FARMER IS HOLDING SACK IN NORTHWEST

As Grain Importations Mount and Especially Corn, Says OSC Report

With 6,510,000 bushels of corn imported from last July 1 to February 28 and 12,800,000 bushels more of Argentina new crop corn ordered for shipment to the United States up to March 15, northwest grain farmers with surplus wheat are taking unusual interest in the grain market conditions and grain importations, says a market report by the Oregon State college extension service. A large part of this corn entered Pacific coast ports from Argentina where a large export crop is now coming out to the world market.

Washington D. C. press releases point out that imports of all grains in the eight months from July 1, 1934 to March 1, 1935 were only six-tenths of the average production of grains, and less than two per cent of the loss to grain crops caused directly by the drought.

Although not great in proportion to the reductions caused by the drought, imports during recent months are several times greater than normal, much of the increase going to drought areas. In addition to the corn, 9,221,000 bushels of oats, 7,284,000 bushels of barley, 5,644,000 bushels of rye and 3,511,000 bushels of wheat per cent of the country's average production of grains, and less than two per cent of the loss to grain crops caused directly by the drought.

Grain farmers point out that wheat imports already are nearly as large as the surplus wheat left unsold in the Pacific northwest which is above-normal imports of wheat, rye, corn, oats and barley combined amount to at least twice that surplus.

Most of the wheat imported came from Canada into the central states area, but half of it is being not fit for milling due to its low percentage of its value, used for feed in drought areas.

Hay imports totaled 49,000 tons from July 1 to February 28, mostly from Canada into the drought areas in the north central states and other western states was marketed this season.

Wheatland, April 16.—Dr. and Mrs. P. C. Magness are recovering after an operation for a dislocated right shoulder, received at 9:30 Sunday night when the sedan in which they were riding and being driven by Mrs. Magness was crowded off the Dayton-Salem highway at the "S" curve near the Mrs. Eldie Taylor farm in the Pleasant neighborhood.

Dr. J. Manning and Sheriff George Manning were called and gave first aid.

Grain Up Two Cents Again

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP)—A few leaders and specialists got most of the attention today while the balance of the stock list was quietly irregular.

Chemicals were again favorites among the stocks. Allied Chemicals, the best gain for the day with a life of 2 points to 1.40 while Air Reduction was nearly 2 points better at 1.61, and several others in the group gained fractionally.

The scattered nature of the day's buying may be indicated by the list of the more active issues which were able to gain 1 to 2 points or so. These included Eastman Kodak, Lehman Corp., Liggett & Myers "B," National Biscuits, Pillsbury Flour, Standard Oil, Standard Oil of Kansas, Superheater and several others of equally varying character.

A slightly better tone in rails and utility bonds was not commensurate to the share list, where these divisions were mildly reactionary. Although the Associated Press average for 50 stocks was 1 of a point higher at 38.7, the rails and utilities were each 3 of a point down.

The day's turnover at 74,720 shares dropped substantially below that of the previous session. Many of the stock list's usual pacemakers made some minor progress, including Santa Fe at 39 1/2, Sears Roebuck at 38 1/2, N. Y. Central at 15 1/2, American Tobacco "B" at 8 1/2 and Woolworth at 5 1/2. Others, however, got off to minor fractions, including Chrysler at 24 1/2, consolidated Gas at 21 1/2, Montgomery Ward at 25 1/2, and U. S. Steel at 32.

Trading in Wool Is Fairly Active

BOSTON, April 16.—(AP)—U. S. Dept. Agr.—Trade in wool was fairly active in Boston this far this week. Much of the business was on the finer grades of western grown wools. Stable sales were closed on 12 months Texas wool, the good to choice lines ranging 61-64 cents scoured and the bulk of the average wool 59-61 cents. Medium grade semi-bright choice wools were having some call at steady prices.

CONTINUED SPREAD OF DUST IS FACTOR

CHICAGO, April 16.—(AP)—Profits taking sales in wheat futures were swept out of the trading pit in a resumption of speculative buying just before the market's closing conditions, as a price jump of more than two cents to new highs for the session.

The wave of purchasing here accompanied rather persistent strength in the Kansas City market, which is nearer the southwestern drought region. Reports of dust storms in southwestern Kansas, parts of Nebraska and even in Canada gave a spectacular touch to a wealth of bullish crop news.

The sharp upturn, ending easiness that prevailed most of the session, forced May wheat to the highest level in more than four months and the new crop deliveries to new season tops. Wheat closed 2 to 3/4 cents above the previous high, May 1.02 1/2¢, and corn was 1/4¢ to 1 1/2¢ up. May 89 3/4¢ and corn raised 1/4¢, rye 3 1/4¢, and barley was unchanged to 1 1/4¢ higher.

Today's closing quotations:
Wheat: close Mar., 1.02 1/2¢; July, 1.01 1/2¢-93¢; Sept., 1.02 3/4¢.
