OLE SATERN VIEWS OLDEST PARSONAGE

Ancient House with Eight Bedrooms Occupied By Relative

SILVERTON, June 28 - Ole Satern, who has been a resident of the Silverton country for 42 and Luella Forland, violins; Doroyears returned this week from a brief visit to Stanwood, Wash., where the Saterns lived prior to struments. The girls call themcoming to Silverton. At Stanwood Mr. Satern was a guest at the old Rev. Christian Jorgenson home, the late uncle of Mrs. Satern. Rev. Mr. Jorgenson had been one of the pioneer ministers on the Pacific Coast and was one of the very first Lutheran ministers to come west.

The old Jorgenson home where Mr. Satern visited, is a large rambling house with eight bedrooms and is said to be the first Lutheran parsonage on the coast. A portion of the horse has been left just as the Rev. Mr. Jorgenyears ago. His study is intact books, many of them over 400 Bradtl residence. years old. Five children of the ried, still live on the old .. omepioneer ministry on the coast Idaho state police force. traveled through Oregon and Washington, to deliver sermons, Silverton.

Mr. Satern mentioned of particular interest the rich soil in the Stanwood district. He recalled a particular hay field on the Jorgenson farm from which hay was being harvested 42 years ago. This field was still, he reported, giving a heavy vield of hav and it had never been ploughed nor sowed during the '2 years.

On the return trip to Silverton. Mr. Satern and his party visited at the Edwin Tingelatad home at Parkland, Wash., where Mr. Tingelstad, formerly principal of the Silverton high school, is now editing a paper.

CHICKEN SHORTAGE

PORTLAND, June 28. - (AP) generally showing in the local trade. There was a good de-tically all offerings. Chief shortage continued in the killers tried to advance the selling price on these 1/2 to 1c th. but met with little or no success but did not change materially the buying price. Conditions within the butter trade were generally of steady character in all parts of the country. No further changes were shown here on the open market for the day.

While quality eggs were getting scarce, a fair supply was reported generally although some operators report a liberal decrease during the last few days of hot weather.

Exceptionally good tone was showing for country killed meats considering weather conditions with all prices well maintained as a rule except for beef, which remained slow.

It was after the return from a trip along the Santiam that Mr. Jack decided to build himself a miniature of the natural gardens The Jack home is fortunately situated along the banks of Silver Creek, which made the building of the rock garden easy and gave it a natural appearance. Little streams and water falls, tiny foot bridges and plantings of ferns. shrubs, mosses, sedums and other rock-loving growth have combined to make the sloping rock garden interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack regret to report that the abundance of lily bloom is far less than in former years. The gardens will be illuminated from 8:30 to 11:30 Sunday evening.

Rain Too Late for Brush Creek Farms; Hay Crop Excellent

BRUSH CREEK, June 28. Brush Creek farmers are reporting that the rain which fell Friday morning was not as welcome as it would have been a week or even 10 days ago. Much of the flax, which failed to make growth because of the extreme dryness, has been plowed up. Spring grain here will amount to little or nothing. Fall sown grain in exceptionally fine, farmers report,

The hay crop, also very good, s practically all in the stage of being harvested and farmers were in hopes rain would hold off until the hay was in shelter. The seed crop on the Victor S. Madsen farm is also in the process of harvesting now.
