

URGING PROTESTS NAVAL MANEUVERS

Handsaker of War Prevention Council Addresses Junior High

SILVERTON, March 12.—"Why should youth fight battles to settle old men's quarrels?" was the question J. J. Handsaker of Portland, associate secretary of the national council for prevention of war, asked as he addressed the students of the junior high school at Silverton Monday morning. He urged youth to study the problems of the day and the issues which are supposed to be at the bottom of wars. There is no issue between ourselves and any other nation which cannot be solved by an honest diplomacy, a resolute facing of the facts and a willingness to follow, even a little way, the law of love.

In speaking before a union meeting of Silverton churches Sunday night, at the Christian church Handsaker urged, "If you want to keep peace in the Pacific protest the naval maneuvers." "The greatest naval maneuvers in history are announced to be held in May and June farther east than we have ever held them before and in July Japan will hold her maneuvers at a point farther west than they have ever been held before," said Mr. Handsaker. "Peace forces of the country are protesting the maneuvers on the ground that they are unfortunate at this time. . . . We needlessly offended our friends in Japan and played into the hands of the militarists by the exclusion act. Fire-arms, like General William Mitchell, pleading for an air force sufficient to wipe out Japan in two days have been answered by Japan with a greatly increased air force. The naval maneuvers and our billion dollar naval building program are accepted by Japan as a challenge which must be met by them.

"Unless these policies are reversed we may find ourselves in a war which naval authorities estimate will last for five years, cost us forty billion dollars and plunge both countries into debt and revolution. "If," Handsaker urged, "you want to avoid such folly, ask the president to cancel the maneuvers in the interest of world peace and understanding work for the repeal of the exclusion act and protest the expansion of the navy."

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hagen were surprised Sunday when his nephew, Press Larson, arrived here from Reeset, Neb., for a short visit. He is favorably impressed with Oregon and says that due to poor crops the past two years and low prices, many in his section of the country want to come west. Feed has been so high there that farmers have disposed of their cattle, hogs and chickens. The past year the farmers even put up Canada thistles as feed for their stock.

Barriers Tightened by Immigration Officials

Economic conditions abroad have stirred a new wave of migration among foreigners throughout the world. Most of those who seek entry to United States are barred because their quota is filled. Others are unable to meet the strict financial requirements. As a result, a greater number of aliens are attempting to make illegal entry each year. In 1934 more than 20,000 who were trying to smuggle themselves across the border were intercepted. Colonel D. W. MacCormack, chief of immigration bureau, estimated that 200,000 aliens are illegally in this country. More than 20,000 were deported last year. MacCormack urges changes in the immigration laws which will "humanize" them and also make possible deportation of additional "undesirables."

MILL REOPENING SAID RUMOR ONLY

SILVERTON, March 12.—"Nothing definite," was the report of H. A. Cowden, chairman of the bondholders of Fischer Flouring mills, when approached Tuesday on the rumor that the mill would soon be opened for business. "I wouldn't say there was no action," Mr. Cowden continued, "but that there is anything definitely arranged yet is just rumor. A couple of men have, I understand, reached some agreement with Fischer and are trying to promote something through a government loan. If this can be negotiated and the bondholders satisfied, the rumor may be substantiated, and we certainly hope it will." L. H. Fischer is the former owner and manager of the mill, and the rumor implies that should the government loan be negotiated, Mr. Fischer will return as manager of the mill. The mill was closed in July of 1932.

Advertisement for Chesterfield cigarettes. It features a photograph of a man in a suit and hat looking at a pack of Chesterfield cigarettes. The text reads: "Back of 40 million depositors there is over 20 billion dollars on deposit in the United States—a tremendous reserve for the future. ...and back of Chesterfield there is more than 85 million dollars invested in mild ripe tobacco... for milder better taste. Because you cannot make a good cigarette from just one year's crop there are today 4 1/2 miles of warehouses filled with cigarette tobaccos from the crops of 1931-32-33-34—most of it for Chesterfield cigarettes. Just as money accumulates interest, two and a half years of ageing makes these tobaccos milder and naturally sweeter. Think what this means—an eighty-five million dollar reason why men and women who smoke Chesterfields will always enjoy a milder, better-tasting cigarette. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO."
