

Fall Buying is Claimed Heavy

Agricultural Areas Enjoy Improved Buying Power Survey Indicates

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A fall buying movement "which has been gaining momentum since Labor day," was reported by the commerce department today to have "broadened demand" in both retail and wholesale trade in the week ended Wednesday.

In its weekly survey of conditions in 33 cities, the department noted that the "forward trade movement," was based largely on this background:

"Favorable weather, stimulated buying power in agricultural sections, sustained activity in building and construction, and gradually improved employment conditions brought about by WPA allotments and increased industrial production."

Cotton Export Down

Another commerce department report today noted a continuing decline in United States raw cotton exports in August as compared to the previous month and August last year.

In the domestic scene, New York reported that Manhattan and Brooklyn department stores increased last week's turnover 12 per cent over a year ago and that buyers were having difficulty in getting a delivery.

In San Francisco retail trade continued upward, and generally improved conditions were reported in Atlanta, Memphis, Birmingham, New Orleans, Houston and Dallas.

Roundup Ends; Contest Good

Everett Bowman Captures Jackson Trophy; Bill Hanley Honored

PENDLETON, Ore., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A colorful saga of the old west—the 26th annual Pendleton Roundup—closed tonight amid the cheers of thousands who thrilled to the spectacle presented in the Roundup arena as the nation's finest cowhands displayed their wares.

For two days, preliminary tests in the rodeo drew prolonged applause. Today, when the finals were held, provided the climax. Split seconds separated the winners and also-rans in riding, roping and bull-dogging events and not until a thorough check was made by the judges were the winners announced.

Everett Bowman of Hillsdale, Ariz., closed a spectacular performance to win the second leg of the $5000 Sam Jackson trophy before more than 25,000 visitors from all parts of the west. Bowman made a record of 16 seconds flat in calf roping and 11.4 seconds in steer bulldogging. Cleva Kelley of Fort Worth, Texas, was second and Charles Jones, Van Horn, Texas, third in the calf roping. Dick Trautt of Stonewall, Okla., and Tom Hogan of Tulsa, Okla., were second and third respectively in bulldogging.

Knight is Champion

The bucking-horse riding title went to Pete Knight of Denver, Colo., with Berel Mulkey of Salmon, Idaho, second and Turk Greenough of Red Lodge, Mont., third.

and announced the cost amounted to $10,000. The Statesman's new head type costs nearly a tenth as much—which will give the readers some idea of costs of changing styles in typography on a newspaper.

It will take some days of experimentation before the head style is standardized to proper proportions throughout the paper; when that is completed, readers, as they grow accustomed to the new type dress, will find it strong, well-balanced and legible.

Tax Delinquency Forms Received

Certificate is Issued Now to Counties Instead of Individuals

Forms for the new tax delinquency certificates required by a 1935 legislative amendment to existing laws were exhibited yesterday by Lewis E. Neet, deputy sheriff in charge of tax collections in Marion county. Under the new law, certificates of tax delinquency are no longer issued to private individuals, but instead, in blanket form to the county governments.

The new certificates quote the tax delinquency laws which now make it mandatory on the county to foreclose on property whenever three installments on taxes of 1930 and prior years fall in arrears. To each certificate a detailed abstract record of the real estate involved will be attached and the two records filed with the county clerk. The abstracts will then be checked over by the district attorney's office.

Neet declared he was finding that many taxpayers were not aware that foreclosures for personal property taxes became attached as liens on real property on the date of personal property tax delinquency. The result has been that these taxpayers have been surprised to find their real estate involved in tax foreclosure proceedings although the taxes on the land were not delinquent.

The law makes it impossible now for a county to make any exceptions in promptly instituting foreclosure action against properties on which tax delinquencies run beyond the three-installment limit. Foreclosures now under way and due to be started in the next few weeks will clear the records of the greater part of the delinquencies on 1930 and earlier taxes, Neet said.

College to Assist in Range Problem

Addition of an instructional, research and extension program in range livestock management as a means of cooperating with the present federal range program, of which the new Taylor grazing act is the center, has been announced by the school of agriculture at Oregon State college.

The work involves the addition of a new man to the staff at Corvallis who will take charge of all three phases of this specialized work. Provision was made in budgets recently adopted for the expansion, although the recommendation of the man to fill the position has just been made by the agricultural officials at the college.

R. G. Johnson, for seven years county agent in Grant county, has been named for the position, subject to confirmation by the state board of higher education. He will become professor of animal husbandry, with headquarters at the college. Recommended to succeed him as county agent in Grant county is R. E. Brooke, at present assistant county agent in Klamath county.

"The total area of eastern Oregon is approximately 42 million acres, of which 24 million acres is public land available for grazing, and most of which is of little use for anything else," said P. M. Brandt, head of the division of animal industries, in discussing the new program. "The enactment of the Taylor grazing act for the control of the public domain makes possible an approach to the solution of many range problems that have heretofore been recognized but which were impossible to study because of the lack of control of these lands."

States Worry at Fate of Projects

clusive powers in selecting the projects to be financed by the $425,000,000 came when Representative Disney (D-Okla.), said that Colonel Lawrence Westbrook, assistant works progress administrator, had told him that all PWA applications on file with WPA had been sent back to Ickes. While these applications had not yet been received by FWA, some officials interpreted that move as meaning that Hopkins no longer would have veto power over public works projects.
