

NEWBERG BLOSSOM DAY WILL BE LATER

Easter Sunday Chosen Due to Slow Blooming, is Committee's Word

NEWBERG, April 12.—(Special)—Due to the cold, rainy weather the past two weeks, the committee in charge of the first Blossom Day Tours, consisting of Lynn Ferguson, chairman; Dr. R. W. Van Valin and C. H. Baynard, has announced a change in date. In place of the tentative date of April 14, Easter Sunday, April 21, has been definitely agreed upon. This is not intended to be a hindrance to Easter services, the personally conducted tour taking part in the afternoon only.

This committee from the chamber of commerce is offering substantial prizes, to be announced next week, for the best suggestion as a name for the road known as Skyline Drive. As there are a dozen or so roads in the state by the same name the committee is offering a finding a suitable name for this beautiful drive along the crest of Chehalis mountain that leads to Bald peak, a state park, with an elevation of 1900 feet, so situated that 19 counties can be seen from its summit, in addition to the beautiful view of seven snow-capped mountains. The prizes for the best suggested name will be awarded upon the historical value, local interest and scenic beauty contained in the submitted name.

State and local police will patrol the route, and Boy Scouts will be stationed at strategic points over the route to give advice and answer questions.

The trip is 25 miles in length, and it is expected that prune, cherry and other blossoms will be in their fullest bloom Easter. This is not intended to mimic Salem's blossom festival in any way, having been originally promoted by the chamber in arousing interest of those not aware of the beauty of the Chehalis and Willamette valleys in and around Newberg.

REQUISITIONS NOT TO MENTION STORE

To remove certain merchants' complaints that they are being discriminated against in the issuance of grocery and other requisitions by relief organizations through-out the state, the state relief committee has decreed that hereafter all requisitions shall be made out "to any approved merchant." Relief case workers and relief clients alike are forbidden to make out the requisition to individual merchants.

Receipt of instructions to this effect was announced here yesterday by Glenn C. Niles, Marion county relief administrator. Recently to forestall complaints he had ordered that all requisitions should be made out to merchants chosen by the relief recipients and warned case workers against showing favor to any one merchant.

SEVEN PERMITS TO BUILD ISSUED HERE

Seven building permits with an aggregate value of $847 were issued by the city building department here yesterday as follows: A. E. Hackett, alter dwelling at 355 Division street, $300. Sam Rich, re-roof dwelling at 1910 South Commercial, $107. C. LaChee, alter dwelling at 1348 Ferry, $200. Mrs. Mary Yenne, re-roof dwelling at 1936 Trade, $100. "Mothers, please cooperate with us on Saturday afternoons. Each Saturday we have a special feature for the club members, because occasionally the regular one is not suitable. Please watch our advertisements and if you would not like to have your children stay for the regular feature ask them to leave right after the special feature. By aiding us in this matter you can help us accomplish our main purpose of the Mickey Mouse Club—that is everything suitable for the members' interests in the statement of Carl A. Porter, manager of Warner Bros. Theatres in Salem.

M. M. C.

There seems to have been an interest started as to the lives of the older members of the "Gang." From time to time in the Notes I will give you this information—as to their "hidden past." Our first subject today is Curt Williams, who was the first member of the "gang," and has been with us four and a half years. He was christened Curtis J. Williams, July 1, 1910, at Bayard, Neb., second of a family of six children. Curt looks like a handsome athlete, having sandy hair, grey eyes, is six foot two, and weighs 185 pounds. He attended the University of Nebraska, studying singing. He has been married three years, and works for the state highway department.

M. M. C.

Next Saturday I will print letters in the Mickey Mouse Notes, so if you would like to have yours appear in the paper, better get it in immediately.

the largest number that can be adequately cared for by a single officer. I stated that as to these 591 men, there was a minimum of supervision. I added "this is by no means the fault of the parole officer."

"I criticized the granting of pardons by certain of the governors of Oregon, among whom your name does not appear. My statements concerning pardons were derived from an accurate tabulation made by the officials of the Oregon state penitentiary, giving the name, number, date of sentence and date of pardon of every person who was pardoned by a governor of Oregon, for the past 12 years.

"Governor Martin was also furnished with an identical statement. That statement shows that 308 convicts were pardoned from the penitentiary during the period, of whom 48 have been required to serve time in the penitentiary since their pardons. I stated that 27 men during this period who had been sentenced to life imprisonment for murder were pardoned and that the average time served by them was 9.9 years.

"I stated that 101 men who had been sentenced by the courts to terms of 10 years or more each, received pardons during the period and that the average time served by these 101 men was 3.51 years each. I also stated that 94 convicted robbers were pardoned in 12 years, 18 per cent of whom have served time since their pardon.

First Offenders Should Be Paroled

"I emphatically urged the use of probation and parole, whenever possible, for first offenders, and for seven years upon the bench I have practiced what I preach in that respect. I strongly urged that the state must provide an adequate probation system similar to the federal one. I should have expected you to be the most enthusiastic supporter of that proposal. I also urged that we must 'put habitual criminals out of circulation and keep them out.'

"I have not replied to you letter for the purpose of entering any personal controversy with you. My criticisms were not aimed at, nor did they touch you or your work, nor did I dream that you would attempt to fit the shoe to your own foot. There were 39,382 boys, 19 years of age or younger, whose arrest by state officers was reported to the federal division of investigation during the first nine months of 1934. These boys should not be sent to the penitentiary to mingle with hardened criminals, when it can be avoided."

REPORT EARNINGS, DORMANT SAVINGS AND LOAN FUNDS

Earnings on dormant funds of savings and loan associations taken over by the state corporation commissioner aggregated $15,868.74 up to April 9 of this year, the state bond commission reported at a meeting Friday. The funds were invested under a law of the 1933 legislature.

Prior to enactment of this law those funds were deposited in various banks and earned virtually no interest.

Approximately $283,000 of these funds remain invested in short term federal and state bonds which draw interest from 2 1/2 to 4 per cent.

zation, really means business," Hope related.

"Mr. Muir, my informant, a Los Angeles man and reputed to be holder of the key position for the union, replied, 'No, it won't be a strike. We just intend to tie up everything!'

"I have been instrumental in heading off several scattered and small walkouts in the union in recent weeks, pleading that they should wait at least until May 6."

The assistance of the national labor board has been asked by the regional labor board which has done everything in its power to prevent the walkout, Hope said.

He added the walkout might become serious in view of an asserted sympathy from other labor organizations.

He intimated that one of the three members of the national labor board may come to the coast in a few days to study the situation.

Those in the cast of the play are Richard Smart, Carol Braden, William Drakeley, Harriett Adams, Roy Harland, Jane Fisher, Ruth Roake and B. F. Adams.

LINN FRUIT MEN PLAN PURCHASE, HUNT'S CANNERY

Linn county fruit growers led by the Albany chamber of commerce have undertaken a financial campaign to purchase the Hunt Brothers cannery in that city and operate it with the aid of a reconstruction finance corporation loan, according to advices from Albany. It is proposed to secure the plant, incorporate and then lease it to C. B. Spencer, who until recently was manager of the Hunt cannery in Salem.

Altogether $15,000 is being sought for the undertaking. Already Lebanon growers have pledged $2000, Lacombe growers $2000 and Albany interests $3500.

The chief of year or so ago was told by the then Superintendent George Hug that fire drills were being conducted in the schools, he declared. "They've never asked me to attend a drill that I know of; it's a state law to hold them."

"They expect me to fight fires with two men on the aerial (ladder truck) to do the work of 12. I have three men on two pumps where I should have anywhere from five to eight men. The underwriters' recommendation would have doubled the size of the department and one man over; that was before it was cut down."

Further defending his record, the chief said "we've had some losses but we've confined them to the buildings where the fires started."

Warning Against Selling Beer to Inebriate Given

Beer dealers who may have been selling beer to intoxicated persons face a "crack down" from the police committee of the city council, Chairman Walter Fuhrer warned yesterday. He said that reports coming to him of this practice indicated action was necessary.

"For instance, there are two or three habituals I've noticed who shouldn't be able to buy beer," Fuhrer said. "Before the city lost its stamp tax on beer and the state took the taxing over, we had one officer who made the rounds of these places. Now he is needed for other duties just as much as for keeping watch on beer shops. But we'll not stand for selling beer to anyone who is intoxicated."

dent came just as the senate munitions committee shaped plans for a formal demand on Donald R. Riechberg, chairman of the national recovery board, to explain alleged delay in matching at once from the famous gun factory its blue eagle. This would have taken from the firm its right to do business with the government.

Chairman Nye (R-ND), declared the president asked him by telephone this morning to withdraw the committee's request for Riechberg's appearance. Mr. Roosevelt gave him assurance, Nye said, that the Colt controversy would be settled early next week.

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—(AP)—Football players dragged a girl student speaker, Flora Turchinski, from an improvised rostrum and she fainted, during demonstrations in the one-hour students' strike against war here today.

A girl standing nearby also fainted. From the back of another, a group of anti-demonstrators tore an embroidered sign reading "strike against war." Four student demonstrators were suspended from school. All this was at Los Angeles Junior college, where the administration had a portable loud speaker system which was moved about here and there to drown out speech-making. At one time, Director Roscoe C. Ingalls of the college blew blasts on a whistle in efforts to stifle the speaker's voice.

About 1500 students turned out during the demonstration hour, many heckling the speakers.
