THE HIGH COST of LIVING

"Elimination of the middleman . . . will help not only the farmer but the man who consumes the farmer's products"

—THEODORE ROOSEVELT

"There can be no more important question than the high cost of living necessities.

"Recently experts in the agricultural department have figured that nearly 50 per cent of the price for agricultural products paid by the consumer goes into the pockets, not of the farmer, but of various middlemen . . .

"It is probable that over half of what is thus paid to middlemen is needless, can be saved by wise business methods . . . and can therefore be returned to the farmer and the consumer.

"Everything possible must be done to eliminate any middleman whose function does not tend to increase the cheapness of distribution . . ."

THEODORE ROOSEVELT at Chicago, Aug. 6, 1912

THEODORE ROOSEVELT lived close to the people. Three years after he spoke the words quoted above, a young grocery man set out to pioneer in the West this idea the elder Roosevelt urged.

This man, founder of Safeway, took on the same job your Safeway grocer works at today.

What is that job? It's to get fine foods from the farms to market with smaller in-between expense . . . by eliminating such middlemen as do not contribute to the cheapness of distribution.

That job is to lower retail prices. That job is also to pay back to the farmer a larger share of each retail food dollar.

A grocer working alone is helpless to accomplish these things. He is at the mercy of middlemen who sell him food. And it is because your Safeway grocer could not get far with this job alone that he has partners to help him.

Safeway buyers in the farming districts, expert shippers, warehousemen, home economists, marketmen—all work toward the same goal your Safeway grocer works for. To cut down waste. To eliminate such middlemen as needlessly boost the cost of food.

Through the work of this Safeway family, money is saved. So your Safeway grocer can offer you good food at prices regularly low.

And so nearly 80 cents of every food dollar you spend in his store can now be returned to the farmer, to processors, and transporters. This is far more than producers used to get before the Safeway idea was developed . . . M. L. Bean, Division Manager for Safeway Stores, 239 South East Salmon Street, Portland, Oregon.

You can easily prove what your Safeway grocer can save you. Do all your trading at his store for just one month. Keep a record of what you spend.

Then compare your monthly outlay with your total food bills for the previous month. Start this test tomorrow.
