

1400 CORDS OF WOOD SHIPPED

From Beran Holdings, Scio; Other Timber Deals are Reported

SCIO, May 16.—Fourteen hundred cords of 16-inch fir for hand, all going to Salem dealers, is the record at the W. J. Beran farm a few miles southeast of Scio. It is in the Rodgers mountain area, which has supplied millions of feet of saw timber also during the last few years.

Logging for the J. M. Holec mill at Scio also is carried on in the Beran timber, which is reported to be among the best in the Cascade foothills. Many contracts have been filled from that section and millions of feet remain. It is stated.

White fir and hemlock for Salem and Oregon City paper mills have gone to market in immense quantities in recent years, and Beran stands in Scio this week that raw materials still are being marketed for pulp. Lehanon paper manufacturers also have handled Scio timber.

Beran also has contracted much hemlock bark to the Albany tannery and a large order now is being moved to the plant from the hills.

W. J. Turnidge of Scio, pioneer who furnished state institutions with fuel timber many years ago, states that he is negotiating to cut several hundred cords of 16-inch and four-foot wood for fuel purposes. Most of this timber will be cut near Scio if present plans materialize. Turnidge says he also contemplates getting out logs from the J. A. Barnes timber near here for lumber manufacture.

Ship Maple Burls

Tons of maple burls are being trucked through Scio to Portland for use in manufacturing high-class birdseye furniture. The stumps are secured in large part on the Joe Shindler farm a few miles east of Scio and are sold by the pound or ton. At Portland the wood is seasoned, sawed and prepared for shipment to European countries, where it commands high prices.

R. E. Peery, manager and secretary of the Crown Mining company, will resume operations there this week or the fore part of next. Supplies are now being trucked to the mine. Work on the shaft, which is about 50 feet deep, will be pushed to the 100-foot level as rapidly as practicable, Peery stated.
