

AGED MATRON CAME WEST BY OX TEAM

HAZEL GREEN, July 13. — Thursday Mrs. Ellen Van Cleave celebrated her 90th birthday. Her youngest sister, Mrs. Louise Johnson was present. Mrs. Van Cleave is strong for her age, doing her work except washing. Working in her garden four years ago she fell and broke her hip. Mrs. Van Cleave came by ox team in 1864 with her father's family, Adam Brombaugh, from Iowa. She and sister, Matilda, rode horseback. In Iowa, Aunt Ellen, as she is called by the community, rode in the election parades in the campaign electing Abraham Lincoln. The Brombaugh family located here on a farm now owned by sister, Mrs. Louise Johnson. Here Ellen Brombaugh married John Van Cleave of the same train soon after arrival. They settled in eastern Oregon near Ione. They had three children. The daughter died during childhood, son, Frank, lives in Spokane, A. T. here. Mr. Van Cleave died seven years ago. Miss Carolyn Williamson assisted by her sisters, Mrs. Henderson, Stayton, Mrs. Henry Kholer, Mrs. Harold Burns and Miss Bertha Williamson, Salem, entertained with a party honoring their father, N. P. Williamson on his 84th birthday Wednesday. In addition to honor guest and hostesses, there were present J. Henderson, Stayton; Henry Kholer, Harold Burns and little daughter, Eleanor, Salem; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williamson and sons, Donald Zielinski and Alois, Miss Eleanor Boyles, Mr. Peterson, Mr. Thomas and Miss Margaret Fedders, Stayton; Mrs. Ray Boone, Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kentz, Labish Center; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Garberino and little daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Kasper, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Massie and Julius Deering.

Bits for Breakfast

(Continued from page 4)

We concluded to head our vessel for a second Ararat—

"And, Thursday about noon, we altered our course and ran for land, and at 6 p. m. we entered the harbor of Trinidad once more; were very thankful to enjoy a little calm once more. Remained this time three days; 'wooded up' one more, and, on Monday morning, hoisted anchor and set our course for Crescent City.

"The gale having subsided, we sailed on with gentle breezes and a calm sea, and, on Tuesday evening, we entered Coos bay; anchored off the city about 6 p. m.

"The city presented quite a respectable appearance. There were a few decent houses, a hotel and a stockade fort. There are no churches in these 'cities', and very little if any society. They are merely trading posts, for supplying the interior miners and hunters with provisions.

(Continued on Tuesday.)

How Does Your Garden Grow?

SOMETIME AGO a correspondent asked me whether or not it was necessary for people to have a license to sell their plants at country homes, and also if these plants were subject to inspection.

I am told a nurseryman's license is required for anything except cut flowers and vegetable plants, and that the bulbs, flower plants or shrubs must be inspected in the greenhouse or at the stand before they are sold. I hope this answers the inquiry satisfactorily. If not, do not hesitate to write.

Lillie L. Madson again.

In June a gardener wrote to ask what ailed her violets as the foliage was turning white. Plant pathologists at our state college, gave me the following information this week:

"The violet trouble is one which is classified under the general name chlorosis. Chlorosis usually results from the lack of an available element in the soil which ordinarily does not serve as a growth limiting plant food. For example, chlorosis may result from not having the right type of iron present. In the violet case it is possible that the plants were exposed to either a dilute dosage of an iron salt such as one called ferric sulfate, at the rate of one teaspoonful of the chemical to a gallon of water, or to a dusting with some zinc mixture."

I understand there is on the market at the present time a sulfur mixture known under the name of vigroicide especially designed for plants which are exhibiting the kind of foliage trouble that violets are.

"Is a square pool or an odd shaped lily pool better?" asks a Monmouth reader.

I should say this would depend entirely upon the garden. If your garden is formal, a square pool may suit the arrangement better. If your garden follows nature somewhat, the lines will probably not be so straight, as nature knows few straight lines. No pool should be smaller than 20 square feet. Make it wider in one end than the other, or make it curve slightly somewhat after the form of a moon in its first quarter—but do not strive after too perfect a moon.

The water should be about three feet deep even in the 20-foot square pool. Waterproof cement should be used, and when it is dry, it should be thoroughly scrubbed and rinsed out a number of times before the fish are put in, or the fish will not survive. Scales from the cement are very injurious to fish. Whenever the pool is cleaned out, the fish should be caught in a net and put into a bucket of water until the pool has been refilled. Care should be used to have the waters about the same temperature, as gold fish cannot stand sudden changes of water temperatures.

Another pool gardener wrote me a short time ago in some wrath because her gold fish had given birth to black fish.

"Are there no honest goldfish dealers? Or are there no such things as purebred gold fish?" she wanted to know, adding, "Every single little fish of mine is black."

I'll admit that this somewhat startled me some years ago when I first saw tiny goldfish that were not, after all, gold. But I found that all little goldfish were black, and that they remain black for almost a year, and following being black, turn white, before they obtain their natural gold color.

Water lilies seem to be better if planted in boxes in the pools. The soil in which they are planted may be three parts rather heavy garden soil mixed with about one part of well-rotted manure. A covering of sand will help keep the water clear. One water lily grower recently suggested a handful of bonemeal placed on the lily roots once a month during the summer to keep them growing and producing well.

Seed Harvest Starts In Paradise Valley

BRUSH CREEK, July 13. — Seed harvest is under way on the Madson farms on Paradise Alley. Rutabaga and turnip seed are being harvested at the present time. In a short time the harvest of kale seed will begin. Elmer Grace, Milo Grace and Irl Grace have been in charge of the harvesting.

Vegetable seeds have been grown on the Madson farm since 1905.

Seed Harvest Starts In Paradise Valley

BRUSH CREEK, July 13. — Seed harvest is under way on the Madson farms on Paradise Alley. Rutabaga and turnip seed are being harvested at the present time. In a short time the harvest of kale seed will begin. Elmer Grace, Milo Grace and Irl Grace have been in charge of the harvesting.

Vegetable seeds have been grown on the Madson farm since 1905.

POLLY AND HER PALS

WHAT'S TH' COUNTRY COMIN' TO? WOMEN WEARIN' THESE DARNED DRESSES WITH NO BACK TO 'EM!

WELL, S'LONG, FOLKS. I'M OFF TO THE LAWN PARTY.

MICKEY MOUSE

YUH'LL PAY FER THIS! I'LL GIT YUH!

SO LONG, PETE! WE GOTTA BE GOIN' NOW!

SQUINCH! SHAKE A LEG! GIT ME OUTA THIS!

I SEE OLD SOUR-PUSS HAS COME TO!

YEH! WE'RE PULLIN' OUT JUST IN TIME!

THIMBLE THEATRE—Starring Popeye

SIR, YOU CANNOT DRIVE US FROM THIS CONTINENT—IT OUBS BY RIGHT OF DISCOVERY—GOOD DAY, SIR.

OH, YEAH?

YOU CAN'T PUT US OFF! WE WERE HERE FIRST! WHAT'S THE NAME, PLEASE? I DON'T THINK WE EVER BEEN INTRODUCED.

GOOD DAY, SIR.

WHY, YOU —!

LET'S YOU AND HIM FIGHT!

GO 'WAY AND LET US ALONE!

GIVE IT TO HIM, MISS OYL. HE CAN'T RULE US THE LOFTY RASCAL!

GOOD DAY, SIR.

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

GLORYOSKY, ZERO—AIN'T GOING TO SCHOOL. WELL? IT AIN'T AS NICE AS IT WOULD BE IF I WAS GOING TO SCHOOL LIKE REGULAR KIDS DOES—AN' HAD A TEACHER AN' EVERYTHING.

BUT IT'S LOTS BETTER'N NOT GOING TO SCHOOL AT ALL—I STUDY AWFUL HARD—AN' HONEST, I THINK I'M LEARNIN' A LITTLE BIT—EVEN IF THERE AIN'T NO TEACHER TO HELP ME.

I'LL BETCHA IF THERE WAS A TEACHER SHED BE GLAD TO SEE WE KEEP THE SCHOOLROOM NICE AN' CLEAN ALL THE TIME—GET ME THE BROOM.

HONEST, ZERO—YOU'RE LEARNIN' THINGS, TOO—YOU NEVER DID KNOW HOW TO CARRY A BROOM UNTIL YOU STARTED GOING TO SCHOOL.

TOOTS AND CASPER

I'VE GOTTA BE GOIN', TOOTS—I'M DUE AT THE MOVIE STUDIO AT TWO O'CLOCK, AND I'VE JUST TIME TO GET THERE!

WISH ME LUCK, COLONEL HOOFER, BECAUSE THE BIG MOMENT IS AT HAND WHEN I'M TO TAKE MY SCREEN TEST!

HERE'S THE STUDIO—LOTS OF FAMOUS STARS WORK HERE AND I HOPE I'LL SOON BE ONE OF THEM!

YOU'RE MR. CASPER! OH, YES—THE PRESIDENT WISHES TO SEE YOU IN HIS PRIVATE OFFICE—

LEAD THE WAY, BUDDY! LEAD THE WAY!

HARVEST STARTING IN EARLY GRAIN

DAYTON, Ore., July 13. — Farmers are "making hay while the sun shines." Balers are running in fields where surplus tonnage was raised. Barns on majority of farms are filled to capacity. Much of the early fall sown grain is bound and in shock and threshers will soon be busy. The late sown spring grain has been greatly benefited by the showers of one week ago.

Twenty-five members of the Dayton Christian church missionary society attended the one o'clock luncheon and regular monthly meeting held in the Dayton park Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Claribel Pine conducted the devotionals and Mrs. Herman Louis had charge of the lesson.

Twelve members attended the regular monthly meeting of the Past Noble Grand club of Naomi Rebekah lodge, No. 83, of Dayton, at the home of Miss Lena Stillwell Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. W. Loret was joint hostess and assisted Miss Stillwell in serving very delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be an all day picnic in the mountains beyond McMinnville. Mrs. Orr C. Goodrich and Mrs. Ray Berry will be joint hostesses.

BINDERS OPERATING

OAK POINT, July 12. — The first binder to be heard running in this community was cutting barley on the Joe Rogers farm the first of this week. J. A. Peterson, sr., started cutting a field of fall wheat Friday. The fall wheat is good although the acreage is small.

Sage of Salem

(Continued from page 4)

tion of ideas is one thing that is the matter with this country.

An average of quality is about all we may expect of anything. Even allowances must sometimes be made for the news published in the papers. I once knew an editor in a rural town who stated in his paper that the community was in the grip of an epidemic of influenza, when the actual fact was that he and a man down by the depot were the only victims.

"Prominent citizen" is a familiar term to all readers of news. It may mean one thing or it may mean another. I reckon a man may safely be termed a prominent citizen when his illness is referred to as an epidemic.

Personal: Mrs. Lael Albright, of the Needham bookstore, has returned from a vacation at the seashore. . . . Elvina Kasberg, cashier of the Capitol theatre, is on vacation. . . . Helen Borrego, of the Grand theatre staff, was a recent visitor at Neskonimby-the-Sea. . . . O. O. McIntyre, New York columnist, is accused by another New York columnist of kidnapping his (the other columnist's) brain children, which is one of the things that happen to folks when they become more successful than other folks. . . . Bob Burdette, doorman at the Capitol theatre, is off to the coast this (Sunday) morning for a week's vacation. . . . 250 personal items—portraits of Mickey Mouse club members—are on display in the Elsinore foyer. . . . Mrs. Minnie White Vogt of San Francisco, who, in the days when moving pictures and radio were unknown, toured the middle west as an elocutionist in company with May Barrell of Boston, contractor, died at Cannon Beach July 5, where she and Mrs. Kittie White of Seattle, her sister-in-law, were guests of the G. A. Woods of Salem. She was 89 years old.

SHELBURN MAN IS LAID TO REST

SHELBURN, July 13.—Monday afternoon at the Franklin Butte cemetery Truman Phillips Lukensbach, 63, was laid to rest beside his wife. Mr. Lukensbach was born in Pennsylvania but when a small boy moved to Nebraska. In 1900 he was united in marriage to Miss Inez Farrow. In 1911 they moved to this community. He is survived by two sons, Henry of Sherwood, Ore., and Leonard of Fort Douglas, Utah. One daughter, Mrs. Albert Boedighelmer of Shelburn. Three daughters and one son preceded him in death.

Mr. Lukensbach died July 4 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Boedighelmer at Shelburn.

Alison Vernon, Harry Chrisman and Charles Leffler have installed electricity to their farm homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lukensbach of Fort Douglas, Utah, are spending some time in this community. Mr. Lukensbach was called home by the death of his father.

Wyman Bros. have completed building an annex to their farm home which included a kitchen and bath room. Mr. Hammer of West Stayton did the carpentry work.

PIONEER CHURCH HONORS BIRTHDAY

TURNER, July 13.—The seventy-seventh anniversary of the organization of the pioneer Pleasant Grove Presbyterian church will be held Sunday, July 21, with the pastor, Rev. J. Y. Stewart occupying the pulpit for the morning 11 o'clock service. Following the customary noon basket lunch, the afternoon session will be addressed by Rev. James McAuley of Mill City. For a number of years old members of the church and friends have gathered to honor the memory of the faithful pioneers, and to worship in the historic church, the oldest Presbyterian church west of the Rocky mountains, situated about five miles southeast of Turner. It was built in 1858, by the inspiration of Rev. Philip Condit and sons, Cyrus and Sylvanus, who were early pioneers, and were numbered with the nine charter members of the church organization.

The building is surprisingly well preserved, and the original pulpit and pews fashioned by the Condit family, are in use as are the first pulpit bible and original stove. The roof has been renewed, a porch added and a few minor repairs made. Pleasant Grove cemetery joins the church grounds, where lay the pioneer church people and their descendants.

of the church organization. The building is surprisingly well preserved, and the original pulpit and pews fashioned by the Condit family, are in use as are the first pulpit bible and original stove. The roof has been renewed, a porch added and a few minor repairs made. Pleasant Grove cemetery joins the church grounds, where lay the pioneer church people and their descendants.

To Spend Summer With Parents Here

SILVERTON, July 13.—Vivian Cramer, who has been teaching at Riverside, Calif., is expected to arrive home for the summer to spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cramer. Miss Cramer was graduated from the Silverton high school several years ago, later finishing a college course at Oregon State. She has not visited at Silverton for some time.

Another daughter, Nana, is employed as a proofreader at Riverside.

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT GUM
THE PERFECT LAST
COOLING

By CLIFF STERRETT

TH' ONLY REASON SHE'S WEARIN' THAT DRESS IS ON ACCOUNT O' MOSQUITOES!

By WALT DISNEY

SHUT UP! AND PUSH, WILL YUH?

By SEGAR

LET'S YOU AND HIM FIGHT!

By BRANDON WALSH

GO 'WAY AND LET US ALONE!

By JIMMY MURPHY

YOU'RE MR. CASPER! OH, YES—THE PRESIDENT WISHES TO SEE YOU IN HIS PRIVATE OFFICE—

Cross-Word Puzzle

By EUGENE SHEFFER

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31	32	33	34	35	36	37	38	39
40	41	42	43	44	45	46	47	48	49	50	51	52
53	54	55	56	57	58	59	60	61	62	63	64	65
66	67	68	69	70	71	72	73	74	75	76	77	78

- HORIZONTAL
- food fish
 - coarse hominy
 - gaiters
 - rounded projection
 - allegation of fact
 - song of joy
 - in excess
 - gone out of one's possession
 - place of contest
 - large birds
 - oily
 - to raise
 - animal of cat family
 - new
 - case of a noun
 - rash
 - clerical
 - challenged
 - largest continent
 - loud cries
 - a fish
 - woolen material
 - not fixed in metal
 - pen for swine
 - one who ridicules
 - snare
 - watch
 - thorough-fares
 - degrade
- VERTICAL
- plant
 - small, mean house
 - white poplar
 - deduce
 - grapes
 - order
 - infallible
 - bevel the ends
 - the evange-list
 - the first garden
 - invoke beneficial attributes
 - touch
 - cessation
 - slant
 - small, mean house
 - machine for raising weights
 - sidelong looks
 - person of great stature
 - rainbow
 - emission
 - form into collective body
 - on the ocean
 - soiling matter
 - stir up
 - perforate
 - one keeping watch
 - period of session
 - one of two coils forming a T connection
 - quench
 - musical exercise
 - fatigues
 - small
 - silent
 - pernicious
 - solution used by tanners
 - hint
 - mythological being

Herewith is the solution to Saturday's puzzle.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31	32	33	34	35	36	37	38	39
40	41	42	43	44	45	46	47	48	49	50	51	52
53	54	55	56	57	58	59	60	61	62	63	64	65
66	67	68	69	70	71	72	73	74	75	76	77	78