JAPANESE YOUTHS' MEETING ON TODAY

Sectional Conference Opens at Jason Lee Church; Baxter to Speak

The third Oregon sectional Japanese young people's Christian conference will convene at the Jason Lee church this afternoon at 1:45 o'clock, to continue through Sunday afternoon. Registration will open at 12:30 o'clock this noon, with Kimi Yada in charge. Dr. Bruce Baxter of Willamette will give the main address this afternoon.

The conference banquet will be held tonight at 6 o'clock, with Taul Watanabe toastmaster, Arthur Sasaki of Seattle, song leader. The invocation will be given by Rev. I. Inoue of Hood River and musical numbers will include the Hood River orchestra, vocal solo by George Cannady and special number by Ray Hiroshige of Eugene. Greetings will be brought by Mayor Kuhn of Salem, Dr. Grover C. Birtchet of the Presbyterian church, Rev. H. G. Humphrey of Jason Lee, Mrs. Fred Tooze of the Salem council of church women; Dr. F. H. Smith, Japanese Pacific missions superintendent; H. Hashimoto, Salem Japanese union church; W. Takahashi and J. Nakagawa, both of Seattle.

Proceeding the opening service, a leaders' prayer circle will be held at 1 o'clock and organ meditations at 1:30 o'clock with Louise Anderson, organist.

Besides Dr. Baxter's address, the 1:45 o'clock service today will include organ prelude; greetings by Hoshie Watanabe; invocation by H. Hosklotom; scripture, Jessie Fukuda; violin solo, Georgia Harrington; and hymns. Following this hour, discussion groups will be led by Prof. Herman Clark, Rev. Paul Petticord, Dr. J. E. Milligan and Rev. J. H. McDonald, all of Salem churches.

Dr. Birtchet will give the address at tonight's service at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Humphrey the benediction and musical numbers will be: trumpet solo, Oliver Glenn; organ prelude and postlude, Marlon Bowers.

A Sunday morning devotions service will be held at Belcrest memorial park at 9 o'clock with Mrs. Tooze leading the worship "Courage for the Quest." At 11 o'clock, a Sunday worship at Jason Lee will include a sermon by Rev. Humphrey, pastor, and solo by Chiyu Muraska, Portland.

Sunday luncheon will be served at the Jason Lee church parlors and the closing service will open at 2:15 o'clock.

Chickenpox Steals Up on Student to Wreck 6-Year Mark

WOODBURN, March 8.—Mary Jane Dunn, oldest daughter of Supt. and Mrs. B. W. Dunn, who is a seventh grade student, was much vexed when after six and one-half years of perfect school attendance, without being either absent or tardy, she contracted the chickenpox which suddenly ended her splendid record.

She had earned perfect attendance certificates for one year at Hazelton, Idaho, one at Corvallis, three at Shedd and one at Woodburn. She suggested avoiding catching the mumps from her sister Donna earlier in the winter by isolating herself in a separate room, only to fall a victim to the chickenpox.

METHOD GIVEN FOR CANNING OF SMELT

The abundance and low cost of smelt to Salem housewives makes their preservation economical. Mrs. S. M. Laws of 1680 State, re-counting the Bureau of Entomology for this week her experience in canning smelt and they may be of assistance to other readers.

Cut off the tails and heads of the cleaned fish, salt them and add three tablespoons of hot sauce to each pint can. It takes about a pound of fish for one pint can. Cap them and process in a pressure cooker at 15 pounds for one hour or a little longer if you want the bones to be soft. Do not attempt to can smelt unless you have a pressure cooker as home-preserved fish that is prepared by other methods may be improperly cooked and prove poisonous.

Store the canned fish as you would any canned food and when ready to use remove the lid and allow it to air a bit before serving. With only 3 tablespoons of hot sauce used in the preserving process, the fish is not as flavorful as some like it, so a spicy sauce such as a thick cream sauce made with 1/2 or 1 level teaspoon curry powder is good with it. The bones may be removed if they are not soft before pouring the sauce over.

Canned smelt makes an excellent sandwich filler used just as it comes from the can. Incidentally, the curry powder, white sauce is fine with salmon or halibut.

ROAD ISSUES BRING CROWD INTO COURT

Ankeny Bottom Project Up on Damages Question; Requests Filed

An unusually large delegation for road day visited the county court yesterday to voice sentiments pro and con on the road petitioned for by F. O. Farr and others of the Ankeny Bottom district.

This petition was one of the several road matters continued by the court. The dispute in this proposed road, which would connect the Rosedale-Buena Vista and the Sidney-Independence roads, is over damages. E. B. Cochran has presented claim for $5000 damages, and Irene Sears, on the Palmer place, has asked $1250 damages. The court declared it could not pay these damages. The viewers' report suggested $460.80 damages for Cochran and made no mention of damages on the Palmer place, as no indication had been given that a claim would be filed.

The following petitions for county roads were continued because the petitioners had not completed proof of notice: Road above Scotts Mills petitioned for by Clyde McKillop and others to give outlet for a 11-acre tract of ranch and timber; road sought by Rudolph Butte and others near Brooks; road sought by Lewis Judson and others in south-Salem.

Some question has come up as to whether or not the petition for in South Salem is on a dedicated street as supposed. A 40-foot road cannot be established unless it is on a dedicated street within six miles of Salem.

The county court approved the viewers' report and ordered roads established in petitions filed by H. J. Johanesen and others for a road over two miles long to the Abiqua; and by Emil Zwickler and others for a stub road between Woodburn and Hubbard.

In the latter road, Zwickler and others paid $132 damages before the court would order establishment. The damages went $78 to L. A. West and $54 to W. L. Hrdlicka.

Surveys were ordered in the following: Road over a dedicated street in Loganville, near Woodburn, petitioned for by Henry Becker and others; short road near Turner off the Salem-Parish Gap road petitioned for by Fred D. Brown and others.

FACULTY ELECTED FOR ANOTHER YEAR

JEFFERSON, March 8.—At the meeting of the school board of Jefferson district No. 14, Thursday night, it was decided to retain all the school teachers for another year. Teachers in the high school are A. A. Haberly, principal; Josephine Getchell and Esther McMinimee, grade school, Cleon Caldwell, seventh and eighth; Ruth Clark, fifth and sixth; Mrs. Hannah Smith, third and fourth grades; Velma Pearson, primary. All teachers will return for their second year, except Cleon Caldwell, who will return for the third year. Caldwell is also boys' athletic coach. J. T. Jones, J. G. Fontaine, and Fred Wied are members of the school board.

J. H. Selpp and family moved to their new home, a 15-acre improved tract of P. N. Dornhecker place, near the airport northeast of Albany. While Selpp was taking a load of furniture there with his car and trailer, a car hit the trailer upsetting it and turning their car around. Their range was broken in three pieces beyond repair, and also damaged other articles in the trailer.

Dr. J. O. VanWinkle was also involved in an auto collision Wednesday night when a car bearing a Nebraska license plate, and driven by Clarence Minson of Brownsville, failed to stop at the intersection of the Greens bridge road and the Pacific highway, colliding with the doctor's car, one fender of which was bent and a wheel damaged. No one was injured.

Rev. and Mrs. Merila Hill are the parents of a four-pound daughter born Tuesday, March 5, at a hospital in Eugene. Rev. Hill is pastor of the local Christian church.

Groups at 'Green Postpone Meeting Until Next Week

HAZEL GREEN, March 8.—Because of the illness of Mr. Rutherford, the Otterbein guild will meet at Mrs. Looney's home Sunday afternoon, March 10.

The Nemo Sewing club postponed its meeting till March 13 because of the burial of A. J. Herndon of Middle Grove, who was formerly a resident of this district. Mr. Herndon was buried in the Murphy cemetery here. Mrs. Louis Wampler will be hostess to the sewing club.

Little Joanna Neton, who is seriously ill, has been taken to the Salem General hospital. It is now believed she is suffering from an infection of the ear instead of infantile paralysis as first reported. Joanna was being kept in quarantine until the nature of her ailment was determined.

LEADERS' TRAINING COURSE MARCH 20

Making preliminary arrangements for the boy scout camp leaders' training course, W. L. Hayward spent yesterday in Salem conferring with local scouting officials.

The training meet, executive Monroe stated, would be held Wednesday, March 20, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. at the Masonic temple. Hayward, who is deputy regional executive of the organization with headquarters in Spokane has been making the western states circuit for the past few weeks.

The meeting in Salem will be the only one of its kind in western Oregon and will include as participants, besides the Cascade area council, the Wallamet, Crater Lake and Portland councils. L. L. McDonald, national director of camping, headquarters in New York, will take charge of the session.

Monroe also announced that sponsorship of troop 28, Monmouth, had been transferred from the Lions club to the American Legion. The troop was organized seven years ago and is the chamber of commerce sponsoring for one year. The Lions then took over the responsibility and backed the troop for six years.

Not Guilty Plea Made by Strand

Entering a plea of not guilty and waiving preliminary hearing in justice court yesterday, Edwin Strand, trusty at the county jail, was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of aiding an escape from the jail.

Strand is being held for alleged participation in the jail break of Carl McKenny and Pat Cavin on the night of February 9.

CORN FROM SOUTH AMERICA RECEIVED

Unloading of a car of corn from the Argentine here yesterday brought to attention the fact that valley farmers have been buying corn from this South American country from at least some local places since the first of this year. The Argentine corn is being used in some of the mills here as well as sold out in the state received.

Local dealers who are handling this product are, of course, handling corn produced in this country also. The South American offering sells from $2 to $3 per ton lower than native-grown corn. Dealers here say the tidewater areas of the country are using Argentine corn in preference to eastern corn because it is cheaper, and that in the east the Argentine corn is being used in making whiskey.

The attorney general's office of Utah has ruled that state's anti-nepotism law does not forbid a public official's hiring a stepdaughter, but other relatives by marriage or adoption are barred.

CHARGE OF THREAT WILL BE DISMISSED

Charges of threatening to commit a felony lodged against Wayne Taylor by Nora Crosby of Woodburn will be dismissed here today, District Attorney Trindle indicated last night, because the complaining witness, pinned down yesterday, failed positively to identify Taylor as the man against whom she complained.

Taylor of La Grande and Arthur L. Johnston of Pendleton, charged with non-support, were brought here yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Newell Williams and Special Deputy B. G. Hooeycutt, who left Wednesday for the men.

Upon arrival here, Taylor told the officers and district attorney he had not been in Salem for five years, while the complaint against him cited an alleged incident occurring last year in the district attorney called in Nora Crosby, who said she knew Taylor but backed up on statement that he was the man who was in her Woodburn home at the time the complaint states. Taylor said he had known the woman and gone with her some prior to leaving here in 1930. The warrant was sworn out in Judge Overton's court at Woodburn.

The Johnston case will probably come before the court today or Monday.

Artis Gilde to Offer Program

A musical program including vocal, chimes and instrumental selections by Brown and Menely, traveling entertainers, will be the activity hour feature at Salem high school next Friday, March 15. The program is being sponsored by the school's Artis Gilde which will use proceeds for purchase of supplies.

Last semester the club successfully sponsored several benefit entertainments including a puppet show, vaudeville and variety programs.

Sunday Services are Slated at Prospect

PROSPECT, March 8.—Sunday services will be held at the Prospect school, four miles west of Liberty store on the Skyline road, by a gospel team from the Glad Tidings mission of Salem. Sunday school at 10 o'clock will be followed by morning church services. Special musical numbers will also be given.

Slot Machines Bill Fought by Church Women

By resolution the Salem Council of Church Women, Inc., placed itself on record at its meeting held in the First M. E. church of Salem Friday, as being irrevocably opposed to the passage of House Bill 268 pertaining to the licensing of slot machines in the state of Oregon and urged the defeat of this bill by the state senate.

The council further went on record by resolution commending C. A. Sprague, editor of The Oregon Statesman, for his stand against the enactment of the slot machine bill, House Bill 268, as indicated in his recent editorials, especially that one of March 8.

In addition, the council reaffirmed by resolution its stand on the verbal inspiration of God's word and the great doctrines recorded therein.

Half-Ton Blast Jars Territory Around Hubbard

The hills and valley north of Salem thundered furiously for a few seconds yesterday afternoon with a huge blast in the Hubbard-Woodburn area drainage ditch.

About 3000 people gathered to see the half-ton charge of powder noisily move between two and three thousand yards of dirt. The ditch when completed will be over 7000 feet long. The blast was perfectly placed to do the work, according to Resident Engineer Lowe, who went to the scene to oversee the job.
