CHERRIANS GOING TO EUGENE TODAY

Will Advertise State Fair; Salem Delegation Visits Oregon City Thursday

Over a score of Cherrians will leave this morning for Eugene to attend a luncheon at the Del Rey Cafe on "Salem Good Will Day" and to advertise the 74th annual Oregon state fair which will be held here August 31-September 7.

This luncheon, being sponsored by the Eugene chamber of commerce, is one of a series in Willamette valley towns, which the Cherrians are attending. Yesterday they were at a joint chamber of commerce and Kiwanis luncheon at Oregon City which was attended by about 100 businessmen of that city.

Thursday, August 22, they will visit Corvallis; Wednesday, August 28, they are due in Albany, and the last luncheon will be at Dallas Friday, August 30.

C. E. Wilson, manager of the Salem chamber of Commerce, presided as chairman at the Oregon City meeting after being introduced by Donald Curtis, president of the Oregon City Kiwanis club. F. G. Deckebach, sr., Harry Levy, and J. E. "Joe" Roman of Salem spoke, and extended an invitation to residents of Clackamas county to attend the state fair here.

Deckerbach Recites History
Mr. Deckerbach pointed out in his talk that the first Oregon state fair was held at Oregon City 74 years ago, in 1861, and that since that time the people of Salem have been keeping up what Oregon City started.

He brought out the high spots in the state fair program including the horse races, horse show and rodeo at night, flower show in the sunken garden in the agriculture building, auto show, dog show, Gilmore Circus parade, fireworks, premiums amounting to more than $25,000 and free acts.

Mr. Deckerbach also spoke of the campground under the oaks where 1000 people can camp and spend the week at the fair. One of the main accomplishments of the state fair, Deckerbach stated, is the help, encouragement and training given the members of the Future Farmers of America and the 4-H clubs.

Mr. Levy invited the residents of Oregon City to come to Salem and advertise their Territorial Days show which will give the Oregon City September 13 and 14, for which the boosters there will don black crush hats, denim shirts and colored neckerchiefs beginning next Wednesday morning.

Mr. Roman of Salem and other residents of Oregon City to come to Salem and advertise their Territorial Days show which will give the Oregon City September 13 and 14, for which the boosters there will don black crush hats, denim shirts and colored neckerchiefs beginning next Wednesday morning.

Welcome Directed
On behalf of Director Solon T. White, Assistant Director Leo Spitzbart of the fair, and of the city of Salem, Mr. Deckerbach extended the hospitality of Salem to the residents of Clackamas county.

President Curtis responded and promised a good delegation from Oregon City at the fair this year, and the support of the people of that city.

Radio Pastor to Speak in Salem; Holy Land Topic
Rev. Willard H. Pope of Calvary Tabernacle, radio pastor of KEX, will be in Salem Monday and Tuesday nights for two lectures on the Holy Land in prophecy and will give these two messages at the First Christian church, Center and High streets, at 7:45 p. m. each night.

Rev. Pope, recently returned from a tour of 20 countries of Europe, has first hand information concerning the conditions of these countries and his lectures and pictures are second only to a trip to this far away land.

The pictures include many in natural colors. Monday he will show those of old Palestine as it has existed for 20 past centuries, and on Tuesday night on new Palestine, "The Miracle of the Ages."

A silver offering will be taken at these lectures to defray the expenses.

Dean Erickson represented Willamette at a conference in Portland early this week and learned that the educational program, for which $15,000 has been set aside from the general relief appropriation to aid young people in attending colleges, is still in the formative process. The manner of distribution, however, will be on the same basis as last year when 12 per cent of the students enrolled at eligible schools were entitled to relief.

Rev. Grover C. Birchet of the Presbyterian church, with Mrs. Birchet and the three children, is on his annual vacation, spending the first two weeks at a church conference in California. The remainder of the month will be devoted to fishing and general recreation in southern Oregon.

Mrs. George Lewis, with Florence and Barbara, and Miss Elsie Miller, are spending a week at the Tillamook beach.

Naomi Phelps has returned to her literary and radio work in New York City.

Jeannette Scott, whose music work has taken her to Cleveland, Ohio, and Charleston, S. C., during the past several months, is now at Milwaukee, Wis., for an indefinite stay.

Helen Pierce leaving
Helen Pierce is leaving Saturday night for a visit of two weeks at Long Beach, Calif.

Orville Varty is again on the door at the Elsinore.

Mrs. T. S. Roberts has been sojourning at Brettenbush hot springs.

I reckon about 700 individuals in Salem ask daily, "What do you know?" And 637 individuals respond, "Nothing new."

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Meyers are away on an extended motor trip. Itinerary indefinite. Here and there in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, perhaps a national park or two.

Attending the Townsend meeting at Albany Wednesday were—but what's the use? Dozens of 'em from Salem.

"Raw" Sleeping "Bunk"
Sleeping "in the raw," recommended by some association or other as an aid to beauty, is not a new idea. It is pretty much bunk. I slept with a chap one winter who had the "in the raw" fever for a time. I should say, rather, that I shared a bed with him for a brief time. I did not sleep a great deal. The minute I dropped asleep the sucker wrapped himself in all the bedclothing, and I shivered myself awake. Reformers are pretty much alike.

A tremendous cloud of smoke and a wild alarm of fire yesterday. Two crescent tanks at the sand and gravel plant on North Front street spontaneously combusted. Damage almost nil. Just enough fire to save the old adage pertaining to fire and smoke. But it was a narrow escape for the adage.

Geneva Lucy has taken a place with the Peter Pan cafe.

Irrigation Projects to Get Big Sum

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—

The west's prime business of irrigation and water conservation was stimulated today by presidential approval of works allotments amounting to more than $3,000,000 to the reclamation bureau for 10 projects.

Topping the list was $1,000,000 for construction of the Wixlup dam and reservoir on the Deschutes river in Oregon. Plans call for an earthen dam to impound 60,000 acre feet of water, a diversion tunnel and control works. Works relief officials estimated about $50,000 man-hours of employment will be provided and work can start in 30 days.

An allotment of $500,000 was made for construction of a small storage reservoir on Burnt river, Oregon. This project is designed to provide a supplemental water supply for lands lying along Burnt river immediately north of Willow Creek.

Klamath Gets $135,000
Construction of drains and laterals on the Klamath project in Oregon and California, was approved with an allotment of $135,000. The program does not contemplate reduction of the present Tule lake or of the dump area surrounding it, this being considered private wild life preserve.

A $250,000 allotment also was approved for general reclamation investigations in the west. The investigations will be advisory, some of them to be made in cooperation with the various states or local irrigation districts interested in future development.

FORAGE CROPS ARE USED, SUBSTITUTES

According to the bureau of agricultural economics, "acreage taken out of production under AAA contracts has been planted in large part to forage crops." Hay acreage for 1935 was $6,095,000, an increase of 5,384,000 acres. Present agricultural adjustment administration figures, subject to revision, show that 27,000,000 acres have been rented or otherwise taken out of basic crop production under adjustment contracts. More than $5,000,000 acres were rented or contracted last year. Increased requirements caused by the effect of last year's drought upon crops are the chief reason for the smaller reductions this year.

The 1935 total of rented or contracted acres is divided among four crops as follows: corn, 11,988,000; wheat, 4,912,000; cotton, 10,292,000; and tobacco, 430,000.

Soil Being Improved
Mr. Cox has made a preliminary estimate which shows that well over a third of all rented or contracted acres this year were planted to crops that improve and conserve the soil. In the south cotton and tobacco acreage has been widely used for food and feed crops for home use. It is estimated that less than 15 per cent of the total contracted or rented land was idle or fallow; and that of the fifteen per cent the larger part was fallowed for definite purposes of moisture conservation and weed eradication.
