Aids Father in Liquor Crusade

Higgins and daughter.

Director of Police Otto P. Higgins of Kansas City, Mo., enlisted the aid of his 23-year-old daughter, Carol Higgins, when he clamped down on drug stores violating the city's liquor and beer ordinances. Her investigations unfolded enough evidence to bring 82 druggists into court on charges of violating the city's ordinances prohibiting them from selling beer by the drink. Miss Higgins, feeling her job had been done, then "retired" from duty.
