Goss in Favor of Willamette Site

Support for the Willamette university campus as new site for the Oregon capitol is promised by Senator John D. Goss of Coos county, according to word received here yesterday.

In fact, I proposed several years ago that the state buy the campus to use for additional office buildings. A university should not be located in the center of town and Bush's pasture would be an ideal place for the school."

Baker Youths Held Bandits

Dead End Road Traps Two Oregon Boys Fleeing Tennessee Police

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Trapped in the Wolf river bottoms and captured after a running gun battle with police, two youths who described themselves as Walter Turner, 19, and H. J. Powers, 19, and gave their home as Baker, Ore., were lodged at police headquarters tonight.

Will T. Griffin, inspector of detectives, said charges of highway robbery and carrying a pistol would be placed against the youths, whom he quoted as admitting they robbed the Best Lumber & Hardware Co., of $125.85. Patrolmen Harold Woodriddle and Bill Musick picked up the trail of the alleged bandit car a few minutes after the holdup and gave chase.

Bandits Strew Tacks "As we closed in," Woodriddle said, "going about 70 miles an hour, the bandits opened fire and started throwing tacks along the highway. Once, while I was shooting, my gun flew out of my hand, tearing the skin off my trigger finger. I don't know whether or I was shot or not." He said a boy was knocked from a bicycle by the speeding automobile.

The two youths, Woodriddle said, went down a "dead end" road and were trapped. Griffin quoted the youths as saying they stole the car in Portland, Ore.

Purge of Radical Collegians Urged

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A "purge" of radical "individuals and societies from the University of Wisconsin was urged today by five state senators finishing an official investigation. The senators, making their report, declared that communists were allowed to preach their beliefs on the campus, with "the permission and connivance of the university administration, its officers and regents."

"The great mass of instructors," however, said state Senator E. F. Brunette, (D), Green Bay, in the report, "carried on in spite of un-American influences," adding that this was true of the majority of students, as well.

Hunting Trip Taken—W. C. Winslow, his son Vernon and Charles Vick, left yesterday on a hunting trip about 60 miles east of Roseburg on the Umpqua river.

STOP US if you've heard this one... "My dear, I simply dread this daily shopping!" How many times have you heard that story? More than once, we'll bet a hat. And if you ask the woman who "dreads shopping" just why she does so, you'll usually hear something like this: "It takes so much time! I start out and look and look and look... and by the time I've found what I want I'm dead on my feet. All in, my dear. I mean I actually am!" You can do a friend like that a real service. Ask her if she reads the advertisements. Possibly she'll look surprised and say, "Not very often. What has that to do with it?" Tell her how you have your mind all made up before you hang the market basket over your arm... how you're able to save steps, budget your expenditures neatly, get what you want—and all with a minimum of time and effort. Simply because you have the news of the shopping world at your finger-tips all the time, by reading the advertisements every day. Advertisements are news. Vital, practical news. News you need to keep on tap. Read the Advertisements every day.

Heirlooms on Exhibit Recall Time Of Fascinators; Belonged to Family Prominent Here

When First Statehouse Was Built

An exhibit of clothing and other heirlooms of particular significance at this time, when plans are being laid to build a new Oregon capitol building, is being shown in a downtown Salem store window this weekend. It is of articles which belonged to Mary Lou Allen, daughter of Samuel Allen, who served as a member of the commission which supervised construction of the old capitol which burned here last April 25 and 26, and to Miss Allen's mother.

The window display contains an old-time fascinator, a dolman wrap, a brooch made 103 years ago when Mary Lou Allen's mother married Samuel Allen in Missouri, a bedspread woven by her mother with the hand carders used to fashion the wool for spinning into yarn, albums with old-fashioned family pictures, bible and hymn book each 100 years old and indicating the family faith, Presbyterian; purses, a wrap bought by Miss Allen in New York fancy underwear, and a number of other articles representative of a bygone period.

Mrs. Star Arranges The exhibit was arranged at Sally's, Inc., 357 Court street, by Clayrene Settlemyer Starr, 1455 Marion street, who is a niece of the late Mary Lou Allen, who died in 1932 and was buried in the historic Belle Passet cemetery near Woodburn. Mrs. Starr is related to the pioneer Settlemier clan of Woodburn and the early day Starr clan of Douglas county.

Mary Lou Allen's father, Samuel, came to Salem by plains wagon route with the immigration of 1847. As capitol commissioner he resided at the north-west corner of Summer and Marion streets, and had an office in the present Statesman building, a half interest in which the then Governor L. F. Grover owned. The governor's office was in a second floor corner room of this structure.

Supply of Butter Is Holding Steady

PORTLAND, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Lack of definite change in the butter trade here is attributed to excess who have considerable stock in storage. Inability of the trade to clear floors of stock daily is generally suggested although there is no serious surplus of offerings.

Butter bids, however, continue firm and chiefly at the highest price quoted. Trading in the egg market continued to change to the strictly fresh goods (not recognized by the new state law) from the cold storage holdings which are reported as becoming somewhat strong.

While in spots a slightly easier tone is suggested, general trading in the cheese market is at least steady. No change in price for the Pacific slope. Stocks of live poultry arriving are inadequate to take care of demand. Demand from the south is extremely heavy and recent price premiums are being fully maintained.

Rather heavy demand from the domestic territory is showing for apples which is creating a strong list for carlots at primary points of Pacific northwest. Surprising heavy output of tomatoes continued to be offered from Willamette valley and local points. Continued good weather has allowed maturity of a greater per cent of the crop than normal. Prices are weaker as a result.
