He was being held in the county jail here yesterday while state police awaited word from Spokane officers. They were expected to seek his extradition.

Froehling, who was captured while he was attempting to join his wife at the home of relatives, is recorded as having passed checks totaling $800 on Chicago and Spokane hotels and on banks in other cities. Police say he has served a term in the Nebraska penitentiary at Lincoln for forgery.

Class Debates at Salem High Start

Debate Coach Shannon Hogue hopes to have some idea how Salem high school will fare in forensics during the coming season after interclass debate tryouts are held this week. Tryouts for seniors will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for juniors at that hour Wednesday and for sophomores at the same time Thursday. The interclass debates probably will begin in mid-November and conclude by the end of the month.

Prospects for a successful debating season appear good. Hogue said yesterday. This year's question on the advisability of socialized medicine, is attracting more interest than many recent state debate topics, he stated.

New Agricultural Bill Looms Today

A revised Oregon agricultural adjustment bill will be introduced in the house today. The original agricultural adjustment law recently was declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court. The new bill will set up a "yardstick" price for various commodities. The two main points to which the court objected was the price-fixing clause and delegating power. These, sponsors declared, will be corrected in the new bill. A "yardstick" price will be set up for various commodities as well as specific duties outlined for the board.

Garman Taken to Face Linn Charge

Sheriff Herbert Shelton of Linn county and a state policeman from Albany yesterday came to Salem to take custody of Kenneth Dean Garman, 29, whom Salem police found stop a Hollywood grocery store last Friday night. Garman, Salem officers said, confessed to two crimes of the burglary type at Lebanon and one at Albany but refused to explain any previous activities he may have had in Salem.

Chief of Police Frank Minto said last night he intended to ask Joe Murray, criminal detection expert at the state penitentiary, to compare a three-quarter inch bit found on Garman with a hole of the same size drilled by the burglar who broke into the South Commercial street Pay'n Takit store last month via the roof.

As Garman left he remarked to Minto, "Maybe I'll tell you some more later."

Little Old Red Auto Receives Salute

Has Funny Hood, Fragile Top, Asthmatic Horn but It Helped Stop First German Drive

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Two hundred men stood at attention today as out of the hold of the French liner San Antonio, there popped a little old red automobile with a fragile black top, a funny hood and an asthmatic horn.

The automobile was the famous old French tax that was presented to Portland Legionnaires by the French government as a relic of the World War.

It was used to carry French troops to the first battle of the Marne. It, with hundreds of its kind, had been drafted from engineering service in the streets of Paris.

The Portland Vulture of the 40s had long wanted one of the machines. Finally, when one of the veterans was to France, he asked the government for a cab. Old 449-E2 was chosen for the honor and is the first to be sent to the United States.

Customs men were on hand to officially enter the machine which, it was said, will be classed as an antique and will be duty free. Soon after it was landed it was covered with a tarpaulin and was loaded on a truck, to be secured in some garage until it is officially welcomed November 16.

Project to Start At T. B. Hospital

First For Salem Men to Get Under Way No. 1 and Employ 42

The first WPA project on which Salem men will have a chance to work will start November 1 at the state tuberculosis hospital, according to announcements yesterday from WPA district headquarters here and from the national re-employment agency. Forty-two men will go to work on this project, which consists of fire protection improvements and water supply, November 1 and five more November 12. The project, for which official notice of allotment of funds was received yesterday, will cost $12,319.

Twenty-four more Salem men probably will be assigned to the Salem school grounds landscaping project costing $4409. November 1. In addition to improving lawns, the crews will put in sprinkling systems and build a tennis court on the Richmond school grounds. Other start work orders were prepared yesterday as follows: Bethany school—Leveling and draining grounds, nine men November 1; Eugene airport—Improvements, four men November 4; Albany—Poor farm, two November 4.

Funds for a 1934 school site clearing project at Parkersville were officially allotted yesterday.

Vehicle Department May Have Its Own Building
In Portland Says Snell

Whether the state will erect its own motor vehicle department building in east Portland or lease quarters there, will be discussed at a meeting of the state board of control scheduled for Wednesday.

Secretary of State Snell said he had received figures tending to show that the state could erect a building in East Portland at a cost far less than the present rental. The Portland branch of the state motor vehicle department is now located in the Oregon building on the west side.
