Budge and Allison Beaten As British Clean up; Vets Will Retire

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 30-(P)-The American Davis cup tennis regime, which has been fighting unsuccessfully to regain the trophy annually since losing it to France in 1927 came to the end of the road again today as England's forces completed the most painful rout inflicted on a U. S. team in 24 years.

England swept all five matches and brought to a magnificent finish her second straight defense against America of the trophy wrested from France two years ago. It was England's eighth cup victory since the international series started.

A few minutes after H. W. "Bunny" Austin and Fred J. Perry had defeated Don Budge and Wilmer Allison, respectively, giving Great Britain a whitewash victory over the United States, Allison announced his retirement from Davis cup play. His veteran doubles partner, Johnny Van Ryn, said he felt just about the same way.

Yanks Win Set Each The 20-year-old California phenomenon became the victim of the fourth point when he bowed to opener, 8 to 6. Austin in four sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-8, 7-5, giving the Briton revenge for the defeat administered by Budge in the quarter finals of the all-England championships. Perry finished Allison in four sets, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3, and completed the rout.

The Americans were a discouraged lot but were able to see one glimmer of sunlight in Budge's bright red hair.

"I think he has made a great showing for his first time over said Harry Hillman, Dartmouth Seattle22 20 to build future teams around," college track coach and trainer of the U. S. team.
