Wedding at 8.30 Is Church Event Tonight

The candle-lit recesses of the Calvary Baptist church will be the setting for a quiet wedding tonight which will unite Miss Janet McAllister and Roy C. Warren at 8:30 p. m.

Rev. W. C. Driver of Portland will officiate and W. R. Powers will give his niece in marriage. Miss Barbara Barham will play as the procession; the march from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's march as the recessional.

Mrs. Otto J. Yunker, Jr. will sing "At Dawning" and "Because."

The bride will wear an attractive model of ivory satin fashioned along simple lines. Her bouquet will be of white sweet peas. Cecil Brunner roses and butterfly roses. She will be attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Ann McAllister. Her bridesmaids are Miss Barbara Barham in pink lace and she will carry pink sweet peas and baby breath.

Ray Warren will attend his brother as best man and ushers are Wilbur Harms, Charles Warren and Leland McClain of Albany.

Reception will follow at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Powers on the Portland road. The guest rooms will be profusely decorated with garden flowers and the serving table will be covered with a lace cloth and center with a crystal bowl of pinks and daisies guarded by pink tapers in crystal holders.

Presiding at the urns will be Mrs. Ray Warren and Mrs. Walter Barham. Servant will be Mrs. Kenneth Blair of Portland, Miss Clara Harms of Miss Martha Lever of Minerville, Miss Martha Lever of Minerville.

For traveling the bride has selected a navy blue suit with white accessories. After a wedding trip to the Oregon beaches and through Yellowknife national park, the couple will make their home at Lodge Grove.

Both young people are graduates of Linfield college and well known in the young set here. Miss McAllister is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McAllister and Mr. Warren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Warren.

Minto-Page Entertain Salem Visitors

Mrs. Douglas Minto and Mrs. Leo Page will entertain informally with a tea Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5:30 o'clock to be given in honor of Mrs. Paul Schmidt and Mrs. Fred Cornell, who are visiting from Los Angeles.

Around sixty of Salem's prominent society folk are expected to attend. This is Mrs. Schmidt's first visit to Salem after an absence of 15 years.

Several parties have been scheduled for the week complimenting the visitors. Wednesday night the will be entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Benson. Thursday night 30 guests will be invited to dine at the country place of Mr. and Mrs. John Brophy and for a Friday luncheon the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Furton will form a perfect setting.

Smiths Feting Cousin as House Guest

Mrs. Will Dillmon Smith and Miss Grace Elisabeth Smith have as their house guest their cousin, Miss Freda Smith of Oakland, Calif., who arrived in Salem Monday night.

Miss Smith is the junior past president of the Oakland Business and Professional Women's club. She is stopping here en route to Seattle where she will represent the Oakland B. and P. W. club as a delegate to the national convention which convenes at Seattle July 14 to 20. She will be here until Friday.

1300 Turn Out to Hear Camp Group in Mead's Grove

A large crowd, estimated to be about 1300, packed the big tent and grounds at the interdenominational camp meeting in Mead's Grove at Brunk's Corner last night. Mrs. Walter Peterson, pastor of the Falls City Christian church, gave a chatty talk. The young men's quartet of the Salem Nazarene church sang, and the Dallas Evangelical, Salem Salvation Army and Four-Square orchestras combined for special music.

Rev. Willard H. Pope, pastor of the Calvary tabernacle of Portland, showed four reels of moving pictures taken on his recent trip through the Holy Land.

Mr. Pope preached, taking up the fulfillment of prophecy of the bible as he observed it while in Jerusalem. He feels convinced the great day for the Jewish people is at hand, and that their kingdom will soon be actually re-established at Jerusalem, and all things predicted in the bible fulfilled. At a later date he will come to Salem to lecture and show his pictures.

Tonight, the 22-piece Salvation Army band will play at the camp, and other delegations will assist with the services. There are three meetings daily all this week. There is no charge for any of the attractions at the camp or for camping privileges in the tent city.

Warrants Must Be Paid, Court Rules

School district No. 30 in Clatsop county must pay in full $19,522 of school warrants it had issued, warrants held by the Astoria National bank, insolvent. The supreme court determined the issue yesterday when it upheld the opinion of Circuit Judge Howard K. Zimmerman in the suit of John H. Cole, receiver of the bank, against the school district. The directors were ordered to levy a minimum of $5000 in taxes annually to pay off the obligation.

Troopers to Don Campaign "Lids"

All state troopers here yesterday were following the lead of the game law enforcement division by donning blue-gray campaign hats. The new felt hats, replacing the Pershing caps that had been standard attire for all but the game officers, have been made the regulation headgear for all members of the department by Superintendent Charles P. Pray. Game officers under Pray have worn the campaign hats since the state police department was organized.

Klinger Case Waits

SILVERTON, July 9.—Trial of the state's case against Ernst Klinger which was to have been heard this afternoon before Justice Frank Alfred was continued for further investigation by the district attorney. Klinger was charged with assault and battery, it being reported that he beat Mrs. Joe Wills, a woman of more than 60.

Mrs. Snell Said on Recovery Way

Mrs. Earl Snell, wife of the secretary of state, was reported yesterday to be recovering satisfactorily from an operation she underwent at a hospital in The Dalles Monday. Her husband remained with her for the operation. He will be back at his office this morning and will attend the scheduled meeting of the board of control.

ITALIAN SQUASH IS PRODUCED LOCALLY

First commercially grown scania or Italian squash in this section appeared on the market here yesterday, and if the housewife takes kindly to the product, growing will be profitable for farmers, states Lewis Geist of Busick's produce department.

The Italian squash have been on the market here, from California, but are not generally known. However, with experience showing they can be grown here, and with delicious dishes possible from them, Geist believes they will become popular. Forty recipes including the more common frying, cooking for salads and creaming are claimed for the Italian squash.

Reid Producers Here

A. E. Reid of the Stayton farming area introduced the Italian squash here, and this year has an acre in commercial bearing. The squash resembles a cucumber, only the skin looks more tender and the color is slightly different in shade. It is not permitted to grow as large as many cucumbers, because it is more succulent in the smaller stage.

Reid reports the Italian squash bears a heavy crop. The first offerings brought to the market here yesterday sold over the counter at two pounds for 15 cents.

WOODBURN BEATS MOLALLA, 8 TO 4

WOODBURN, July 9.—The Woodburn Town baseball team defeated Molalla last Sunday, 8 to 4. The game was a feature of the Buckaroo program.

Magazine Ed Shoots Self; Drew Big Pay

BEVERLY HILLS, July 9.—(AP)—Ray Long, 54, widely known magazine editor and writer, died tonight in the emergency hospital here from a gunshot wound in the mouth.

Found in the bedroom of his home, Long was unconscious, and there was a small rifle at his side, Glenn Blair, ambulance driver, said.

Blair and his assistant, George Kern, said the wound appeared to have been self-inflicted.

Dr. R. C. Nelson operated immediately but Long died within a few moments, without regaining consciousness.

Blair and Kern said they were summoned to the house, at 601 Camden Drive, by a woman who said she was the maid. When they arrived, they found Long's body in his bedroom, they said.

Detectives were immediately dispatched to the house to examine the quarters.

Long, who for 12 years was editor of Cosmopolitan magazine and president and editor of the International Magazine company publishing it, Good Housekeeping and other magazines, was said to have been then the highest paid editor of any time, receiving in salary and company profits some $180,000 a year.

He was born in Lebanon, Ind., March 23, 1878, educated in Indianapolis schools and began his first newspaper work on the Indianapolis News in 1900. He became managing editor of the Cincinnati Post in 1905 and worked in a similar capacity for the Cleveland Press.
