to discourage relief recipients from becoming self-sustaining through personal initiative. That the question of the payment of house rent be given careful consideration by the relief administration with a view to adopting a definite policy and obtaining uniformity in its application.

That throughout the state the social service department of the Emergency Relief administration be completely separated from all private and quasi-public social service agencies.

That in Multnomah county a new social service department be created to take over and conduct the social service work now being performed by the Family Relief Unit, the Veterans' Relief Unit, the Jewish Relief Unit, and all other social service agencies and units receiving public aid.

That the use of the International Business machine in Multnomah county be discontinued.

That the relief administration provide more adequate facilities for determining the eligibility of applicants for relief and for eliminating those who no longer require assistance.

While the utmost local control and local participation is desirable and should be preserved, nevertheless we recommend that the state committee and the state administration set up and enforce standards with relation to work in the counties so as to harmonize local administration with state and federal standards.

We recommend that more adequate means be furnished the University of Oregon for development of its school of social service.

"RICHELIEU" COMES TO ELSINORE TODAY

Cardinal Richelieu, the red-robed prelate who became the power behind the throne of France 200 years ago is one of the most fascinating of the countless colorful figures that parade through history's romance-filled pages.

Some of the greatest minds of the literary world have tussled with the riddle of this baffling man who seemed a saint one moment and a devil the next.

And now Darryl Zanuck has brought this many-sided character again into public focus by choosing him as the subject of George Arliss' latest and greatest screen portrait in "Cardinal Richelieu," 20th Century's most lavish production to date, which comes to the Elsinore theatre Wednesday.

"Cardinal Richelieu" is directed by Rowland V. Lee, for release through United Artists, with a supporting cast that includes Maureen O'Sullivan, Edward Arnold, Francis Lister, Douglas Dumbrille, Cesar Romero, Violet Kemble Cooper, Kathryn Alexander and Halliwell Hobbes.

CHICAGO, May 20.—(AP)—Four double plays and three hits apiece by infielders Bill Jurges and Phil Cavarretta led the Cubs to a 5 to 0 triumph over the Boston Braves in the opening game of the series today.

Backed by excellent fielding, Bill Lee pitched a six hit shut-out, allowing only two Braves to get to second base and none past. The Cubs bunched seven hits to score all their runs off Dutch Brandt in the second and third innings. Bob Smith then shut them out with three hits during the last five innings.

The defeat dropped the Braves into the league cellar.

Babe Ruth, making his first appearance in Chicago as a National leaguer, played left field during the first five and a half innings of the game. He drew a pass on four straight low pitches his first trip to the plate, popped to Herman at second the next time and in his third and last trip smacked a hot liner that Cavarretta converted into an unassisted double play.

Uncertainty and Undue Cost of PWA Project Cited at Council Meet

By Aldermen Walter Fuhrer and John D. Minto.

The people in July, 1933, authorized issuing up to $475,000 in bonds to the reconstruction finance corporation in exchange for a disposal plant loan. When the PWA was created, the city sought a loan from it under this act, the allocation was made and the PWA later announced the old bonds were not acceptable. Had the resolution been passed last night, a new bond election would have been necessitated.

The council adjourned to meet at 7:30 o'clock next Monday night to vote the bonds with which it will purchase and improve the water system.

System Improvements Will Be Considered
Over Williams' protest, the aldermen empowered the utilities committee, the mayor and the city attorney as a group to employ technical assistance to ascertain the cost of the immediate improvements needed. When Williams complained at the entire council's not being permitted to do the hiring, Fuhrer asked if Williams was willing to attend special council meetings on every occasion when prompt action on some phase of the water planning was needed.

Cunningham, engineer and the man the committee will employ, will confer here with this group and the ways and means committee Wednesday night.

SAVING IS $15,000 IN SCHOOL BUDGET

of $100,000 worth of notes at 1 1/2 per cent interest will make possible an additional saving of approximately $6000, it is believed. The tentative budget provides for 6 per cent salary increases, bringing the salary level near depression levels, for higher prices of supplies and for the building fund deficit created by the failure of the SERA to complete the Englewood and Highland school additions last fall.

Contrary to earlier expectations, a total estimated receipts from tuition, county and state school funds will be $1000 higher than during the year about to close.

FLAGPOLE RAISING LAUDED BY LEGION

The workmanlike job of raising the American Legion flagpole on the courthouse lawn Sunday, came in for recognition when the members of Capital post No. 9 gave Glenn Seeley a rising vote of thanks for his work, at Monday night's meeting.

Legion and auxiliary met for a club supper at 6:45 o'clock Monday night, following the post executive committee's meeting at 6, and after their business meetings, the two groups combined again for a dance. A demonstration of the work of the Legion-sponsored Boy Scout troop was given for both groups.

At the Legion meeting, Al Greenwalt of Portland, state chairman of the Sons of the Legion, discussed the advisability of organizing a squadron here. Moses Palmater, Ray Bassett, Herman Brown, Hans Hofstetter, Dr. V. E. Hockett and Adjutant William Bliven received silver stars for their work in the membership campaign.

A report on the Boy Scout troop's showing at the Dallas camp-o-re, in which it took fourth place, was given, and announcement was made by the troop committee that the boys would be taken to Bonneville this weekend.

Don Wiggins reported that he would have a crew of Legionnaires out next Sunday, May 26, at the cemetery to tidy up the veterans' circle.

Walker Speaks To All-Kiwanis Gathering Here

Walker, head of the Northwestern school of Commerce, told Kiwanians here last night in the main address at the Marion hotel of the annual all-Kiwanis meeting the organization observes. The gathering opened with the radio address of International President Carrington of the Kiwanis organization.

Music during the dinner was provided by the Haywire orchestra while music for the dance which followed the banquet was provided by Albin's orchestra.

RELIEF WORK PAY SET BY PRESIDENT

per cent to provide for adjustments.

The 600,000 members of the civilian conservation corps are to receive an average of $25 a month, with clothing, food and board. State highway departments, subject to the approval of the bureau of public roads, are to retain their right to fix wages for their projects, while the work relief act requires payment of prevailing wages on federal building construction.

Prevailing wages are now paid the 2,500,000 who already have jobs under the relief administration. The average, however, is $29.50 a month because they are allowed to work only long enough to provide for their families' needs.
