

Officials of Other States See Need of Bigger Capitol Area

Cost of Later Purchase High

Iowa's Sad Experience is Cited by Governor in Letter Received

The state of Iowa appreciates the advisability of having ample space for a capitol, Governor Clyde L. Herring has written the state capitol committee here.

"Iowa made the same mistake that many state capitols made in placing the capitol upon too small a site, realizing this some years ago.

"The state spent a million dollars in securing additional grounds about the capitol and this area now is approximately 80 acres. You will, therefore see that we appreciate the advisability of having ample space," the Iowa governor writes.

Views Expressed

Expressions pointing without exception to approval of efforts to increase size of the statehouse site were received also yesterday by the capitol committee from Milton H. Welling, secretary of state of Utah; James D. Gronne, secretary of state of North Dakota; and Governor Leslie A. Miller of Wyoming, and E. A. Conway, secretary of state of Louisiana.

The gist of the site discussion from each of these dignitaries from other states is condensed as follows:

Welling of Utah: "Today the capitol grounds (here) comprise a park of almost exactly 40 acres. There is but one structure at the present time on this site. . . I am sure every thoughtful taxpayer in Oregon will approve of your efforts to find a larger site than the one formerly used however much these may be of sentiment and utility associated with such a site. . ."

Governor Miller of Wyoming: "I am quite sure that if I were a member of your capitol committee, I would urge your course, that is to say, an 18-acre tract of ground at Salem could with the state's resources be made a very beautiful tract and one of which your people would unquestionably be very proud."

Gronne of North Dakota: "The state of North Dakota owns 160 acres, and situated on this tract of land we have the state capitol, liberty memorial building, Roosevelt's cabin, the statue of Saka-kawea, Indian Earth Lodge, and so on. I would say that we have more land than we need, however. You will readily agree, on the other hand, that five acres for a land site would be entirely inadequate for our purposes. In my opinion 23 acres could be used most advantageously for structural purposes."

Conway of Louisiana: "It would be very unwise to build a new state capitol on an inadequate piece of ground. In this state . . . they selected a location on the old university campus across town . . . and procured 27 acres at a cost of some $50,000 for the new building. We think that our present capitol, with the ample grounds and parks surrounding it, is a very desirable investment for the state of Louisiana, and it would have been uneconomical, shortsighted and almost indefensible to have failed to secure ample grounds. . ."

  - 1 cup chopped sour apples
  - 1 cup boiled rice
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon paprika
  - 1 egg, well beaten
  - 1 cup milk

It is substantial enough for the dinner of a working man, delicate enough for the digestion of an invalid, simple enough for the plainest cook, and palatable enough to make the family call for more. It may be baked, boiled or fried; eaten hot, cold or over.

The forecasts of a decisive engagement at Makale soon were based on a massing of Ethiopian warriors in that vicinity reported by Italian air squad, and the topography of the terrain. If a slightly curved line is drawn from Asmara, headquarters of the Italian army in Eritrea, to Addis Ababa, and the line trisected, Makale is found at the northern trisection and Desaye, where the main body of Ethiopian troops has been reported concentrated, at the southern. That curved line provides the only route for an Italian invasion for impenetrable lowlands lie to the east and impassable mountains to the west.

Flood Control to Cost Little More

Shelton Ditch to Require Less Than $10,000 of Local Funds

Less than $10,000 of local funds would be required to complete the Shelton ditch flood control works as a WPA project, estimates completed yesterday at the city engineer's office indicated. The costs were computed for a special city council committee headed by Alderman E. B. Perrine which is expected to report on the project's feasibility at the council session Monday night.

The engineers estimated total cost of the project at $27,077.95 of which $26,462.30 would be a federal contribution in labor and $615.65 the local share. The local sum, however, includes book items for rental of equipment and use of materials already on hand. The actual local outlay was estimated roughly at $7000.

The six units set up in the project estimates are building retaining walls and clearing channel immediately below South Winter street bridge, erecting temporary wooden control dam at head of Shelton ditch where it flows from Mill creek to serve for present winter, construction of permanent concrete control dam, replacement of narrow South 21st street concrete bridge with wood piling structure, road to control dam, levee and channel improvements between control and penitentiary dams and pen dam and prison annex.
