Marion Davies Elsinore Star

In "Page Miss Glory,"
Hilarious "Pursuit"
Comes to Capitol

Charming Marion Davies will appear at the Elsinore theatre today in "Page Miss Glory," her first Cosmopolitan picture to be released by Warner Bros.

Supporting Miss Davies is a remarkable all star cast of famous "name players" including Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien, Mary Astor, Frank McHugh, Lyle Talbot, Patsy Kelly, Barton MacLane, Allen Jenkins, Hobart Cavanaugh and a score of others.

The story of "Page Miss Glory" is as funny as it is unique. Miss Davies, in the role of a country girl, neither pretty nor bright, gets a job as chambermaid in a swanky New York hotel in which reside a promoter, portrayed by Pat O'Brien, who has nothing to promote, and Frank McHugh, a jobless newspaper photographer.

McHugh, learning that an advertiser is offering a big cash reward for a photograph of America's prettiest girl, makes a composite picture, blending the features of famous stage and society beauties and submits it under the name of "Dawn Glory."

He wins the prize and trouble starts. Elters and Morris starred at Capitol. Comedy, romance and action pack "Pursuit," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's hilarious romance of cafe-ferre adventure on the open road, with Chester Morris and Sally Eilers, is now playing at the Capitol theatre.

It is the story of the motoring adventure of a young couple smuggling a child out of the state in a guardianship fight. Their adventures, some hectic, some humorous, occur in auto camps and barns, farmyards, a veterinary hospital and in many locations along the open road between San Francisco and the Mexican border.

A pitching, hurtling van, enclosed on four sides—drawn by four white runaway horses, provides the stage for one of the most thrilling hand-to-hand fights seen on the screen in many a day.

The scene is from "Tumbling Tumbleweeds," second feature at the Capitol theatre today, starring Gene Autry.

Asks Revocation of Own Driving Permit
Due to Nervousness

Harzy Mudge, Route 2, Box 755, Portland, has a unique distinction. Mudge voluntarily appeared in Municipal Judge Long's court in Portland recently and requested that his driver's license be revoked because of his nervous condition.

"I investigated the request," Judge Long said, "and ordered the revocation."

The order, together with Judge Long's letter of explanation, was received at the state department Saturday.

New Team Proves Delightful

Sally Eilers and Chester Morris argue it out with Henry Travers in "Pursuit" at the Capitol today.

"The Healer," current Hollywood picture, has Karen Morley and Ralph Bellamy in featured roles.

Hop Situation is Altered by Rain

The rain has altered the hop picking situation seriously, growers report. Although picking will continue for at least 10 more days, scores of workers have quit and moved out. The highway to Independence was lined with cars yesterday.

Yards which have modern and adequate housing for their pickers are not losing as many as those with poor facilities. The state of school has taken some families, too.

Unless the rain is heavy, prune picking will be hastened. Growers are in need of workers.

Evergreen berries along the coast are bringing from one and a half cents to two cents a pound for pickers and so far the take is small. The market is strong so it is profitable to pick.

Nehalem Highway Bus Right Asked

Application for a permit to furnish both passenger and freight service over the route from Portland to Astoria known as the Nehalem highway, was filed in the state utilities department Saturday by the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Transportation company.

The company now operates between Portland and Seaside over the Columbia River highway. The proposed new route would include Forest Grove, Vernonia, Pittsburg, Jewell and Necanicum junction.

The Oregon stages recently requested a permit to operate virtually over the same route and the hearing on this application was set for September 20.

The hearing involving the application of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Transportation company probably will be set for the same day, officials said.

Grand Offers Musical Play

"Love Me Forever" is Feature; "Healer" on at Hollywood

Music takes flight on the wings of song to inspire a great love in Columbia's "Love Me Forever," starring Grace Moore, today at the Grand theatre.

The magic in the voice of a lovely top-hat daughter of luxury starts the flame of romance burning in the heart of a man who can never have her. He faces disaster with a smile—for her cherishes an ideal—an ideal that will never die.

Thrilling drama, coupled with the glorious singing of Grace Moore, makes of "Love Me Forever" the record-breaking entertainment it is.

Featured with Grace Moore are Leo Carrillo, Michael Bartlett and Robert Allen. Victor Schertzinger directed.

He's at Latin from Manhattan, is handsome Michael Bartlett, Grace Moore's singing partner in Columbia's "Love Me Forever," for though he is strictly American, he was known to Italian operatic audiences as "Edoardo Bartlett."

Tremendous havoc wrought by the flames which devastated a peaceful valley has an inspiring effect for good in the spiritual regeneration of the principal character in "The Healer," Monogram's picturization of Robert Herrick's novel which is the current attraction at the Hollywood theatre.

The story concerns a struggling young physician who, hampered by the lack of funds and proper facilities, is carrying on a wonderful work among the crippled children who are patients at the health resort, which the doctor has constructed about a healing pool.

The doctor in the case is portrayed by Ralph Bellamy, who gives one of his finest performances. His assistant is played by Karen Morley as a young woman who has surrendered social position to aid the doctor in his worthy undertakings. Into his quiet retreat comes the disturbing influence of a beautiful and sophisticated young woman, played by Judith Allen, who utilizes her

Revised Title for Rogue Bill Ready

Corrected ballot title for the proposed initiative measure opening the Rogue river, between the mouth of Lobster creek and Doyle's rock, from March 15 to June 30, with Sunday closed periods.

"Prohibiting any other fishing therein except angling, and any fishing for trout or salmon within three miles outside the river's mouth, selling trout, selling, possessing or transporting for sale any fish from Josephine, Jackson and Curry counties caught during closed season, trout to include steelhead."

The original ballot title, prepared a month ago, was protested both by the commercial fishermen and the sportsmen. They alleged that the ballot title was misleading and would confuse the voters.

The corrected ballot title reads: "Repealing 1935 act which forbids all fishing in the Rogue river and tributaries, except angling. Permitting fishing for salmon and sturgeon with drift nets having a mesh not under 3 1/2 inches, in that part of Rogue river approximately between the mouth of Lobster creek and Doyle's rock, from March 15 to June 30, with Sunday closed periods."

Ginger Rogers is Starred at State

Ginger Rogers is rapidly rolling up the reputation of being not only Hollywood's busiest film star but its most versatile.

As soon as she finishes one picture for RKO-Radio, she goes directly into another, and in an entirely different type of characterization.

A musical, in which she sings and dances, and then a straight romantic drama seems to be the peppery Ginger's formula.

In "Star of Midnight," now at the State theatre, a modern mystery drama based on the story by the late Arthur Somers Roche, Miss Rogers essays a characterization entirely new to her. It is that of a beautiful society girl who turns amateur detective in helping the man she loves run down clues to a formidable mystery. The role is said to sparkle with gay, sophisticated comedy, and Ginger is very happy over it. Even though she doesn't dance a step!

In "Star of Midnight," a sophisticated, modern drama based on the story by the late Arthur Somers Roche, the two form a unique Sherlock Holmes and Watson combination to solve a puzzling mystery. Powell plays a brilliant attorney, and Miss Rogers is seen as a young society beauty who has made up her mind that she is going to marry him.

Governor's Salary Case Appeal Filed In Supreme Court

Appeal was filed in the state supreme court Saturday in the suit brought by Ed Jory and others to restrain the secretary of state and state treasurer from paying Governor Martin an annual salary in excess of $1500.

The suit originally was filed in the Marion county circuit court where Judge Lewelling held for the defendants.

Jory alleged that the constitution limits the governor's salary to $1500 a year. He now receives $7500.
