Pair Arraigned in Tacoma After Being Flown From Salt Lake

where the Waleys were nabbed last weekend, in six hours. Mrs. Waley was the first to plead. She faced Commissioner Fitch, who used the courtroom because his own office was too small, while her broad shouldered young husband chewed gum and lounged nearby.

After the complaints were read Fitch asked her if she had an attorney.

"No," she answered. "If it's all the same to the court, I'll waive a hearing and plead not guilty. Both Amused, Husband Is Nonchalant

Both Waleys seemed amused throughout the brief hearing. He was particularly nonchalant.

He slouched during his arraignment and also waived a hearing and pleaded not guilty in a clear, cool voice.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 12.—(AP)—Amid more secrecy, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley, confessed participants in the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping, were spirited out of Salt Lake City today while the drive for a cleanup of the $200,000 abduction case was pressed on various fronts.

Bills Turn Up In Kelowna

The reported appearance of two of the ransom bills in Kelowna, B. C., started a hunt for possible confederates of the kidnap gang there.

William Mahan, slippery ex-coviet implicated by the Waleys, was hunted northward from Butte, Mont., after an acquaintance reported he once lived in Saskatchewan, Canada, and might have gone there to hide. Officers also hunted there for a possible $39,000 in ransom money.

FILIBUSTER BY LONG ENTERS 16TH HOUR

brakes on the administration's NRA bill today.

President Roosevelt supplied part of Long's talking material. He said Mr. Roosevelt had come under the influence of the Astor and Rockefeller interests, through Vincent Astor, the President's friend whom he termed the "political front" for the Rockefeller.

The motive of Long's filibuster was to keep in the NRA bill an amendment by Gore (D-Okla.) to force confirmation of all federal jobs trying more than $4000 a year. He wanted the amendment to end the administration's practice of naming anti-Long men to federal jobs in his home state.

The rider was adopted yesterday, but administration leaders, frightened by a test vote, battled to cut it out.

While the senate struggled with the plan to extend NRA in abridged form, the recovery agency again was playing a part in the affairs of the chamber of commerce of the United States.

A director's meeting called for Saturday was attributed to a desire to revise the chamber's program in the light of the new NRA status. It was said particularly attention will be given by the directors to voluntary business agreements.

RACE DOG OWNERS FILE COMPLAINTS

Multnomah Kennel club will not accept the requirements of the National Greyhound Breeders & Racing association, all Oregon breeders of dogs, save one, are said to be prohibited from entering their dogs in the Portland races, Kreutzer declared.

"Only a few outlaw dogs are now entered in the Portland meet," a formal statement issued

Confessed Kidnaper Attended Hauptmann Trial

Here are two views of Harmon M. Waley, 24, who with his wife, Margaret, 22, was arrested in Salt Lake City, and confessed the perpetration of the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping at Tacoma, Wash. Waley was seized following his wife's capture in a five-and-ten store as she was attempting to pass some of the $200,000 ransom money. Breaking down under severe grilling, she confessed and told the authorities where to find her husband. Waley subsequently broke down also and confessed. Between them they got only $17,500 of the ransom money, they said. Under the laws of Washington, both face the death penalty. It was learned that the pair attended several sessions of the Bruno Hauptmann trial in Flemington, N. J. Their home was in Salt Lake City, where they lived under the name of Metz. Waley has a long criminal record, his crime career beginning in Hoquiam, Wash.

by the Oregon Greyhound Breeders association yesterday declared. "The Multnomah Kennel club has imported dogs from unknown sources in order to make any kind of a showing in its racing meet. The greed of the promoters for easy profits at the expense of dog owners, will result in a poorer grade of greyhounds and in making tramps out of their owners."

"Notwithstanding requirements of the state racing commission that race promoters shall not own dogs, the Multnomah Kennel club has this year advanced thousands of dollars to non-resident breeders and guaranteed their expenses if they would bring dogs to Oregon. Thus we have the spectacle of having racing in Oregon closed to the recognized breeders of registered greyhounds, while non-resident race promoters scour the country with their money to import into Oregon a mongrel assortment of greyhounds," the statement read.

The standard contract of the National Greyhound Breeders & Racing association calls for purses for the dogs totaling 3 percent of the total wagers each week, with a minimum of $510 in purses each night. The Multnomah Kennel club, instead, pays a flat amount each night, a sum which in 1934, Oregon greyhound owners declare, did not exceed the net profit of the racing promoters.

According to the greyhound raisers, the 500 dogs necessary for a successful racing meet represent an investment of $200,000 or an average of $400 a dog. This is double the investment of the Multnomah Kennel club, they say. "Yet the non-resident owners of the Kennel club after writing off a large share of their investment, took out a profit of $37,000 last year while the dog owners barely paid their expenses attending the meeting," the formal statement of the Oregon association read.

At tomorrow's meeting with the commission the Oregon greyhound owners seek to have the commission insist that no dogs not nationally registered be allowed to run. The Oregon greyhound raisers assert that far too few dogs are now available for the Portland meet, that these dogs are being run too often, and that many of the dogs have been incapacitated through overwork.

CHINA REFUSES TO MEET JAP DEMANDS

Ying-Chin, minister of war, at Peiping:

"Prepare for eventualities should the Japanese carry out threats to advance upon Peiping and Tientsin."

Reports from Peiping meanwhile said Japanese authorities were pressing new demands upon General Ho, among them the ousting of all Chinese officials in Hopei province hostile to Japan and their replacement by persons pro-Japanese.

This confirmed reports current here that the Japanese military authorities, whose demands May 29 constituted virtually an ultimatum, had still more sweeping plans in mind.

McNary Moves to Save Bonneville Should PWA End

Even though the public works administration should pass out of existence, the Bonneville project would remain a going federal investment, provided an amendment to the rivers and harbors bill suggested by Senator McNary is approved.

McNary telegraphed Governor Martin yesterday afternoon that the senate commerce committee had included in the rivers and harbors bill language providing for official authorization of the Bonneville project.

"This means that work on the Bonneville project will continue even though the public works administration is abandoned," Governor Martin commented.

SCOUT FINANCIAL DRIVE UNDER WAY

The annual drive to raise Salem's share of the Cascade area Boy Scout official began yesterday with a "kickoff" breakfast held at the Quella and attended by 30 of the budget workers. T. A. Windsharpe, general chairman of the campaign, presided. Rev. George Swift, in an informal speech, stressed the importance of scout work and declared the budget drive would be a success if each man worked diligently to see each of his prospects for a contribution.

Salem's share in the $4300 budget of the area is $2900. Team captains in the local drive will be Walter Zosel, Jacob Fuhrer, C. E. Mudd, F. E. Needham, W. L. Phillips and C. W. Paulus.

James E. Monroe, recently named scout executive here, has been successful in building up the work of the troops. A heavy deficit incurred before his administration, is being steadily retired.

A. C. Haag, chairman of the Cascade area, explained a number of items in the budget and told the scout workers that it was very important that the entire budget be raised.

WIFE LEFT HIM FOR FILIPINO, ASSERTS

Francisco Esperanza Nesparios was his name and he was a Filipino and Inez B. Wheaton openly and privately consorted with him, A. J. Wheaton declared yesterday in an answer and cross-complaint filed in circuit court here. His wife recently sued him for divorce.

Wheaton says his wife's affiliation with the Filipino broke up their home. She says that while she was away from home she began to use a drug, cannabis indica, and that the drug so affected her that she attempted to beat her husband on one occasion.

Wheaton says his wife's actions have humiliated him and caused him to be distrust and unloved.

Wheaton alleges that she deserted him in January, 1934, taking with her some of their two children who were ill at the time. Subsequently Wheaton reclaimed the child he declares.

Transients Get Big Crop From Watered Garden

Hotel de Minto workers have effected mass production of vegetables on a small tract by means of irrigation, according to R. R. Boardman, federal transient relief supervisor here. From the small plot cultivated by the transients, across Shelton creek from the city auto camp, there have to date been taken 115 dozen onions, 82 dozen radishes, 140 pounds of spinach, 210 pounds of lettuce and 75 pounds of chard, he said.

Next week the transients will plant four acres in West Salem to potatoes. Arrangements for use of the ground there were made by the West Salem council and Mayor Guy C. Nugent.

Other vegetables planted in the Salem garden included cabbage, tomatoes, peas, carrots, beets, squash, cucumbers and beans. It is irrigated with water raised from the creek by a large water-wheel.

Martin to Speak To Grange Today

Governor Charles H. Martin was scheduled this morning to leave for McMinnville where he will speak early this afternoon at the state convention of the Oregon Grange. He accepted the invitation to speak Tuesday. Because the administration tangled with leaders of the grange during the last session, the speech was considered an important one at the statehouse yesterday, with Governor Martin anxious to explain in detail his program on development of the agricultural interests of the state as well as the utilization of hydro-electric power generated at Bonneville.

Large Pack of Clams Finished

Thirty-five hundred dozens of the Oregon clams finished today. The clams were packed at the state cannery at Bay Ocean. The next run for the cannery will be shut down for a short time until the cherry canning season begins. The canned clams are stored in the county commissary here and will be disbursed only through relief orders.

Clams Have Been Canned by the Marion County Cannery as the First Run of its 1935 Season

Clams have been canned by the Marion county cannery as the first run of its 1935 season, Roy S. Melson, county commissioner, announced Wednesday. Clams were furnished by the Cooperative colony at Bay Ocean. The next run for the cannery will be shut down for a short time until the cherry canning season begins. Supplied by Mahan with information that Mahan may attempt to reach his old home at Vidora, Saskatchewan, Canada, federal officials deployed a triangular shaped area, with the base at Butte and the top side extending along the Canadian border from Wildhorse to Flathead, an area that covered several hundred square miles.

Salary Revisions Ready Friday for State's Employees

Salary adjustment schedules, affecting employees of all state institutions, with the exception of the Oregon employment office for the adult blind in Portland, will be in the hands of the state board of control by Friday night, Carl Cover, assistant state budget director, announced yesterday.

These adjustments are being made under an act of the 1935 legislative session restoring 10 per cent of the salary reductions made by the 1931 legislature. The adjustments will be retroactive to March 1.

Leslie Awards For Past Year Are Announced

SCHOOL CANDIDATES ISSUE STATEMENTS

Four in Race With Two to Be Elected by Voters Next Monday

The four candidates for election next Monday to the Salem school board replied as follows when asked this week for statements regarding their campaigns:

Mrs. David Wright, present chairman—"I am genuinely interested in the schools and believe my record will show it. I have tried to meet each situation as it saw it and to be as fair as possible to all sides. I have worked for what I believed to be the best interests of both the school child and the taxpayer."

Dr. B. F. Pound, now a director—"If re-elected, I'll continue the same policies that have made it possible to carry on our work so efficiently that we were able to borrow money at the lowest rate of interest ever had by any government body in Oregon. Our outstanding achievement a side from that was that we had plans prepared in advance to go ahead with the playgrounds and two building additions largely at government expense. We have cooperated fully with the government in its relief program."

Professor Herman Clark—"I always think the public schools supported by taxes should teach students good citizenship—develop in youngsters appreciation of our government, its problems, standards and structure—in training to fit them to secure an independent livelihood, and to build good moral character. I believe in administering public money as economically as possible but with maximum compensation to teachers that is fair to the taxpayers. I don't have any pet reforms."

Percy R. Cupper—"I am not running against either candidate. I merely am seeking the office myself."
