Business CHECKER CHAMPION Shares Ape Jack and Jill

Salem chess and checker fans will have an opportunity to see N. W. Banks, American checker champion for over 24 consecutive years, in play here Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, when he will appear at St. Paul's parish under auspices of the Salem Chess club. The public is invited, with women extended a special invitation Banks is the only player in the world today who plays both chess and checkers blindfold and he holds all speed records for simul-50, the closing tone was distincttaneous and blindfold checkers. ly irregular as profit-taking press He played 140 games of checkers at the Century of Progress, the list with nearly as many losses Labor day, 1933, in 145 minutes or an average of about one second per move. For blindfold checkers, he played 20 games in two hours and 35 minutes, and won Dr. E. Davis has established offices at $13-$14 Masonic Temple. Tel. 7132.

coast for the past three months and to date has not lost a single checker game, and losses in chess average three or four out of every 100 games, a score slightly lower than that made by Dr. Alekhine, world's champion.

Banks says he classes Arthur Dake, who has appeared here, among the first five learning players in America, with an excellent future in chess.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.-(AP) Funeral services for Edward L. Doheny, who turned crude oil into a personal fortune of unestimated magnitude, will be held Wednesday in the $1,500,000 St. Vincent's church built through his generosity. Unofficial estimates of the fortune he amassed at the height of his career ranged from $100,000,-000 to $300,000,000, but a close associate, R. M. Sands, vice-president of the Petroleum Securities company, said that seven years ago Doheny's

FOR HEATING PLANT

The state's application for a federal grant for the construction of a central heating and power plant to cost $800,000, was forwarded Monday to the works progress administration officials at Washington. The central heating and power plant, to be established at the state penitentiary, would cost $458,999. This would provide heat and electricity for all state departments and institutions located in the Salem vicinity. The cost of the telephone system was estimated at $316,470. This would serve all state activities both in the Salem and Portland areas. The project also includes eight radio broadcasting stations which would be operated in connection with the state police department. Officials said they expected to re-Large standard ceive a grant of 45 per cent of the total cost of the three pro-
