

ONION PRODUCERS STILL HOLD FIRM

PORTLAND, March 18.—(AP)—Recent cuts in the eastern cheese prices have been followed by additional declines.

Former high prices on cheese evidently curtailed demand to a considerable extent in leading consuming points and with suggestion of greater offerings, the market was inclined to weaken.

While the undercurrent of the trade has been hurt somewhat by the extreme cuts in prices a few days ago, the current position of the butter market was about steady.

Trading in the egg market was being held steady as a rule with continued liberal movement into storage. Resale prices were mixed with much storage rejects being offered for fresh consumption.

While in some quarters there was a tendency to ease off the buying price on chickens a trifle, the general trade was keenly seeking supplies and was offering late values.

There was a good demand for dressed turkeys again showing with a resulting betterment in the price available. Buyers were freely offering 18 to 20c with resales as high as 23c lb.

Rather dull trading tone was showing for onions with growers holding firmly for $4 net while buyers were not inclined to pay that much.

First carload of Idaho potatoes reported for a long time, were now available in the Portland trade. It was selling a trifle under the Deschutes stock here even with a huge freight rate.
