removal of young Roosevelt, subject to the action of the state executive committee.
The office of first vice-president of the Texas Young Democratic club has not been legally filled. Dallas county young democrats call upon the state executive committee to declare the office vacant and to exercise its proper power of electing a vice-president at the next regular meeting of the executive committee.
A substitute resolution also calling for Roosevelt's removal was defeated, 16 to 13.

Preliminary hearing will be held in justice court at 9:30 o'clock this morning for C. C. Deter and William Milner, accused of larceny by bailee of 390 turkeys, valued at $1200. The complaint was made by J. E. Parrish, Jefferson turkey grower, who claims the defendants were in charge of turkeys belonging to Parrish, which turkeys they sold wrongfully about January 25. Both defendants are in the county jail in lieu of bail, at first set at $1200 each and later lowered to $500 each. Deter is arrested near Molalla and Milner in Portland.

Mickey Mouse Club Notes

In not more than seventy-five words—write me a letter saying "Why I Attend the Mickey Mouse Matinee"—several valuable prizes will be offered for the best ones.
M. M. C.
Again was honored by a visit from the "Sage of Salem"—D. H. "Dad" Talmadge. "Dad" is a regular connoisseur of the Mickey Mouse matinees—and his competent criticisms have always been looked forward to. One of the things "Dad" always remembers him teaching me — is the statement that "news is names." If one doesn't put a name in a story—then it isn't a story. And then again—with a name in the article the author can always be certain of one interested reader.
M. M. C.

I always like to listen to 'Boots' Grant broadcast over the radio—cause it cheers me up — after someone condemns me for the way my voice sounds. "Boots" always was a swell piano player. "Boots" had a birthday Thursday—swell—maybe now his voice will change.

Kids: Please—when you move be sure to give the Mickey Mouse secretary your change of address.

Wasn't that a swell program we had last week? Well, the rest of the summer they're going to be just as much fun. The "stars" performing were: Mary Beth Vincent, Donald Edwards, Elma Ray, Dean Arhart, Doris Taylor, Curt Williams, Priscilla Simpkins, Alva Rafferty, Freddie Carmical—Eldon Foster and the "Rats"—and Brad Collins—(de guy at da piano).

Introducing Jeannette Arheart, who lives at 925 Union street. Jeannette is fifteen years of age—and very pretty. She assists Brad at the piano, and is one of the most talented girls in Salem. She sings equally as well as she "pounds" the keys.

Great program today—special feature—"SOS Iceberg"—a story of the border patrol in the ice lands—chapter—"Call of the Savage"—and the regular feature—all nonsensical—Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in the "Nit Wits."

Harvest Season Providing Many Jobs in County

Employment in Marion county is on the increase at present but most of the new work is seasonal, much of it cherry and berry picking. Manager D. D. Dotson of the national re-employment agency here reported yesterday. In the last five days the agency has secured jobs for 146 persons. It has approximately 3500 persons registered for work.
The average wage for cherry picking this season is 1 1/2 cents, a gain of a quarter cent over 1934, Dotson said.

School Building Insurance Lower

A substantial reduction in fire insurance rates on "A" and "B" school buildings was announced Friday by Hugh Earle, state insurance commissioner. The reduction followed a survey by the insurance department of this class of construction.
Surveys involving other classes of risks will be made during the year, Earle said.

work on the amendment, which would let the federal government tax securities henceforth issued by state and local governments to allow state and local governments to rely on federal securities.
The question has been actively before Summers' committee for two years or more. Polis had shown favorable sentiment. Little difficulty was looked for in bringing the measure to the floor unless the treasury interposes objections—as it has in the past—on the ground that congressional submission of an amendment would interfere with the federal financing program.
The situation on the other share-of-the-wealth taxes went unchanged, for none could say definitely whether the President wanted those enacted this session. A majority of democratic leaders proposed to leave them over until next session, contending there was not time left to consider new levies on gifts, inheritances, big incomes and corporation receipts.

Nickerson stated that the head of the so-called northwest joint strike committee, Orville Smith, has received a telegram from William L. Hutcheson of Indianapolis, international president of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, that the brotherhood does not recognize any actions of Smith's organization.
"Mur is in charge of the situation in the northwest," Hutcheson advised Smith, according to a copy of the telegram produced by Nickerson. "Your activities are retarding the progress of the workers."

JACK COOGAN SUED FOR HALF-MILLION

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—(AP)—Jackie Coogan, film actor, was named defendant today in two damage suits, each asking for $50,000, in connection with the automobile accident near San Diego last month in which his father and three other persons were killed.
The suits, filed by Grace Durkin and Mrs. Ann V. Horner, allege that the automobile was owned by Jackie Coogan, and that although the elder Coogan was driving "while under the influence of liquor," his son failed to remonstrate with him and cause him to slow down.
Miss Durkin's brother, Trent Junior Durkin, actor; Mrs. Horner's son, Robert J. Horner, playwright, and Charles Jones, foreman of the Coogan ranch near San Diego, also were killed in the accident, May 4.

time in the vicinity of Raymond and Hoquiam.
The ransom note, which demanded $200,000 from "To Whom It May Concern" originally was devised by Dainard, Connelley said, but Waley rewrote it while the two were in Seattle.
Several cross-state trips occupied Waley and Dainard until about May 18 when they rented an apartment in Seattle.
The notice in the papers of the death of John P. Weyerhaeuser, sr., prompted them to choose that family for the "snatch", Connelley said, and they went to Tacoma to observe the habits of the Weyerhaeuser family on the theory that they would have considerable ready money.

mill. Littlefield said the officer was attacked by pickets and others recruited to help them, and was warned to move out or suffer injury.
A short time later, when the mill's 300 employes reported for work, the real battle started.
Littlefield said the pickets blocked the employes' approach to the mill and finally began hurling rocks. The mass fighting ensued.
Pickets and mill workers went at each other with rocks, bricks and bats. A riot call brought a police car with five officers.
Littlefield said the police fired after their car had been stoned. One man fell, fatally wounded. Littlefield said other rioters made a dash for the police car and his men fired several more shots.
Littlefield, who said all the shots fired were from police guns, was cut by flying glass. Police Captain Thomas Rutledge and Officers Peter Carroll and Harry Albee were hurt but continued efforts to halt the violence pending the arrival of reinforcements.
Although the mill had been picketed for about five weeks, the number of strikes was less than 10 per cent of the employes on the job, Littlefield said. The previous picketing had been peaceful.
The police chief asserted, however, that the number of men attacking the employes was far in excess of the total known to be on strike, indicating they had recruited help for the melee. He would not estimate the number involved in the rioting.
