Friday night, March 1, in the auditorium of the Salem high school, is the purchase of a combination radio and phonograph for the blind.

The charity fund director has done considerable work in the interest of the blind and the purchase of such an instrument is believed to be of unquestioned merit. There is one in use in the Oregon state school for the blind here in Salem, but the club desires to acquire one that can be sent out of town. For instruments such as this, the government sends out records.

Not only do the Salem Lions assist the underprivileged and handicapped young persons of this district by providing glasses, tonsil operations, and other medical help, but the organization looks after from 18 to 20 deserving youths at Christmas time. Last Christmas about 20 were feted at a big dinner at the Marion hotel, and then some were outfitted with necessary clothing. For patients who cannot afford a wheel chair, the organization has one it loans out.

Dress rehearsals were held Wednesday and Thursday night by Miss Beulah Graham, director of the laugh-provoking comedy, and it is believed that the production tonight will thoroughly please and afford many hearty laughs.

Featured between the acts will be the Dallas string quintet, Harold G. Tefft, director and manager. The personnel of this group of musicians is as follows: Violin A. Dorothy Palmer; violin B. Margaret Riggs; second violin, Margaret Leighton; Cello, Edris Green; piano, Joe Hartley.

Roswell Wright, member of Chemeketa Players, Inc., group, and a well-known singer, will also sing between the acts.

Many tickets have been reserved at Woodport & Legg's drug store. Reservations can be made today until late this afternoon.

Treat Constipation THE WAY THAT DOCTORS DO

Doctors and hospitals have always used liquid laxatives. So would you, if you knew how well they do their work—how much better you feel.

A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly without any help.

Once you have experienced this comfort, you will never return to any form of help that does not encourage variation from the "fixed dose"—too often an overdose for sensitive persons, or young people! The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Its action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset. It's the ideal family laxative because it's a doctor's prescription, and safe.

Try Syrup Pepsin. Give regulated doses until Nature restores regularity. Those who have made the "liquid test" know why a doctor favors a liquid laxative.
