

FORENSIC SHOWING AT W. U. NOTABLE

Consistent Victories Taken In Season Now Ending; Director Praised

The most extensive and most successful forensic season for Willamette university in its entire history has just been completed with 110 debates participated in the last four months, 9100 miles travelled by the speakers and teams from 16 different states encountered. Each member of the Willamette university debate squad participated in a minimum of six intercollegiate decision debates. More than 75 per cent of the contests in which the university teams participated were won by the Willamette representatives.

Here are some of the accomplishments of the local debaters: A team composed of Lawrence Morley, Randall Kester, Harold Pruitt, William Mosher and Garfield Barnett, won the official debate championship of the state.

Lawrence Morley and Randall Kester won first in debate at the Linfield college tournament with 50 of the strongest teams in the west represented there.

William Mosher, Garfield Barnett and Talbot Bennett won first, second and third places in the extemporaneous contests of the Linfield tournament.

Constance Smart won first place in women's oratory. Talbot Bennett won second in the state extemporaneous contest; Lawrence Morley won third in the state after-dinner speaking contest; William George McLeod took second in the state old-line oratorical contest.

In the recent Pacific Forensic league meet at Whitman college, Walla Walla, Wash., Willamette university's representatives placed more consistently than any other school on the coast. John Rudin won a second in extemporaneous speaking; George McLeod took second in oratory; William Mosher won third in after-dinner speaking. Major universities of the coast were represented at the meeting.

Much of the success of the forensic teams at the school is attributed to Professor Herbert E. Rahe, head of the department of public speech. Rahe came to the university in 1929 from Butler university in Indiana. Since that time his forensic teams have consistently won recognition on the coast. Rahe's policy is to give each member of the forensic squad who will do the work an opportunity to show his mettle in actual contests.

Three veterans of the Willamette forensic squad will be lost by graduation this year. They are John Rudin, Garfield Barnett and William Mosher. Six experienced debaters will be left for next year. All of the outgoing forensic team members have made exceptional records in their intercollegiate contests.

CLUB FEDERATION GATHERS AT EOLA

The Marion-Polk County Federation of Community Clubs met at Eola Saturday night. The drawing for places in the annual program resulted as follows: One-act play by Riekey and Sunnyside; orchestra, Turner; reading, Eola.

The community chorus was discussed and it was decided to remove the limit on the number of voices from any club, permitting each club to send as many as the club desires.

The harmonica band to be presented at the annual meeting was discussed and it was decided to admit junior high school students together with grade school pupils. An instructor will be provided and it is planned to have the band practice on the same nights that the chorus practices.

Announcement of first practice will be made in the near future. The program consisted of a vocal duet by Dorothy and Ruth McCall of Keizer; reading, Mary McCall, Keizer; vocal solos, Donald La Branch, Riekey; selections by the Rosedale male quartet; Harry Pearson, Gus Cole, Clifford Smith and Ellie Cannon.

NEW HEALTH BREAD BEING BAKED HERE

A new brand of bread, Honey Krushed Wheat, praised by food experts and physicians in mid-western and eastern cities where it is taking the market by storm, is to be introduced in Salem today by the Cherry City Baking company. Not only has this new loaf a special appetizing flavor, it is explained, but it assists in relieving disorders due to irregularity.

The new loaf is the result of long research and experimenting, Walter T. Molloy, manager of the local bakery reports. It is made by an exclusive recipe consisting of whole crushed wheat, honey and Karmalax. This was perfected by a noted college professor, dean of the college of pharmacy of a noted eastern university. Karmalax is composed of carbohydrates and proteins, according to a laboratory analysis and is not a drug and is absolutely harmless yet its results are far more effective than the old system of dosing.

It is indicated that the reason for the remarkable success of Honey Krushed Wheat bread elsewhere is the combination of nature's own remedies in a palatable, taste-appetizing loaf of bread, one that is relished by every member of the family. It is re-ordered and eaten in steadily increasing quantities, being especially beneficial for children and elderly people.

Youths to Face Hearing, Thefts At Blind School

The four Portland boys charged with breaking into the blind school laundry here Friday night will be given hearings in juvenile court at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, according to Mrs. Nona M. White, county probation officer. Their parents have been notified to attend.

State police said they found some of the shirts and other articles of clothing from the school in possession of two of the boys when arrested. The four were Joseph Ditter, 17; Albert Stoffen, 15; Roy Schub, 16, and Walter John Freeman, 15. The quartet also is alleged to have stolen spools of thread and adhesive tape from the Salem Fluff Rug and Mattress factory.

IMPROVEMENTS AT HOTEL MINTO MANY

Improvements are constantly being made at Hotel de Minto to comply with sanitation and safety requirements set up by the federal transient relief service, according to R. R. Boardman, supervisor of the local transients' relief station. He pointed out recent betterments:

Enlargement of lavatory facilities, with several new showers, new wash basins and 260-gallon capacity hot water heating unit.

Installation of an electric fan near the kitchen.

Removal of the storage room from near the kitchen and construction of a bundle checking room.

Purchase of fire extinguishers and exit lights.

All transient men staying at the "hotel" are required to bath thoroughly, to have their clothing fumigated and to help keep the place immaculately clean. Medical and hospital service is provided for those needing it.

VALLEY TO DOUBLE POPULATION, WORD

Albany Delegation is Heard At Chamber of Commerce Luncheon on Monday

Offering the speculation that the Willamette valley will double its population in the next 10 or 20 years, C. E. Williamson, Albany banker and former legislator, was chief spokesman for the Albany delegation which presented the chamber of commerce luncheon program here yesterday. Williamson replaced Mark V. Weatherford, unable to attend.

Valley residents have an obligation to become real neighbors to the newcomers already coming here in large numbers, Williamson declared. He pictured the valley as an ideal homeland, though needing a more intelligent program from standpoint of development.

With 750,000 of the state's million residents in the Willamette valley and its tributaries, but 450,000 of that number are employed, and only 150,000 of the total engaged in creating new wealth, which number engaged in creating wealth is not enough, he held.

"The state of Oregon is doing a remarkable work bringing to the front the finest young people in the land," Williamson said in sketching the highest honors which have come to the state and the Willamette valley in 4-H boys' and girls' club work and Future Farmer work in recent years. Oregon 4-H'ers have won three Moses trophies, highest national honor. Future Farmers from this state have had one national president and one Star Farmer; and only recently Lane county was adjudged second best county in the nation in 4-H club work.

This outstanding youth work is one of the state's most valuable assets and needs backing of every citizen, the banker urged. He also pointed to the six consecutive years in which Oregon has stood at the pinnacle of all states in the Farmer-Banker movement ratings.

Newcomers to this valley and state are coming here of their own accord, or under a government program, Williamson said, and the experience in Linn county shows that they are not broken in purse or spirit, but have come to again take up the business of making a home.

"The Willamette valley is being reborn; people are coming in here not by the hundred but by the thousands," R. W. Tripp, president of the Albany chamber declared, in urging the present as the time for the Willamette valley to stand together as a valley. Tripp introduced members of the large Albany delegation, including Mayor W. L. Jackson, School Supt. Rex Putnam, Miss Lela Bray, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and a group of professional and business men of the city.

Girl Who Lacks School Apparel Given Much Aid

Assistance for the Salem girl who had to quit school for lack of suitable clothing literally poured in following the request for assistance—published in Saturday's Statesman, according to Olive Doak Bynon, executive secretary of Marion county chapter, Red Cross, who issued the plea. Not only were numerous articles of clothing and shoes donated, but one person offered the girl substantial employment, Mrs. Bynon said yesterday.

Livestock, Farm Equipment Loans Not Made So Far

No loans in the form of stock and farming equipment have yet been made to Marion county residents by the rural rehabilitation administration, according to word from relief headquarters here. RRA leaders say they have received no advice as to when these projected loans will be forthcoming.

Meanwhile, T. R. Hobart, RRA supervisor here, and his assistant, Victor Madsen, are cooperating with the county relief organization in its garden program.

GARDEN PLOTS FOR RELIEF IN DEMAND

Need for additional garden plots for use of families on relief was told yesterday by Victor Madsen, supervisor of the Marion county relief garden project.

The garden project survey is being completed and shows a number of families have neither land of their own nor access to vacant lots.

Madsen asks that persons who have plots which they would turn over to relief use this season telephone the location of such land and their names to the chamber of commerce. The chamber will relay the information to Madsen, who will get it to those needing it.

Excellent cooperation is reported by Madsen to date on the garden project, and already many gardeners have their land prepared or are doing so.

Kirkpatrick is Backed in Linn For Road Board

A delegation of Linn county citizens headed by Senator Stringer and Clyde Williamson conferred with Governor Martin Monday and urged the appointment of Hugh Kirkpatrick of Lebanon as a member of the state highway commission to succeed Carl Washburne of Eugene.

Washburne has resigned and Governor Martin is expected to announce his successor this week.

Kirkpatrick is a nephew of Sam Garland, prominent Lebanon attorney.

He was said to have received the support of Oswald West, John Beckman and a number of other prominent Portland democrats.

VAN WINKLE'S PAY CLAIMS REPULSED

The secretary of state yesterday refused to approve the payroll vouchers of the attorney general's department, covering the period March 1 to 13, on the basis of salaries in operation prior to the enactment of the salary reduction law by the 1933 legislature.

Attorney General Van Winkle alleged that state employees were entitled to their full basic salaries during this period for the reason that the 1933 salary reduction law expired on February 23 of this year and the 1935 act was not signed by Governor Martin until March 13.

Secretary of State Snell said the March checks for the attorney general's staff would be made out on the same basis as in recent months.
