

Bakers Taste Revenge, Spoil Butchers' Chance For Tie

WALT'S BARELY AVERT SHUTOUT

Master Bread's 6-1 Victory in 3d Place Knot; Bros. Trim Papermen 13-2

Master Bread, shut out by Walt's 10 to 0 last half, rose up for revenge last night and came close to a shutout as they topped the popular Butchers for a chance at a three-way tie for first place. Master Bread won 6 to 1 in the biggest upset since the Eagles knocked over Kay's in the final game of the first half. The victory put Master Bread in a tie with Walt's for third place and virtually eliminated the Butchers from any hope of vying for the city championship. Walt's have one more scheduled game, with the Eagles.

Bakers Show Stuff
The Bakers played their best game of the season, performing creditably in every department. They took an even dozen blows off Ritchie and bunched most of them. They fielded almost a perfect game with only one bobble. Bahburg, comfortably encoached behind a four-run lead from the first inning, put more stuff on the ball than he ever has and held Walt's to six scattered hits. He was heading for a shutout until Craig doubled in the seventh, took third on a wild pitch and scored on the Baker's only error of the game.

The Master Bread hitters began to pound Ritchie's offerings in the first inning. Kelly, first up, fouled out to the catcher and then Pemberton and Varley singled. Herberger singled to drive in the first score and then Gentskow bit into one that went deep in center field for a home run, cleaning the bases.

Another hit by Gentskow and singles by Drynan and Groves netted the final two runs in the third.
Walt's sole rally came in the seventh when Craig started it off with his two-bagger. After Craig scored Dunn and Ritchie got on but Filsinger grounded out to nip the rally short. In only two innings did more than four batters face Bahburg.

Master Bread loaded the bases in the fifth with only one down but Bahburg flied out and Kelly grounded out to Craig to save Walt's deeper chagrin.

Tally 6 on 5 Hits
Hogz Bros. defeated the Papermen 13 to 2 in a free hitting contest. The Papermen scored twice in the first inning and from then on were scoreless although they took 13 blows off Nick Serdotz' delivery. The Brothers scored six runs on five hits in the second, added two in the third two in the fifth and three in the ninth.

Mystery Man of the Ring

By BURNLEY

MYSTERIOUS Max Baer, the enigma of the ring, remains the outstanding puzzle of heavyweight history, and his fistie future is just as hard to figure as his past.

Various explanations have been advanced to account for the big bad Baer's pitiful efforts against Braddock, and none of them seem to be really adequate.

That Baer's hands were in bad shape before the fight is true. That he broke either or both of his hands during the fight is not true. Madcap Max didn't hit Braddock hard enough to dent a balloon, much less break a bone in his own mitt.

Again, why didn't Max have his hands "frozen" with an opiate before the bout? That is what all fighters with injured hands do, and they are able to punch with the deadened mitts until the opiate wears off, which is not till after about 8 or 9 rounds.

Once more, it must be said that Baer's hands were in poor condition before nearly all of his other fights, and still he punched hard enough with the damaged maulers to put Schmeling, Carnera and Levinisky to sleep.

Maxie's clowning tendencies, so much in evidence during the Braddock fiasco, have been blamed as the cause of his defeat, but Baer always did plenty of clowning in his other battles, and that never prevented him from unleashing a deadly rain of lethal leather when the occasion demanded.

Fistiana's "human screwball" is admittedly somewhat eccentric and his recent marital escapades have only emphasized this fact. How he could have been crazy enough to throw away the highly valued heavyweight crown without even putting up a semblance of a struggle is something nobody has been able to answer satisfactorily to this day.

Caustic Carries on

Crowds of 2000 at softball games do their bit to swell the treasury of the Salem Softball association. The league has been having the best year of its history and doing a great deal of good in passing out cheap entertainment. Spending money to go to a softball game in Salem should be listed as one of the most practical of investments.

The money which the Salem Softball association collects from the fans all goes back, indirectly, to the sport lovers of Salem. At present the project for which the money is being used is to pay off the indebtedness on the Sweetland field lights. The lights were originally installed by a group of Salem business men in the belief that they would pay for themselves. They didn't do it very well until softball came along.

This year should see the end of the payments on the lights. Several other projects have been suggested for the use of the softball money. One of the best is the proposal that the money be used to build a baseball park with adequate grand-

Ruth, the Golfer

Babe Ruth
From baseball to golf. Babe Ruth, the old Sultan of Swat, was one of the entries in the 18-hole qualifying rounds for the Westchester, invitation golf tournament at Rye, N. Y. It was hot!

New project for softball profits sought; baseball park suggested; Senators need night workout field.

stand facilities where night baseball and softball could be played.

With a lighted and fenced-in ball park Salem could have night baseball perhaps twice a week and softball on the other nights. Baseball at two-bits per head should go over as well as softball has and it would probably lead to the development of a really good baseball club.

One of the reasons why the Senators haven't been producing in the stick department this season as well as they must to win games is that most of the players don't see a baseball field on Sunday the next. A lighted park would open opportunities for practice after business hours as well as for extra games. The 5:30 o'clock games the Senators have played this year with traveling clubs have not gone over so well, partly because of a conflict with softball games the same night but mainly because the hour is inconvenient.

Birdies Are Duck Soup to New Titlist

BELLINGHAM GOLF CLUB. Bellingham, Wash., July 31.—(AP)—You never heard such wild cheering on any course; you never saw such golf.

Al Zimmerman, Portland, defeated Neil Christian, Yakima, by six strokes for the Washington state open golf championship, but you should have seen how he did it.

The several hundred lucky spectators who followed the playoff match probably saw the most thrilling golf ever played at a single hole, when Zimmerman climaxed his victory by scoring a hole in one to beat Christian's birdie two at the 165-yard 14th.

Acc Unnerves Nell
Zimmerman didn't give Christian half a chance in the 16-hole battle when he also scored an eagle and a couple of birdies for a sizzling 67, four under par. But at that, Neil was only two strokes behind until Zimmerman got his ace, and then he went to pieces, going four strokes over par on the last four holes for a 73.

It was the second time Zimmerman had triumphed over Christian in a playoff for a title, the Portland boy winning the Pacific northwest open by one stroke in 1931. Al succeeds his brother, Emery, as the champion.

2 FAVORITES LEFT IN LINKS CONTEST

INDIANAPOLIS, July 31.—(AP)—A wave of upsets, the two largest churned up by a pair of unknowns from California, struck the national public links golf championship today, sweeping away every important favorite, except Dave McKelvey, defending champion from Indianapolis, and Arthur Armstrong of Honolulu.

Lloyd Nordstrom, Swedish salesman from Davenport, Ia., who led the field from start to finish in the race for the medal, was escorted out by Bob Tomes, a gray thatched unknown to the tournament from Long Beach, Calif., in the second round. Fred Gordon, 21-year-old movie lot worker from Santa Monica, Calif., upset Scotty Campbell of Seattle in a hard battle that extended through one thunder-shower and to the final green, 1 up.

Tab Boyer Defeated
Tab Boyer, unemployed sports writer from Portland, Ore., who won the medal in 1933, was a first round victim, defeated by Mike Perco, 20-year-old gas station attendant from Buffalo, N. Y., 2 and 1, who later was eliminated by Joe Coria, a cop in a St. Paul picnic park, 2 up. Charles Ferrera of San Francisco, 1931 and 1933 winner, was eliminated by Nordstrom in the first round 4 and 2.

Louis Cyr and John Gunst, Portland, Ore., entries, also were eliminated.

"Spec" to Have 30 Men at Start of Bearcat Gridiron Season; Line Losses Worry

Thirty men of at least one year's experience will form the nucleus for the Willamette university football squad which will start practice September 9. Coach "Spec" Keene revealed yesterday.

While "Spec" has begun his summer worrying at the accustomed time, he is not as concerned about the backfield, where he will have one important replacement to make, as about the line which lost Loren Grannis, guard, Karl Weisser and Mike Balkovic, tackles, and Jack Connors, center. Those four provided much of the weight and aggressiveness that made the Bearcat forward wall well nigh invincible last year. Balkovic will be eligible for non-conference games.

"Spec" indicated that Johnny Oravec, last year's national leader in touchdown scoring, will probably get the signal barking berth. Eddie Frantz, last year's quarterback, was the only backfield man to graduate. Dick Weisberger, Oravec's partner last season as the "touchdown twins", will be teamed with Don Mills, who did most of the heavy blocking last year, as halfbacks. Manfred Olson, huge Colorado pilerdriver, will be in the fullback berth. This is the lineup with which "Spec" intends to start practice and it will last until something better shows up, he said.

Extra Caller Possible
Gordon Williams, who was quarterback as a freshman three years ago, has said that he will return to school this year but "Spec" said that his return is not definite. Williams, a good field general and an excellent passer, would probably be in line for the quarterback post should he return.

Bob Vogt and Darrell Newhouse, both of whom had considerable experience as reserves last year, are at present the best bets to fill the tackle posts. Bob McKerrow, guard Montana lad, will also be back this year and "Spec" is expecting great things of him. McKerrow was out last year after two years on the squad.

Harold Hoyt, regular guard last year, will fill one of the guard posts while Elliott Becken, Tots Yada and Dwight Patterson, transfer from Southern Oregon Normal, will be the most likely candidates for the other.

Center Man Light
Bronc Williams, scrappy but light reserve center last year, is at present the only center "Spec" can find on his squad list. Williams weighs only 156 pounds.

The flank positions hold no worries for the Bearcat center with Bill McAdams, Charles Versteeg, both regulars last year, George Erickson, Walt Commons and Dan Baptist returning.

The complete list of experienced men includes:
Ends—Bill McAdams, Charles Versteeg, George Erickson, Dan Baptist and Walt Commons.
Tackles—Bob Vogt, George Sirnio, Darrell Newhouse, Mike Balkovic, Bob McKerrow.
Guards—Elliott Becken, Harold Hoyt, Myron Ray, Mel Viken, Tots Yada, Dwight Patterson.
Center—Bronc Williams.
Backs—Bill Beard, Pat Crossland, Don Mills, John Oravec, Warren Peters, Carl Rhoda, Bill Stone, Dick Weisberger, George Utley, Manfred Olson, Doc Brandon and Gordon Williams.

MADIGAN DROPS TO 6TH, COACH VOTES
CHICAGO, July 31.—(AP)—The all-star football coaches poll had another leader today, Charles Bachman of Michigan State college, who moved up from third place.

Bachman headed the list with 428,843 points, to 423,516 for Bo McMillin of Indiana, and 423,501 for Frank Thomas of Alabama.

Madigan Sixth Now
Edward P. "Slip" Madigan of St. Mary's who stood at the head of the class yesterday, fell to sixth with 403,489. Between Thomas and Madigan were Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, 407,228 and Dr. C. W. Spears of Wisconsin, 405,412.

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota's head coach, had 394,579 for seventh place.

Fans Call for Match Between Yarosz, Steele
SEATTLE, July 31.—(AP)—Vince Dundee's broken jaw was the answer of Freddie Steele, rangy, battering Tacoma middleweight, to the question, "How good is Steele?" after 125 battles 7-1 which he has only lost twice, both on decisions.

Dundee, Baltimore veteran and titleholder until a year ago, was at the providence hospital, nursing his jaw; the Steele camp was elated, elated is a mild word for it; and Pacific northwest sports followers called for an early bout with Teddy Yarosz, the champion.

Walter Hagen
The old master of the fairways, Walter Hagen, will lead the Ryder Cup team against the British in the international matches at Ridgewood, N. J., Sept. 28-29. It will be the Haig's sixth series. Other members of the team are Sam Parks, Jr., Olin Dutra, Gene Sarazen, Ky. Lauffer, Horton Smith, John Revolta, Craig Wood, Paul Runyan and Henry Picard.
