

DAN KELLACHER UNDER ARREST

Bond Set at $3000; Counsel Not Yet Arranged After Carson Declines

Dan Kellacher, being then and there an executive officer of the state of Oregon, state parole officer, did then and there unlawfully, feloniously and corruptly accept a promise to him in the sum of $50,000, which said promise was then and there made by one Lewellyn A. Banks, with the understanding that he, the said Dan Kellacher, acting in his official capacity, would secure the release of the said Lewellyn A. Banks from the Oregon state penitentiary.

The information further set out that the alleged crime was committed on May 18, the day on which the so-called pardon contract was executed by Banks and Kellacher.

Officials said the information was filed under section 14-496 of the Oregon laws for 1930. Upon conviction Kellacher would be subject to imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a term not to exceed 15 years. The minimum sentence is 5 years.

Trindle's action was based on a contract introduced at the Banks pardon hearing last Friday, under which Banks had agreed to pay Kellacher $50,000 for obtaining his release from the penitentiary. In event of failure Kellacher was to receive a smaller amount of money to be agreed upon by Banks and the ex-state parole officer.

Under another provision of the contract Kellacher was to receive $200,000 for the recovery of certain property and other assets claimed by Banks.

The contract was unexecuted by E. M. Duffy, present state parole officer, and was introduced at Friday's hearing by Ralph E. Moody, assistant attorney-general.

Trindle indicated yesterday that the Kellacher investigation might go back to the Banks contract.

In the four years Kellacher was state parole officer, he recommended 136 men for conditional pardons, a check of records at the state penitentiary yesterday revealed.

About 60 of the pardons recommended by Kellacher were approved, with another 50 recommended by the parole board or other sources being granted, it was found.

Wing for Gymnasium at Leslie is Favored. The $150,000 estimate for the new grade school, combining the enrollments of Lincoln and Park schools at some location between the present sites, provides tentatively for 16 classrooms, a small auditorium, a small elementary gymnasium, library and cafeteria. It would accommodate 500 pupils; the two schools now have approximately 430 pupils between them.

The citizens' suggestion that the original plan for Leslie junior high school be carried out with the construction of an auditorium wing on the west as well as the east received the director's approval. These units also would give 18 new classrooms, making it possible to tear down the old red barn now used for shops classes. Changes in plans contemplated recently when PWA was asked for a loan for the gymnasium wing will add $80,000 to the project's cost, making it $130,000.

Building a new senior high school building would entail purchase of the land north of Olinger field along 14th street to D street, Minster stated. Estimated to cost $630,000, this structure would care for 290 students. Additional anticipated needs for the next 10 or 15 years, have a large auditorium, a large gymnasium, and pave the way for a more efficient physical education program through the use of Olinger field.

The problem of what would be done with the present senior high building remains to be solved, Minster said. It was suggested by Dr. C. L. Huffaker of University of Oregon, who recently made a survey of school building needs here, that this building might be sold to the city for use as a city hall, converted into a central grade school, or razed and the property sold.

Since his election to the bench he has presided at a number of trials here. He is at present a trustee of Willamette university.

It was learned from McMinnville yesterday that Mrs. Lena Wible of Grants Pass is the widow of a brother of Marguerite Wible Walker, who secured a divorce from Judge Walker in 1934 and who now lives in California.

Record for Mail Received, State Department Set

An all time record for mail received at the state department was set during June of this year, Earl Snell, secretary of state, announced Tuesday.

Records show that 75,608 pieces of first class mail were received by the secretary of state during June. The high record for one day was July 1 when 10,517 letters were received.

Snell reported that he had found a new source of revenue in the sale of empty envelopes from the state department mail.

Connections have been established with various philatelists over the country, and the cancelled stamps and even the postmarks are being disposed of at a price that will net a considerable amount of money to the state.

Highway Aid Asked in Douglas County

A delegation of Douglas county citizens, including County Judge Quine and Commissioner Nichols, appeared before R. H. Baldoek, state highway engineer, Tuesday in quest of additional federal highway aid funds for the improvement of the Pacific highway there.

Quine said Douglas county has 30 per cent of the Pacific highway within its borders and is desirous of completing a new road over Turkey hill. The proposed improvement is directly north of Oakland and would cover a distance of six miles.

The cost of the improvement was estimated at $400,000, of which amount the state highway commission has allocated $116,000.

An additional $180,000 is desired for elimination of a railroad crossing at Shady Point, four miles south of Roseburg.

The Turkey hill road improvement would connect up with the recent Rice hill construction.

train, and an unknown number of transients riding on the cars, the Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad office said.

At Denver, R. K. Bradford, superintendent of transportation for the railroad, said he understood that "four or five" transients were killed.

An accurate check of the number was not immediately possible because the wreck took down communication lines into Meads, and Salida rescue workers had not yet returned late tonight.

Bradford, at Denver, said he learned that the wreck was caused when a transient riding on the train slipped on an air-gauge between the fifth and sixth cars, releasing the controls.

Group Selected To Study State Mining Industry

A committee of seven members to conduct a study of the mining industry in Oregon was announced by Governor Martin Tuesday.

Members are Dr. Warren D. Smith, University of Oregon; Professor James H. Batchelor, State College; Robert M. Betts, Eugene mining engineer; James T. Chincock, Grants Pass; J. C. Bowen, Baker; Amedee M. Smith, Portland, and W. B. Dennis, Carlton.

The committee was suggested by Governor Martin following defeat of a bill at the 1935 legislative session creating a state mining department.

Proposals to launch a statewide educational program and establish a mining museum at the University of Oregon and Oregon State college, will be included in the study.

The committee was expected to file a report prior to the next regular legislative session recommending a state mining board.

Attack on Cusick Will be Dismissed

Attack of a group of nieces and nephews of the deceased upon the will of Marcia M. Cusick, valued at $80,000, was dismissed from circuit court yesterday by Judge Lewelling. The case was before the circuit judge on appeal from the will of Marcia M. Cusick which made Dr. W. B. Morse chief beneficiary and included a number of bequests.

Fight against the will was made on several grounds, including interlineations to the document and handwriting of the deceased's on bit of paper attached to the will.

In ordering dismissal the court held proper service had not been given to the Odd Fellows' lodge. Proponents of the will held the only course left open now to the contestants is appeal to the supreme court from the circuit court decision.

The contestants hoped to have the estate distributed according to law instead of as the will provides.

Scouts Ready for Washington Jaunt

Thirteen to Attend Great Jamboree; Pre-Camp is Set for Saturday

Although the hoped for troop of 33 boys has not been filled, Cascade county's contingent of Boy Scouts bound for the national 25th anniversary jamboree at Washington, D. C., will leave here by special railway car next Monday night at 6:15 o'clock, it was reported at scout headquarters yesterday. Thirteen boys from Marion, Polk and Linn counties and two leaders will represent this county at the Washington scout mobilization.

To receive training for the trip and national capital appearance, the delegates will assemble at the Rotary hut here Saturday night for a two-day pre-camp, sleeping on cots and bedding secured from the national guard by Dr. B. F. Pound, county health chairman.

The delegates will pass five daily inspections and receive detailed instructions as to what will be expected of them. Duffel bags, ticks and blankets also will be loaned by the guard for the long journey.

Boys who have completed registration for the trip are Ronald Long, Clarence Wicks, Merle Long, Albany; Jack Pollock, Bob Pound, Walter Sterman, Mark Hatfield, Salem; Mattie Forrester, Perry Shelton, Stayton; Ralph Allen, Jack Haseeman, Mill City; Arne Jensen, Monmouth, and Milton Newport, Tangent. Ferris D. White, Albany district commissioner, will be scoutmaster, and Ty Gillespie, Salem, assistant scoutmaster of the group. Arne Jensen, will act as senior patrol leader.

Stenman Needs Aid. The request from scout headquarters was made yesterday for further financial assistance for Walter Stenman, student at the state school for the deaf. Stenman is one of but 28 deaf boys in the United States who have achieved the highest rank, Eagle scout. He has done his best to earn enough money to pay for the trip but still is several dollars short, it was stated.

The itinerary of the Cascade scouts east includes Portland, Chicago, Detroit, Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Albany by train, down the Hudson to New York City by steamer, and on to Washington. Returning they will pass through Atlanta, Montgomery, New Orleans, San Diego and Los Angeles. They will arrive in Washington August 20 and leave August 30.

Scout Executive James E. Monroe, who will be assistant in charge of all boys in Washington from the Pacific northwest, will leave for Washington next Tuesday.

Following parades of brown shirts in several cities, including Berlin, the newspaper Der Angriff announced: "The storm troop has jumped into the fight against Jews, political Catholicism and reactionaries."

Prune Meet is Set Friday, Aumsville

Code Backed at Sunnyside Gathering; Record for Canning Forecast

A gathering for all prune growers in the Aumsville area will be held Friday at 8 o'clock at the Aumsville high school gymnasium, when the general prune situation and marketing conditions will be discussed. A. M. Chapman, administrator of the Oregon prune control board, and William Linfolt, attorney for the board, will attend.

A similar meeting is slated for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Fruit Growers' association plant in Eugene.

A large group of growers meeting at the Sunnyside schoolhouse early in the week asked the board of control to set a price on dried prunes at an early date and also voted whole-hearted support of the code program.

A considerable tonnage of prunes for canning has been signed up by canneries in this section at straight code prices.

The code prices for canning prunes were established May 19 by the control board on the following basis: For prunes 12 to the pound and larger, $20 per ton; for prunes over 12 to the pound and up to and including 15, $17.50 per ton; for prunes over 15 to the pound and up to and including 17 to the pound, $15 per ton; for prunes over 17 to the pound, $12 per ton.

A heavy drop is reported in prune orchards at the present time, but the crop is still figured to be as large as the 1929 crop.

It is generally figured more prunes will go into the can this year than ever before, with one canner estimating earlier in the season that two and a half million cases of prunes will be packed this year, which figure is fully 25 per cent higher than any previous pack.

COUNCIL INTENTION ON MEASURE UPSET

ing discussion apparently beclouded the issue when the vote was called for. Forgetting Minto's motion, the councilmen voted yes, thinking they were passing the resolution, Fuhrer believes.

Revocation of Brown's license was held at the James Dunsen as a means of removing one of the facts on which Brown bases his suit.

Fuhrer said the resolution probably would be left on the table indefinitely, as the result of Monday night's inaction, and the marble board licensing ordinance would be entirely revamped so as to make it plain what types of boards the city will permit to be run here. The new measure he plans to introduce August 19.

Habeas Corpus Writ Is Sought For O. J. Olson

The habeas corpus proceeding for Ole John Olson came before Judge Lewelling in circuit court here yesterday, the court taking the matter under advisement and attorneys to submit briefs.

TEETH ARE SOUGHT FOR BUILDING CODE

A bill to place teeth in the city building code section providing for destruction of dilapidated buildings, will be up for final passage at the next city council meeting, August 13. If passed, this measure will make it possible to proceed against several structures long deemed an eyesore here, notably, a number which have been damaged by fire and neither razed nor repaired, in the opinion of E. C. Bushnell, city building inspector.

The proposed amendment to the code, copies of which are being distributed, has been upheld by the state supreme court, was introduced by Alderman Carl B. Armpriest. It gives the building inspector police powers and the authority to inspect all buildings for compliance with the building code. After ten days' notice, hearings may be held by the council regarding buildings held to be nuisances. If the council orders them torn down and the order is not complied with in five days, the city may have the job done by contract and make the cost a lien on the property.
