Music Club Looks Back to Active History

A brief history of the Salem MacDowell club is of interest to the patrons planning to attend the spring concert scheduled for next Tuesday, March 26, at Waller hall.

It was organized in 1919 in conjunction with the Woman's club. Later the two became separate organizations. There are three members active now who were in the original group: Mrs. Mark McCallister, Mrs. Margaret Rosecrans and Miss Lena Belle Tarter.

The club has had five directors which are Paul Petri of Oregon State college, Minnetta Magers and W. H. Boyer of Portland, Florence W. Gay formerly of Willamette university, and Miss Tarter who has been director since 1931.

Nationally known artists brought to Salem under the sponsorship of the MacDowell club have included Mabel Garrison, soprano; Florence Macbeth, soprano; Royal Dadmun, baritone; Michio Ito and his dancers; Bernice Claire, soprano, and concert appearances of Salem's own Winifred Byrd, pianist.

Disabled Veterans Cared For

Increased efforts to give disabled World War Veterans in government hospitals peace of mind through care of their families at home are being made this year by the American Legion Auxiliary, states Mrs. Onas Olson, rehabilitation chairman of Capital Unit of the Auxiliary.

In addition to visiting and providing comforts for the men in the hospitals, the auxiliary is carrying out extensive welfare work in the homes of these veterans.

While the government provides nearly everything necessary for the veterans in the hospitals, it can do nothing for the wives and children left destitute at home in a large number of cases, Mrs. Olson explained. Worry over the condition of their families is detrimental to the recovery of the veterans and the Auxiliary works hard in removing this worry. Aid to veterans after their discharge from the hospitals is another part of the Auxiliary's rehabilitation activities receiving increased attention this year.
