ART AND ECONOMIC EFFECTS DISCUSSED

Eventual Escape of Artist From Bonds of Dictator Is Theme of Piers

That art cannot be captured by any one group of artists or made to conform to any particular movement was the highlight statement made Tuesday night in the auditorium of the Salem public library by Anton Piers, Portland artist, who gave a talk on the subject "The Effect of Economic Conditions on the Development of Art," under the auspices of the Salem Arts League.

No matter how kings or secular or religious rulers endeavored to force artists to work according to their orders, the artist eventually escaped to give to the world his individuality, Piers brought out with many significant illustrations. Yet, he pointed out how artists were forced to submit to the dictation of emperors and paint according to order or be eliminated.

It was an intensely interested audience that heard him trace the trends of art from a period beginning about the sixth century A. D. down through the various countries of Europe to the present day in the United States and Oregon. Special points were illustrated by specific pictures he had brought from Portland.

This was not a dry discussion of art but a live evaluation of economic forces that moulded human beings through the centuries and forced their art into various channels. His talk brought out the salient fact that eventually individuality triumphed.

A short business session preceded the program. Perry Reigelman, president of the arts league, presided.

Enter Decree—Final decree granting plaintiff absolute divorce, custody of their daughter and $15 monthly support money has been granted Gladys L. Knapp in her suit against Albur M. Knapp.

MARTIN-BOYINGTON BREACH IS HEALING

ASTORIA, Ore., March 12.—(P)—The breach between County Judge Guy Boyington and Governor Charles H. Martin appeared likely to be mended as Judge Boyington tonight held in abeyance his resignation from the governor's planning commission.

Boyington's re-consideration followed receipt of the governor's "humble apology" for what he described as the neglectful manner of announcement of changes on the state relief committee of which Boyington was a member.

In a letter to Boyington Governor Martin said the judge's resignation from the state relief committee was accepted because "I knew you wanted to get off" and because he had decided that county judges should not be on the committee.

Governor Martin declared he had the "utmost confidence" in Boyington and urged him to retain his place on the planning board.

Boyington yesterday announced he had resigned from the planning board because of the inference of the dismissal from the relief committee.

May Leave State NRA Bill to Die

Recall of House Bill 103 to the senate chambers late yesterday was interpreted as an action leading to the probable defeat of the measure—the so-called state NRA act, which went through the upper house last week after a long delay. Opponents of the bill are said to have secured enough votes to leave the measure on the table when adjournment comes.

Lumber interests were said to have protested vigorously against enactment of the state NRA law in view of the national breakup of NRA.

CITRUS RECIPES IN DEMAND THIS WEEK

contest this week. Send in as many recipes as you like. The deadline is Thursday noon.

Here are more of those good lamb ideas:

Irish Dinner
Irish stew is made with the scruff end of the neck of lamb and never with beef. Three or more pounds of neck of lamb cut into pieces suitable for serving are required, with:

3 cups diced potatoes
2 cups diced white turnips
2 cups diced carrots
20 tiny whole silver skin onions or about 3 large chopped onions
salt and pepper to taste

Fry lamb until golden brown then add all the vegetables with boiling water and simmer until meat is very tender and the flour of all the vegetables is perfectly combined, 1 1/2 to 2 hours. When cooked, add more boiling water if more gravy is desired. Thicken with flour. Eight minutes before serving add dumplings made as follows:

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 large or 2 small eggs

Mix together with milk and drop by the tablespoonful on top of the thickened stew. Cover tightly and steam for 8 minutes. Serve at once. Makes six to eight portions. Mashed Irish potatoes, green salad and a light dessert makes a good and inexpensive dinner for a large family. A lemon whip for dessert goes very well with this menu and is made as follows:

Lemon Whip
Separate 8 large eggs. Put the beaten yolks with juice and grated rind of two large lemons and one cup of granulated sugar into the top of a double boiler. Cook and beat until thick. Then add stiffly beaten egg whites. Remove from cooker to serving dish and sprinkle with coconut. Chill and serve. Six or eight portions.

Mrs. M. W. Miller
Route 6, Box 72

Stuffed Lamb Chops
Have the chops cut about 1 1/2 inches thick. Split each chop to the bone. Make a dressing of 1 cup dry bread crumbs soaked, drained and squeezed dry, 1 minced onion, 1/2 teaspoon sage, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 beaten egg. Mix all well and fill each chop with the dressing. Close the openings with strips of bacon. May be broiled or baked in a slow oven for 1 hour.

Mushroom Sauce
Cook 1 slice of carrot, 1 slice of onion, a bit of bay leaf, a sprig of thyme (may be omitted) in 1/2 cup of butter until brown. Stir to prevent burning. Add 2 tablespoons flour, brown and add 1 cup stock or 1 cup water in which a beef cube has been dissolved. Season with salt, pepper and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Cook until thick. Add 1 small can of button mushrooms or fresh ones if in season. Pour over chops and serve with fried egg plant, baked potatoes, cabbage salad, rolls, Bavarian cream and coffee.

Woodry Finishes Nineteenth Year In Auction Mart

F. N. Woodry is this week observing the 19th anniversary of the establishment of his farmers' auction market in this city. The market began operations with a weekly sale on vacant lots opposite the Marion hotel. As business developed, Mr. Woodry constructed an auction house at 1610 North Summer street, completing this in 1925. Here he handles livestock, machinery, furniture and produce—anything saleable on a commission basis.

Mr. Woodry also operates the Swaparee, a new and used furniture store at 474 South Commercial street, this business being in conjunction with the auction market on North Summer street. Don Woodry manages the downtown store; Glenn Woodry assists his father in the auction market.

WILLAMETTE TOPS ALBANY IN DEBATE

Maintaining their position of first place in the Oregon state championship debate contest, the Willamette university team won its eighth consecutive victory last night by defeating Albany college at Willamette.

The Willamette team of Randall Kester and Laurence Morley spoke on the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, that the state should sponsor a system of socialized medical service." Jack Bennett and Tom Pridoux speaking for Albany upheld the negative side.

The debate was of the cross-examination type, permitting each debater to cross-examine the preceding speaker of the opposing side.

C. R. Winger of Pacific university as judge, awarded the victory to Willamette on presentation and speech construction.

Willamette women debaters, speaking on the same question, defeated the Albany women. Melva Bell Savage and Margaret Howerton spoke for Willamette and Hilma Kluge and Fern O'Dell for Albany.

APPROPRIATIONS TO EXCEED 13 MILLION

Total appropriations of the current legislative session, including continuing allowances of $290,710, and millage taxes of $4,717,521, aggregated $13,787,599, according to the final tabulation of the joint ways and means committee yesterday.

The millage taxes included $943,504 for the world war veterans state aid commission and $3,774,017 for the support of the higher educational institutions. A total of $75,480 of the higher educational institution millage tax was diverted to the general fund.

The legislative appropriations included $5,779,368, of which $6,305,524 was classified as budget items. Non-budget items aggregated $2,473,844.

There were included in the appropriations $1,000,000 for old age pension relief and a similar amount for the relief of the unemployed and indigent.

The Meier-Hanzen budget recommended $10,017,952 for the biennium.

Total revenues for the 1935-36 biennium were estimated at $14,276,369, which indicates that the state deficit will be increased only slightly.
