Special Election Will be Called at Session of Aldermen Friday

valuable information for retail business houses as well as for the building trades. All costs save $375 for printing and for office rent would be paid for by the federal government, Paget said. The matter will come before the special session of the council Friday.

H. H. Vandevort criticized vigorously the continued use of the courthouse lawn by the removed house the Marion county housing committee is just completing. He urged that it be removed at the earliest possible moment. Mayor Kuhn agreed and named Vandevort, Alderman Van Patten and Alderman Dae as a committee to see that action was taken to get the house off the lawn.

Vandevort also criticized severely the price he city pays for sand and gravel, saying it was common knowledge that the municipality was "held up" when it purchased these materials. He said Salem paid 65 cents a yard for gravel when it had access to Minto's island before Ferry street was closed. "Now we pay $1.65," he averred. Alderman "atwight" moved that the city advertise for bids on its sand and gravel needs for the entire year as well as for its estimated needs in cement. The motion prevailed. The matter arose when identical prices were offered for certain gravel on which the city last week sought bids.

LIVING CONFERENCE DELAYED ONE WEEK

bill, resented a remark by Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, that the measure was opposed by four of the five senate conferees members and therefore had been committed to "its enemies."

He said off the floor this reflected on the senate conferees committee and indicated they could not conscientiously carry out their duty. As a matter of fact, he asserted, they fought for every senate amendment but two. Glass said he may decline to serve as a conferee and if he decided otherwise he would not give in to Secretary Ickes, whose position that the one-third labor requirements would halt many state projects was upheld by President Roosevelt.

CRIME CONFERENCE PURPOSE REVEALED

This was a centralization of authority in a dangerous manner. The office of the attorney general in the states, he said, was that of advisor to the governor and all state officers, to legislative and to district attorneys. The attorney general was in a considerable degree an officer of the courts. His office should remain independent and elective. He should be answerable to the people and the district attorneys should be answerable to the people of their districts. Only four states have the attorney general appointive, and in one of those, Tennessee, he is appointed by the supreme court.

BLOODHOUND TRAILS THIEF; HE'S CAUGHT

On a bloodhound's sensitive nose Wesley Shoverne alias Black, fugitive from the federal transient camp near Y-maha today may blame his being in jail serving out a 15-day sentence for larceny. His flight from the camp yesterday morning, with stolen clothing in his possession, ended abruptly when this dog, Hugo, belonging to Capt. W. H. Harry Simmons, also of this city, who was 100 yards down the beach. By the time Simmons rushed to the rescue and attacked the octopus with a 12-inch knife, Coltrin had been dragged into water up to his neck. It was necessary to plunge the knife between the eyes of the attacker 17 times before he let go, leaving Coltrin covered with bruises and welts raised by the suckers on the eight snaky arms.
