Golden Bears To Face Ucla

Allison Says It's Even; Notre Dame and Ohio State to Collide

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 28. (A)-Informed today that Coach Prink Callison of the University of Oregon football team had picked the Golden Bears to defeat the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins next Saturday, "Stub" Allison of the University of California said today that if he were not a coach he "would not even bet on the ontcome of the game."

"The Bruins and the Bears appear so evenly match," Allison said. "that it would be ridiculous to try to pick the winners before the game. Their surprise victory over Stanford and the overwhelming 33 to 6 defeat of the University of Oregon last Saturday prove in no uncertain terms that Bill Spaulding has a truly formidable club.

"Not only is Chuck Cheshire an outstanding halfback, but there are many fine players in the line. All I can say is it should be a great game." Hard Work Begun

That's why close to 90,000 or more will jam the Ohio State double-decked stadium to see two of America's outstanding unbeaten teams battle for sectional supremacy, and perhaps an invitation to the Rose Bowl. Victory Means Much

It's the No. 1 test of the seaforecast that the winner will go on to finish an unblemished campaign of triumph. Notre Dame has at least one more big obstacle, West Point, in the path of an all-conquering drive, but there's nothing in sight capable of stopping the Buckeyes, unless the Irish do it this Saturday.

Strictly on a basis of comparative figures, Ohio State looks like the winner. Unfortunately for the dopesters, gridiron statistics are notoriously unreliable. Ohio State's high averages, for example, are due mainly to the huge. ple, are due mainly to the huge gains made in swamping Drake

'Deb' Coaches Do Only Fair

Madison Bell and Allison Only Steady Winners; Faurot Unbeaten

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. - (AP)-October's gridiron explosions have shattered the hopes of almost all of the "debutante" coaches of major college football teams, but Madison Bell's Southern Methodist and Stub Allison's California clubs still move serenely on.

More than a dozen football mentors took over new assignments at large institutions this fall but as the gridiron steeplechase turns into November only Bell and Allison can boast spotless records.

Both have won six in a row, topping the country's teams in games won. The major Southern Methodist conquest was a 10 to 0 decision over powerful Rice institute. Allison's Bears have walloped St. Mary's, Oregon, Santa Clara and Southern California with only one foe crossing their

For the others the picture isn't so bright. Ray Morrison, at Vanderbilt, is batting .500 but has been heaten by Fordham, Temple and Louisiana.
