Record Freshman Class to Register

C. M. Inman and Ray L. Smith, have also been added to the law school faculty. Dean Roy M. Lockenour expects a considerable increase in law school enrollment.

Most of the students who will arrive Monday hope to earn part of their expenses by working. A campaign to find part time jobs for students has produced favorable results. Applications for government jobs under the student aid program exceed the number of jobs available by a large number, according to Dean F. M. Erickson. Work is available for about 75 students under the federal relief setup.

The faculty, all members of which are now on hand, held their first meeting of the year yesterday and discussed plans for welcoming the new students. Praxities and societies as well as other campus organizations were also preparing to greet the newcomers.

Plans for Freshman Days Are Complete posed by the union and McGrady as spokesman for the President.

The operators sat silent. "In effect, you are sitting there saying 'To hell with you, Mr. President,'" said G. W. Savage, secretary of the miners Ohio district.

Compares Operators To Communists
"You are placing yourselves in the same position as the communists—defying the government of the United States."

Negotiations toward a new wage contract for Appalachian soft coal miners had broken completely Saturday morning, when McGrady stepped into the conference room.

The United Mine Workers had expressed themselves as willing to keep the mines working for 15 days more while negotiations continued if the producers would make any pay increase retroactive. The operators refused.

"Surely to God we're not going to allow this industrial warfare to take place because of a retroactive clause," McGrady shouted.

He told the conference he was with President Roosevelt yesterday discussing industrial relations and that the soft coal situation was the only bad spot on the map.

"We've been taking it on the jaw long enough," said Patrick Fagen, president of the Pittsburgh district.

Just before Fagen took the floor the operators shouted down a new and modified union proposal.

Announce School Opening Schedule

high schools are running on full-day schedules Tuesday, the senior high students will pass through the short period, half-day schedule and be released for the afternoon to do their book buying. For them, regular classes will start Wednesday.

Contrary to early reports, no changes are anticipated in the country school bus routes leading to Salem senior and junior high schools, Principal Fred D. Wolf of the senior institution said last night. The buses will make the usual pickup stops Monday morning and leave the high school on the homeward trip at noon. Tuesday they will leave the city on regular schedule, from the senior high at 3:40 p. m.

Wolf, with R. W. Tavener, assistant principal, and their staff, worked at the high school until late last night and expect to spend today there rechecking registration and class assignment cards and schedules to insure a minimum of confusion Monday morning.

EPIC Leader

Culbert Olson
Although the next gubernatorial campaign isn't until 1938, Culbert Olson, above, chairman of the Democratic state central committee and state senator from Los Angeles, Cal., is being prominently mentioned as the likely candidate to lead the Democratic ticket in 1938. Olson is being mentioned as the potential successor to Upton Sinclair who won the Democratic nomination for governor last year on an EPIC platform. He was in command of Sinclair's gubernatorial campaign in 1934.

re-stating contentions of the defendants in the case and in commenting upon the incident, unfortunately so worded his opinion as to give the reasonable and definite impression that he was going out of his way adversely to criticize the German government, which criticism was not a relevant or legitimate part of his judicial decision.

Hull explained the federal government had no jurisdiction over state and municipal officials.

County Expenditure Upon Bangs Disease Control Is Limited

The county's maximum expenditure for Bangs disease control work, which by a new state law becomes mandatory in 1937, is limited to 23 cents per head of cattle, it was stated at the county clerk's office yesterday. This is the highest figure at which the fee of veterinarians appointed as assistant county herd inspectors may be set.

Belief was expressed, however, that the fee might be considerably lower, since the charge paid by the county at present for tuberculosis testing of cattle is 15 cents a head. The state will pay cost of ear tags, laboratory tests and inspection forms in connection with the Bangs control work. This program will be financed with federal money in 1936.

more important than to quarrel about the form in which some believe they must present God to their fellow men."

Further emphasis on the evolution of a new national German religion was laid during the Hitler youth rally by the premier presentation of an oratorio-like performance involving band music, speaking choruses, individual speakers and singing.

"Holy fatherland" and "Flag to which we all pledged our lives—flag which is our beginning and our end," were two of the choruses. Der Fuehrer was told in musical rhyme:

"When you, our Fuehrer, call us for storm or attack, we shall begin that attack jubilantly and ready for victory."

One of the speakers in this fitting drama exclaimed:

"If we have no time to pray—'God will nevertheless understand us, for whoever consecrates his life to his nation will be honored by a blessed stand next to the Lord.'"
